3 KILLED, 8 HURT AS JERSEY FLIER RUNS PAST SIGNAL

Heavy Express Train Crashes at High Speed Into Local Near Elizabeth.

ENGINEERS DIE AT POSTS

Officials Cite His Long Record, and Heart Stroke Theory Is Advanced.

BARELY MISSES FULL CARS

Enginemen on Short Line Save Passengers, but Lose Their Own Lives.

Keeping up full speed of fifty miles an hour with a danger signal set "dead stop" against him, Engineer William Sell yesterday crashed his heavy steel-coached "Philadelphia Flier" into a Jersey Central local train at the crossing at Elizabethport Junction, near Elizabeth, N. J. Sell and two other enginemen were killed and eight other persons were seriously injured.

The Dead.

BROADLEY, J. J., of Dunellen, N. J., fireman of the Newark local.
HAHN, HERMAN, of Dunellen, N. J., engineer of the Newark local.
SELLS, WILLIAM H., of Hampton Junction, N. J., engineer of the Philadelphia express.

The Injured.

COX, JAMES, of Red Bank, N. J.
GREEN, CORNELIUS, negro, 134 Fisher Avenue, Asbury Park, N. J., fractured leg and internal injuries; serious.
HENWOOD, DONALD, of 733 Kensington Avenue, Plainfield, N. J.
HALBOY, WILLIAM, of 607 Eleventh Avenue, Belmar, N. J.
MURRAY, WILLIAM, of Newark, N. J.
SCHWARTZ, RUSSELL W., of 326 North Ninth Street, Allentown, Pa., fireman of the Philadelphi express; fractured leg and internal injuries; condition critical.
STUART, ELIZABETH, Twenty-eighth Street, Bayonne, N. J.
VAIL, RUSSELL, of 326 East Sixth Street, Plainfield, N. J.

With the testimony of scores of witnesses that the signal was set against the speeding express while the local was crossing the main line, none of the officials of the Central Railroad of New Jersey was able to explain last night how the engineer could have failed to see the signal with a quarter of a mile of straight track ahead of him. His fireman, the only other man who might be able to explain why Sells ran his train full speed to disaster, is in a critical condition in the Elizabeth General Hospital. No railroad man or other witness among hundreds who saw the accident has denied that the danger signal was set.

Heart Disease Theory Advanced.

A statement issued last night by the officials of the railroad said that "the cause of the wreck was a disregard of a positive stop signal," and then told of the long years of service of Sells. An examination will be made by physicians to determine whether the hand that held the throttle already was lifeless when the danger signal was set to stop the oncoming Flier until the local had cleared the main line. Some of Sells's associates think it probable that he died of heart disease.

The "Philadelphia Flier," made up of seven steel coaches and carrying hundreds of passengers, left the Jersey Central terminal at Communipaw at about 5:12 P. M. It makes no regular stop until it reaches Netherwood, near Plainfield, N. J., and unless a signal is set against it on the long stretch of straight track running through Elizabethport, the engineer usually holds his throttle open so that the express passes the junction at high speed.

Shortly before 5:40 yesterday afternoon, within a few minutes of the usual time for the Flier to dash by, the three-coach local running between Elizabeth and Newark on a connecting link line, pulled into the Elizabethport Station and discharged its passengers. Then, as usual, it started backing slowly around a "Y" piece of track so that it could reach the main line tracks and continue its trip to Elizabeth. The towerman in the structure near the station dropped his danger signal, so that the local would be protected from both directions as it crossed diagonally across the main line tracks.

Danger Signals Set.

The middle car of three in the local, all filled with passengers, was moving slowly across the main line track, when the passengers and scores of persons on the station platform saw the oncoming Flier speed over the Newark Bay Bridge. Some of them looked up at the tower signal; it glared red.

They turned their eyes quickly to the short straight stretch of open track that lay between the rushing express and the flimsy sides of the wooden cars of the local. The locomotive was rocking from side to side, and the exhaust was blowing smoke high in the air, as it came on at full speed. Railroad men on the station platform looked for the engineer to shut off steam and put on the air brakes, but the heavy train's speed did not slacken.

Looking from the side of his cab, Herman Hahn, engineer of the local train, saw the heavy express was rushing on. He made ready to back his train to safety if the engineer of the express did not slacken speed. His drive wheels spun and the local hesitated. He felt the sand, the drivers caught and the light coaches moved a little more swiftly,

Judge Forbids Labor Chiefs to Call or Foster Strikes

ST. LOUIS, March 3.—A temporary restraining order forbidding the calling or fostering of strikes was issued here today by Judge Faris of the Federal District Court against O. J. McSpadden, Chairman of the Conference Board of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and local officials of the organization.

The order was issued on application of the Kinloch Telephone Company, which asserted that thirty-nine striking wiremen were interfering with its interstate business. A hearing on the order will be held March 12.

$100,000 IN BOOTY FROM BRONX RAID

Three Truck Loads Confiscated by the Police in Descent on Grocery Storehouse.

FIVE ARRESTS ARE MADE

Lichtenfels Brothers, Among Prisoners, Deny Knowledge of Goods in Their Place.

Detectives under Captain McQueeny of the Tenderloin district and Captain Wines of the Bronx Detective Bureau, at six o'clock last evening descended on the wholesale grocery establishment of William Lichtenfels, at 144th Street and Willis Avenue, confiscated three truck loads of jewelry, surgical instruments and dry goods, which the detectives valued at between $75,000 and $100,000, and arrested the proprietor, his brother, Emil, and three other men on suspicion of being concerned in a series of thefts from lofts and trucks in the Chelsea district in the last month.

The five prisoners and the merchandise found in the place were taken to the West Twentieth Street station, where the Lichtenfels brothers and the other men were locked up. According to Captain McQueeny, Detective Sergeant Peter Carmody, in charge of the detectives of the West Twentieth Street station, received information several days ago that several known criminals were seen entering Lichtenfels's establishment in the Bronx with several bundles. He assigned Detectives Hook, Ford and Callahan to investigate the matter, and yesterday afternoon they reported they had seen several suspicious men enter a storeroom occupied by the firm in East 144th Street near Willis Avenue.

Detective Carmody communicated with Captain McQueeny, and word was sent to Captain Wines in the Bronx to have half a dozen of his detectives watch the place with Hook, Ford and Callahan until the arrival of Captain McQueeny and Carmody. The detectives said last night that when they entered the grocery establishment, and informed the proprietor they believed stolen property could be found there, Lichtenfels became indignant, said he had been in business there for twenty-two years and was President of the Bronx Wholesale Grocers' Association. While Lichtenfels was protesting against their assertion, the detectives said, James Snell of 433 West Eighteenth Street and George Miller of Fiftieth Street and Tenth Avenue drove up to the corner of 143d Street and Willis Avenue and hurried toward the grocery house.

Detective John Sullivan of the Alexander Avenue Station was standing guard outside Lichtenfels's establishment when the taxicab appeared, and when he saw the two men enter the place he grabbed them. Captains McQueeny and Wines and some of the other detectives ran outside, they said, in time to see two other men jump out of the taxicab and disappear. Carmody said he recognized Snell, and two detectives were hurried down the block to take possession of the taxicab. They found the motor running, they said.

In the meantime Snell and Miller were taken inside the grocery, and a third man, whose identity is withheld by the police, appeared. The detectives said they searched Snell and found on him 400 imitation gold necklaces, about which he refused to talk. Captain McQueeny then decided to search the whole establishment, and in the storeroom on the 144th Street side, he said, he found eighteen rolls of raw silk, each weighing 100 pounds; two dozen large packages of dry goods, several large cases of surgical instruments, automobile tires and a variety of other merchandise.

The tags on all the packages and cases had been removed, the detectives declared. They assert that when they asked Lichtenfels and his brother if they owned the stuff found in the place they declared they had never seen it before, didn't know how it got into their establishment and certainly didn't own it.

Captain McQueeny decided that the property had been stolen from lofts and trucks in the Chelsea district, and he placed the Lichtenfels and the three other men under arrest. He announced last night at the West Twentieth Street station that he would notify certain firms in his district to be at the station house this morning to see if they could identify any of the merchandise as property stolen from them. The prisoners will be arraigned in Jefferson Market Court, and the detectives will ask that they be held in high bail.

INDICT DETECTIVE FOR GRAFT; POLICE VICE RING ALLEGED

Detective John J. Gunson Accused by Woman of Accepting $5,000 for Protection.

14 MORE UNDER SUSPICION

Rebecca Melyado and Two of Her Friends Say Officers Persecuted Them.

PAID TO GO FREE IN COURTS

Hounded Out of Jobs and Forced to Give Blackmail Money, They Assert.

With the indictment and arrest yesterday of Detective John J. Gunson, a member of the staff of Inspector Dominick Henry of the Fourth Inspection District, charged with bribery and extortion on the complaint of Mrs. Rebecca Melyado, it was announced by Assistant District Attorney James E. Smith that an investigation was under way involving fourteen persons, mainly "plain clothes" men, a bondsman or two and a lawyer. Additional indictments are expected.

The investigation, according to Mr. Smith, has already disclosed that women seeking to lead blameless lives were hounded from their positions by detectives in order that they might divide their earnings with the officers. Mr. Smith promised startling revelations into the relations existing between certain detectives and women companions.

Shortly before 1 o'clock this morning detectives of the District Attorney's office held two women as material witnesses in the case against Gunson. They were taken at the instance of Mr. Smith and were locked up in the West Forty-seventh Street Police Station. The women described themselves as Mrs. Mary Brown and Miss Florence Bennett.

Mrs. Melyado told the Grand Jury of her alleged relations with Gunson since 1917, and her story was corroborated by Rose Gonzalez and Estelle Young, it was said.

"Frame-Up," Detective Says.

Prior to his arraignment before Judge James T. Malone, in General Sessions yesterday, Gunson declared the case a "frame-up from start to finish."

"I never knew anything about this matter until the warrant was served on me," he said. "The charges are ridiculous. The only woman of the three I know is Rose Gonzalez, known as 'Spanish Rose.' You can find out who she is by looking up her record. I am a married man with a wife and child, and have never been away from home twenty-four hours at a time."

Bail was fixed at $5,000 by Judge Malone after Gunson pleaded not guilty. It was furnished by a surety company.

Gunson was arrested on a bench warrant executed by Detective Edward Rayens of the District Attorney's office. At the West Sixty-eighth Street Station it was said that Gunson had been on duty in the district three years, and that his record had been excellent. Gunson was the target of much criticism last Summer as a result of arresting Lillian Kohn and Sallie Kobin, against whom he made serious charges. They were exonerated by Judge Otto Rosalsky. Gunson also was exonerated at a police trial growing out of the arrests.

The specific charge in the indictment accuses Gunson of asking and receiving $50 from Mrs. Melyado on Oct. 15, 1917, promising that he would neglect his duty of hunting down vice offenders.

Says She Gave Gunson $5,000.

According to Mrs. Melyado, she gave Gunson sums aggregating $5,000 in three years and from time to time made him gifts of clothes, ties, a gold belt buckle, silk shirts and a turquoise ring and that when they went to a theatre or restaurant she always paid the bills.

Mrs. Melyado, a young woman of attractive appearance, said she was born in Tampico, Mexico, and received her education in London and the University of Kansas, specializing in languages. She said she spoke seven languages and was employed as translator in the office of an international lawyer in Chicago and a large Chicago millinery house and was also employed by the Western Union Telegraph Company.

According to Mr. Smith, Gunson persecuted the three women after they obtained respectable employment and it was impossible for them to appear in a restaurant in the Fourth Inspection District, embracing the territory from Forty-second to 110th Street and from Fifth Avenue to the Hudson River, without being subjected to the danger of a detective asking the proprietor to eject them.

Estelle Young, said Mr. Smith, who was employed as a clerk in a Broadway establishment, was dismissed when Gunson and another detective informed the proprietor that she was an undesirable employe. She obtained another position and subsequently, while in a restaurant with her sister, she was ejected on the complaint of Gunson and another officer.

After Gunson and another detective became acquainted with Mrs. Melyado and Miss Gonzalez, the prosecutor said, the officers frequented the apartment maintained by the women on West Ninety-fifth Street remaining there for long periods of time. It was there, he said, that Gunson offered to permit Mrs. Melyado to remain unmolested in the Fourth Inspection District and promised to remove complaints from the complaint box in the district office if any charges were made against her.

Gunson informed the young women when officers from Police Headquarters were in the district, asserted Mr. Smith,

How the Publication Here of Lord Grey's Letter on the Treaty Was Authorized

On Feb. 1 THE NEW YORK TIMES republished from The London Times, with that journal's permission, Lord Grey's letter on the Lodge reservations to the Peace Treaty. The occasion for the publication of the following dispatch is the fact that on Monday last The Philadelphia Public Ledger brought suit against THE NEW YORK TIMES, alleging that The Public Ledger had the sole right to publish Lord Grey's letter in the United States and that THE NEW YORK TIMES had not obtained permission from The London Times to publish the letter.

A Statement by the London Correspondent of The New York Times.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 3.—The circumstances of the cabling of Lord Grey's letter on the Peace Treaty to THE NEW YORK TIMES were as follows:

I telephoned to The London Times office and asked to be put through to the acting editor. The date was Saturday, Jan. 31. It was unlikely that the whole staff would be at the office, and I asked for the acting editor. I was put through by The London Times telephone exchange to the acting editor. I asked:

"Are you the acting editor of The Times?"

The reply was: "Yes."

I said: "I am the London correspondent of THE NEW YORK TIMES. Is there any objection to our reprinting Lord Grey's letter which appeared in your columns this morning?"

The answer was: "None whatever, provided you give us due credit."

I did not inquire the name of the acting editor because it has been a tradition of The London Times to observe anonymity in journalism, and on previous occasions inquiries as to the name of the person one was addressing have been met by the reply that the individual identity was a matter of no consequence.

[It can be added to our correspondent's statement, with full authority, that it was Lord Grey's intention to leave it to the judgment of American newspapers whether or not to reproduce his letter to The London Times.]

HEARS LAWYER HAS DATA DENIED SENATE

Knox Says He Was Told of Volumes of Papers on the Treaty Here.

REED ANGERED IN DEBATE

Compares Hitchcock to 'Brass Monkey' After Democrat Praises British Democracy.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Though Senate leaders are unanimous in declaring that the Peace Treaty is dead, difficulty is being encountered in giving it burial. The refusal of some Senators to stop talking long enough today to let the Senate vote on the reservations, and thus complete the obsequies in the briefest possible time, prevented any action.

The debate ostensibly was upon the Shantung reservation, but Shantung was mentioned only incidentally. Bitter attacks upon President Wilson and his supporters in the Senate, sarcastic flings at the British Empire, and similar oratorical departures from the subject supposed to be under discussion marked the debate.

The irreconcilables in both parties improved the opportunity afforded them by the broad range of discussion to foment bitterness against the Lodge reservations among the Democrats. Senator Borah, by pre-arrangement with some Democratic irreconcilables, announced in the course of a speech that he expected to see every Democratic Senator vote for ratification with the Lodge reservations in the end. The treaty would be ratified, Mr. Borah declared, with the aid of the Democrats, and then President Wilson would "send it back with some new interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine."

Senator Reed also tried to incense the Democrats by delivering the most vitriolic speech he has yet made, flinging violent phrases at the head of Senator Hitchcock, whom he compared to a "brass monkey," and otherwise assailed after Mr. Hitchcock had stated that the present Governments of European nations were democracies.

Both Senator Reed and Senator Borah hammered Great Britain, the former in a sarcastic vein, the latter more seriously.

The net result of the day's proceedings was amusement for well-filled Senate galleries.

Lawyer Has Treaty Facts, Knox Hears.

In the course of the debate Senator Knox said he had heard that information on the treaty which had been withheld from the Senate was in the office of a New York lawyer.

"The files of the Committee on Foreign Relations," he said, "are naked of information concerning the making of the Treaty of Versailles. Yet I was told the other day by one of the most responsible men I know that while in the office of a New York lawyer he saw ten volumes filled with intimate details of the making of the German treaty, and six other volumes of the same sort on the Austrian treaty. The Foreign Relations Committee has not even one-tenth of one volume of such information."

Mr. Knox said that the matter contained in the sixteen volumes referred to consisted of original drafts, protocols, amendments, revisions and, in fact, a complete record of the process of treaty building. He did not name the lawyer or his informant, and declined afterward to give the name of either.

Senator Lenroot, taking up for a moment the Shantung reservation, said that President Wilson should have withdrawn from European councils when the Shantung deal was being discussed, as he has now threatened to withdraw over the Adriatic controversy.

Senator Borah then delivered a long speech, the text of which was President Wilson's statement to the allied Premiers that the United States could not join them unless Europe would go into the League of Nations with a new

SUFFRAGE KILLED IN WEST VIRGINIA

House Approves Ratification, But Senators Reject Wilson's Plea and Refuse to Reconsider.

CANNOT BE CALLED UP AGAIN

Only Eight States Left from Which to Obtain Three Needed Ratifications.

Special to The New York Times.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 3.—The House of Delegates of the Legislature adopted tonight the resolution ratifying the Federal Suffrage Amendment by a final vote of 47 to 40. The first vote stood 45 to 42 for ratification, but later two members changed their vote.

Earlier in the day the Senate voted not to reconsider its action of Monday when, voting on Senate resolution No. 1, it rejected ratification 15 to 13. The vote not to reconsider stood 14 to 14. Senators Burr and Frazier, who were urged by President Wilson to support suffrage, did not respond to the President's request. They are the only two Democratic Senators who opposed it.

As things stand now suffrage is defeated in West Virginia regardless of the approval of the lower house as, under a constitutional rule, the Senate cannot take up the House resolution for reconsideration, having twice rejected suffrage.

An attempt by the anti-ratification forces to adopt a resolution rejecting the suffrage amendment was defeated by a vote of 18 to 10. This was aimed to prevent consideration of the suffrage question by the Legislature at any future time.

A review of the suffrage amendment situation, printed in THE TIMES on Feb. 22, showed that there then remained ten States which had not taken action on the constitutional amendment to extend suffrage to women, and four of these were needed to complete ratification.

Since then Oklahoma has adopted the amendment, and West Virginia, despite expectation, has refused approval. The Governor of Washington, who said he would not summon the Legislature unless the State's vote was needed, issued a call this week for a session on March 22, when adoption of the amendment is certain.

This would make a total of thirty-four States that have ratified, leaving two to be obtained from the following seven: Vermont, Connecticut, Delaware, North Carolina, Florida, Louisiana and Tennessee.

The outlook for action by Florida and Louisiana is almost hopeless. North Carolina's Legislature is likely to be called together in June and ratification seems likely. Tennessee's Governor has said he would not call a special session.

In the three Eastern States, Delaware, Connecticut and Vermont, the chances of even a test of ratification sentiment in the Legislature seems to rest on the ability of the suffragists to induce the Governors to call special sessions for the purpose.

CONDEMNS TREATY DELAY.

Member of Canadian Commons Blames Us for Prevalent Unrest.

OTTAWA, March 3.—Speaking in the House of Commons this afternoon, W. F. Cockshutt, Unionist member for Brantford and a prominent manufacturer, expressed the opinion that a large part of the prevalent unrest was attributable to the fact that peace was not really here.

He drew attention to the situation in the United States, saying that our neighbors to the south should be told that they had no right to involve the other nations of the world in chaos while they fought out their political battles.

TURKEY'S TREATY READY MARCH 22; LOSES BIG ARMY

Premiers Finish Their Work and Assistants Will Complete the Document.

NAVY TO BE BROKEN UP

Land Forces Will Be Reduced to Point Where They Are No Longer a Danger.

SENATE DISCUSSES TURKEY

Resolution to Dismember Empire Evokes Republican Complaints of Lack of Facts from White House.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 3.—The Peace Conference, which has been sitting here for the last two weeks, adjourned this evening. Millerand has been unable to return here from Paris and Nitti will leave for Italy tomorrow morning. The conference of foreign Ministers, under the Presidency of Lord Curzon, will, however, continue to meet at the Foreign Office, and will finish the drafting of the Turkish treaty and deal with the questions arising from the Hungarian settlement.

The last meetings of the Peace Conference were concerned today with the same topics, the plan for military control drawn up by Marshal Foch being considered in the morning and Bessarabia and certain Hungarian representations in the afternoon.

It is hoped the Turkish treaty will be ready for presentation to the Turkish delegates in Paris about March 22.

The report of the Supreme Council on high prices and the means of reducing them is not yet complete. It will probably be published at the end of the week.

LONDON, March 3.—The Peace Conference closed its London sessions tonight after preparing the Turkish treaty and its economic conclusions in such manner that they may be completed by assistants. The treaty will be handed to Turkey at Paris on March 22, it was announced.

It is possible that Premier Millerand will come to London the latter part of next week to confer with the Foreign Ministers and Ambassadors on the Turkish treaty and on the contentions of the Hungarians regarding their treaty.

It is not expected that the economic conclusions of the conference will be made public before Saturday or Sunday.

The disposition of the Turkish Navy was definitely settled by the Allied Supreme Council when it decided that the Peace Treaty should provide that the warships be broken up. The Turkish Army will be reduced to such a point by the peace terms that it would not be effective against another country.

There has been no intention, and there is none now, of American naval participation in the Dardanelles, according to announcement here. The normal American force in Turkish waters comprises six destroyers and the Galveston and Scorpion. Two destroyers were recently sent to the Black Sea to relieve two others and remained temporarily at the request of Rear Admiral Bristol, who feared they might be needed for refugee work in consequence of the Bolsheviki reaching the coast.

The British Admiralty states there is no confirmation of the reports that the British intend to send more ships to the Dardanelles.

The Council deliberated this morning over the report of Marshal Foch on the military situation as regards Turkey.

When Premier Nitti of Italy learned this morning that the French Prime Minister, M. Millerand, was unlikely to return to the London conference he reverted to his first plan to leave for Rome on Thursday. This will leave only the Foreign Ministers and Ambassadors to clear up the details of the Turkish treaty.

LAUZANNE ATTACKS FRIENDS OF SULTAN

Urges Reversal of the French Position on Leaving Constantinople to Turks.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, March 3.—Stephane Lauzanne, editor of the Matin, in a dispatch from London, warns France of the unfavorable results in America as well as in other friendly countries of French insistence upon maintaining the Turkish Government in Constantinople. He writes:

"Slowly but surely the cloud grows in America. All dispatches, official and private, received today from the United States are unanimous. The American public opinion is indignant at the solution of Constantinople's problem. The American public cannot understand this tenacious affection of Europe, and above all of France, for the rotten régime called the Turkish Government. American public opinion without party distinction demands that the Bosporus be freed of the band of puppets and thieves who up to the present has reigned over the Turkish people.

"However, President Wilson, who each day recovers his health, also recovers his political dexterity, which was

Swiss Council Approves Joining League of Nations

BERNE, March 3.—Adherence to the League of Nations by Switzerland was approved by the Swiss National Council today, the vote standing 114 to 55.

This decision does not bind this country to enter the League, but constitutes a recommendation for a plebiscite to be held during April or May, in which the people will voice their desires.

The National Council was asked to approve Switzerland's entrance to the League by the Government a few days ago, after it had been decided to abandon what were known as the "American clauses," by which Switzerland would delay action until the United States Senate had ratified the Treaty of Versailles, a part of which is the covenant of the League of Nations.

SHIP BOARD DROPS FLEET OPERATION

Turns Over Handling of All Its Vessels to Private Operators as Agents.

CANCELS ALL ITS TARIFFS

Managers Will Be Allowed to Fix Own Rates to Meet Competition.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Operation of the Shipping Board fleet has been given up by the board, which will allow private operators to handle the ships under an agency agreement. At presente the Shipping Board operates certain vessels and private operators handle others. Henceforth private concerns will manage all the ships.

Coincident with this new policy, the Shipping Board has given up its authority over freight and passenger rates. Private operators will now be allowed to make the rates. Action of the Shipping Board was announced in this bulletin:

"Effective March 1, 1920, all Shipping Board tariffs, including current supplements thereto, are hereby cancelled in so far as the public is concerned.

"Rates hereafter may be obtained direct from managing agents of Shipping vessels."

The Government retains title to its ships, and the new operating policy is not in conflict with any general law for retention of the fleet.

Under the form of agency contract now in use, individuals or corporations can operate the vessels on a profit-sharing plan. The Emergency Fleet Corporation reserves the right to terminate the agency at any time.

For operating purposes the vessels are valued at $200 a deadweight ton, and profits are reckoned on this basis. Operating agents are permitted under the contract to retain 10 per cent. of all net profits up to 50 cents a ton a month, 20 per cent. on net profits over 50 cents a ton and not over $1 a ton and 25 per cent. on all profits in excess of $1 a ton a month.

The private operatives will be selected by the Shipping Board on the basis of experience and general fitness. While they will be permitted to compete with foreign ships and other Government-owned American ships, their competition with the latter must be kept within bounds.

Latitude was given to private shippers and agency operators of Government vessels to make their own rates that they might be in a position to meet outside competition better. Many British vessels have taken cargoes by cutting under the fixed American rates. American vessels can now meet this competition.

Wants Ship Board to Sell.

Declaring that opposition to selling former German liners and war-built cargo vessels was based on "absolutely false premises," Senator Edge, Republican, of New Jersey, introduced today a joint resolution which would permit the Shipping Board to dispose of all vessels to which it has title, with the provision that they be retained under American registry.

Action on the resolution was deferred at the author's request.

Freight managers of the principal steamship companies who could be reached last night said the canceling of its freight tariffs by the United States Shipping Board would have the effect of improving the shipping market, which was rather low at present, partly due to the state of foreign exchange. Six months ago, they added, the steamships were leaving New York and other Eastern ports with full cargoes and shutting out freight. Now the vessels were not half full, the piers were almost empty, and freight steamships were being taken off the North Atlantic routes and placed in other trade routes where there were better profits for owners.

With the withdrawal of the Shipping Board tariffs American steamship companies will be able to lower their rates and compete in the open with vessels under foreign flags which have recently underbid them without any opposition. More freight will be moved as a result.

The canceling of the Shipping Board tariffs was not expected to be made before the middle of March, and it came yesterday as a pleasant surprise to the American shipping men, who said they would take immediate advantage of it.

'DRY' LOBBY INQUIRY BY ASSEMBLY SURE; SENATE WON'T ACT

Upper Body Refuses to Co-operate, But Is Expected to Concur in Appropriation.

NOW APPROVED BY SWEET

Assembly Judiciary Committee Poll Shows a Majority Ready for Investigation.

ANDERSON WILL TESTIFY

League Superintendent Makes Offer Conditional — Will Tell Only of Legislative Agents' Activities.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 3.—That there will be some kind of Legislative inquiry into the activities of the Anti-Saloon League was assured today by the disclosure of the fact that a majority of the Assembly Judiciary Committee, to which the resolution calling for an investigation was referred, favors such a step. As to the scope of the inquiry, there is much difference of opinion among them and it will be at least another week before the completion of the Socialist investigation will allow the committee to consider the Anti-Saloon League resolution.

A member of the committee said tonight that whether the inquiry would embrace the Anti-Saloon League's methods of money raising and the sources from which its principal revenues have been derived would depend largely on the evidence placed before the committee when the time came to decide on what form the investigation would take. The Assembly leaders are anxious to avoid an investigation that would prove to have been a waste of time and money. Speaker Sweet has not only withdrawn his opposition to but has approved the proposed investigation. This was learned today after a conference between the Speaker and Assemblyman Cuvillier. The Speaker's sanction, it is believed, will clear the way for concurrence by the Assembly in any report brought in by the Judiciary Committee regardless of any pressure that may be brought to bear before the time for action arrives by friends of the Anti-Saloon League and Superintendent Anderson. It was stated today that such influences already are beginning to make themselves felt here, and that while Superintendent Anderson and other league officers are proclaiming their willingness to be investigated, their supporters in every section of the State and interests which might become involved in the inquiry are getting into action with a view to blocking the investigation.

The following telegram from Superintendent Anderson was received this afternoon at the office of Speaker Sweet:

"The Anti-Saloon League will not do anything to stop any alleged investigation, which is in fact an assault upon prohibition and its enforcement. The motive behind an 'investigation' into the frank, wide-open work of the agency of practically all the Protestant Churches of the State, in connection with the utter absence of legislative curiosity as to the secret activities of the 'wets,' whose leading organization supported you for election last fall, will be obvious to the public.

"This is to advise you that our sort of work does not even call for registration as 'Legislative Agents,' the same being surplusage, and that as no 'legislative expenses' coming within the view of the law were incurred, no report was necessary.

"However, in order to cut the ground from under any pretext of hanging an investigation upon alleged violation of the law, I hereby offer to appear voluntarily before your Judiciary Committee to be examined, touching this point only.

"I restrict this offer to this point, because if beyond the question of this alleged violation of law you want merely a general fishing expedition in the hope of securing material with which to discredit this agency of the churches to please the German brewers, you must assume all responsibility by ordering a formal investigation, so that the League will get the full benefit of the ultimate exposure of your animus and lack of justification.

"We are willing to take our chance before the public with an Assembly organization which, while seeking to throw out Socialists, because it claims they are against the Government, then assists Tammany in an effort to outrage morality and nullify law in order to protect the brewers, who, as brought out by the United States Senate, made common cause with the enemies of the nation."

Senator Cotillo of New York vainly attempted today to get the Senate to take an interest in and pledge co-operation with the Assembly in the Anti-Saloon League investigation. His resolution was bottled up in the Senate Judiciary Committee by a vote of 26 to 15. James Walker, minority leader, ably seconded J. Henry Walters, President Pro Tem., in getting the resolution committed. Senators, however, expressed the conviction that the Senate would concur in any resolution providing for an appropriation to defray the cost of an inquiry.

In a statement relative to Assemblyman Cuvillier's promise of evidence against the Anti-Saloon League from a minister, Superintendent Anderson declared yesterday that the "alleged preacher" was "discredited in advance." If the minister had any standing ecclesiastically and had any facts, it was his duty to make them public or at least give them to the State body of his own denomination so that its churches might be protected. "Failure so to act on the part of a preacher who bobs up in the 'wet camp' exposes him to serious suspicion at once," Mr. Anderson declared.

RENTERS DEMAND LAWS TO CURB LANDLORDS

Call Profiteers "Leeches" at Albany Hearing—Hylan Committee Is Also Accused.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 3.—Profiteering real estate owners and landlords were roughly handled, verbally, here this afternoon by New York rent payers who appeared before the Assembly Cities and Taxation and Retrenchment Committees and appealed for immediate enactment of legislation to relieve the serious rent conditions and wholesale profiteering in New York City.

The profiteers were characterized as "leeches" and "lawless gougers" who by subterfuge had in some cases more than doubled rents.

Stewart Browne of the New York City Real Estate Board charged that "there has been an exhibition of profiteering in Mayor Hylan's Rent Investigation Committee itself." Leo K. Mayer, representing the Mayor's committee, called on Mr. Browne to present his evidence to the District Attorney.

The hearing throughout was marked by heated controversy between the interests opposed to remedial legislation and those advocating it. New York municipal authorities, including Alderman Friedman, Colin H. Woodward, Secretary of the Borough of Manhattan, and Justice F. C. Crane of the New York Municipal Court, pleaded with the members of the committees to report favorably some measure which would relieve a situation which they said rapidly was becoming "unendurable."

"The ruthless and brutal" methods of the profiteering landlords in New York City have made it odious "for decent, self-respecting owners to continue their holdings," Mr. Woodward told the two committees.

He declared that remedial legislation should be enacted at once, but agreed that it would be only a temporary relief, which could become permanent only when building on a large scale should be resumed.

Alderman Friedman criticised the moving van man and declared "he will get you if the landlord don't." He advocated creation of a regulatory rental commission.

Labor of the State was represented by James P. Holland, President of the State Federation of Labor. He charged that the real estate interests did not want any legislation put on the statute books which would affect them, but, he said, "the laboring man demands some cure for this evil. He is working two weeks to obtain enough money to pay one month's rent."

The committees were warned by James Frank, President of the New York Association of Real Estate Owners, that if the Legislature seeks to "hamper the real estate man any more there will be no building in New York City."

Edward Doyle of the Real Estate Board declared the tenants themselves to be responsible for the high rents, saying that by their competition they had forced the rents up.

Stewart Browne declared that rents will go up at least 300 per cent. this year and said the only solution was reduced cost of construction.

Other speakers for the real estate interests asked for Legislative exemption from the income tax on mortgages up to $40,000.

LAST YEAR GREATEST IN LIFE INSURANCE

State Superintendent Says Depreciated Dollar, Influenza and High Wages Increased Demand.

ALBANY, March 3.—The much depreciated dollar, the influenza epidemic and general prosperity of the wage-earner caused an unprecedented demand for life insurance during 1919, according to Jesse S. Phillips, State Superintendent of Insurance, in his annual report, issued today. Total receipts for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1919, were $2,135,791.

Superintendent Phillips condemns the idea of a monopolistic State fund, declaring that the State should not be given a monopoly in the field of compensation insurance, primarily because it would be the opening wedge for other "socialistic" experiments. He alleges the conditions revealed in the conduct of affairs of the State fund and the criticisms of management, as embodied in the report of the recent investigation, pointed out not only the unwisdom of a State monopoly, but also the necessity of external supervision to safeguard the operations of even a competitive State fund.

The report recommends consideration of whether companies should not be allowed to accumulate larger contingency reserves. The Superintendent believes competition among companies to show a low net cost will prevent an undue accumulation of surplus.

Fraternal societies made a substantial increase in business last year, as compared with 1918, the report shows, but the valuation of outstanding obligations indicates that a large percentage still are doing business on inadequate rates. Mr. Phillips recommends that the Legislature prohibit fraternal societies from accepting new members except on a rate sufficient to meet obligations assumed.

DENIES SEEKING 'RED' TRADE

Soviet Bureau Not Asked to Bid on Army Goods, Says Nixon.

Colonel C. Nixon, Zone Retail Stores and Surplus Property Officer in New York, denied yesterday there was any ground for the suggestion by Quartermaster officials in Washington Tuesday that, through some "oversight in the Zone Supply Office of the Army Quartermaster's Department in New York," the Soviet Bureau here had been solicited to submit bids for surplus army supplies.

Colonel Nixon said that the bureau never had been solicited and no circulars announcing sales had been sent to it. The bids from the bureau came in voluntarily, he said, and were sent to Washington, where they were rejected. Catalogues or lists of surplus goods to be sold are available to the public at the Zone Surplus Supply Office, and Colonel Nixon said agents of the bureau had got hold of some of them. He denied the bureau was on the mailing list.

OPPOSE BUSES IN FLUSHING.

Residents to Seek Injunction If Line Operates on Broadway.

Clarence Lowes, a resident of Flushing and an officer of the Flushing United Association, announced yesterday that if Deputy Commissioner Mills attempted to operate a bus line to Whitestone and Bayside over Broadway he would apply to the Supreme Court for an injunction to prevent such operation. The bus line was planned to relieve the situation caused by the suspension of service on the New York and North Shore Traction Company's lines.

"The property owners along Broadway own the fee in the street because it is an old-time turnpike transformed into a city street and we have surrendered an easement only for ordinary travel," said Mr. Lowes. "We must give our consent to the operation of a bus line or any other transportation system over this street. I am not alone in this matter, but am supported by a number of the other residents along the route."

M'CARTHY UPBRAIDS PROHIBITION AGENTS

Marshal Says He Is Astounded That His Impersonator Was Met and Not Arrested.

INCOMING SHIPS SEARCHED

Inspectors Seize 1,257 Bottles in February, Chiefly on Vessels from Cuba.

United States Marshal Thomas D. McCarthy yesterday criticised Federal prohibition agents for failing to arrest the man impersonating him who offered protection to an alleged ring of illicit whisky dealers operating in the theatrical district. He declared that it was astounding that the impostor could have met two agents of the Internal Revenue Bureau and escaped arrest for impersonating a Federal official, which, he declared, is a far more serious crime than selling whisky in violation of the prohibition law. Marshal McCarthy added that he never has had anything to do with the enforcement of the prohibition act.

James S. Sh...n, Federal Supervising Prohibition Age... was in Washington yesterday, but it was said at his office that there were no further developments in the case.

In the month of February the staff of three men operating under Surveyor of Customs Thomas E. Rush seized 1,257 bottles of various liquors hidden on incoming ships, notably those from Cuba. According to Albert Hokensen, one of the squad, the first active resistance against the searchers developed last Friday on the part of the crew on the Italian ship Presidente Wilson, from which 537 bottles of cognac were taken. The ship arrived Thursday from Trieste and the Surveyor's men collected several dozen bottles of liquor which they placed on a table in the crew's quarters. The lights were suddenly turned off and the framework of an iron bunk thrown onto the bottles, breaking several of them. The inspectors got to the light switch and turned on the lights, standing guard over the switch until reinforcements arrived. Weapons were found concealed in the bunks. The inspectors were also threatened.

In addition the inspectors have turned in 550 bottles of cognac from the steamers Morro Castle and Monterey, both from Havana, and 150 bottles of bacardi rum from the steamer Munamar, from Anilla, Cuba.

Following the death of Aaron Bernstein, 30 years old, a suit operator of 204 Seventh Street, at Bellevue Hospital Tuesday, supposedly from wood alcohol poisoning, Oscar Hamberger, the proprietor of a saloon at 86 Avenue C, was held yesterday by Magistrate Morris Koenig in Essex Market Court in $5,000 bail for examination Friday on an affidavit charging suspicion of homicide.

The Tenth Assembly District Republican Club has adopted resolutions urging the Republican Party to take all possible lawful means to bring about the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, it was announced yesterday. Copies of the resolutions were sent to the Republican County Committee, the Republican State Committee and the Republican National Committee. It is set forth that "it is the sentiment of thinking men and women everywhere that arrogant and aggressive minorities ought not to be permitted to foist their self-constituted superimposed authority upon the majority of American citizens," and that the national election of 1920 will give opportunity to express disapproval of the "so-called prohibition amendment, which has grievously wronged the citizenry of the United States."

Three Prohibition Cases Up Monday

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Under an agreement between counsel announced today by Assistant Attorney General Frierson the Supreme Court will hear arguments on Monday on appeals from Kentucky and Massachusetts, as well as the Rhode Island case, involving the validity of the prohibition amendment and portions of the Enforcement act.

EDWARDS LISTED BY ILLINOIS "WETS"

Jersey Governor May Be Only Democrat in State Presidential Primary.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 3.—With the filing by the "wets" at Springfield today of the Presidential primary petition of Governor Edward I. Edwards of New Jersey, it became known that it will be the only Democratic petition presented. Such, at least, was the word which came from headquarters of the Cook County Democratic Managing Committee today. John Quinlan, Secretary of the committee, declared he had made no arrangements for getting signatures to either a Palmer or McAdoo petition.

Dennis J. Egan, Chairman of the Democratic Managing Committee, said: "We will file no petitions for any candidates in Illinois. That has been definitely decided. The Illinois delegation to the national convention will go to San Francisco unpledged. As to the wet and dry question that will be left to the delegates to decide after they reach San Francisco."

At headquarters of the Roger C. Sullivan organization it was said that it could not be too emphatically stated that the regular Democratic organization in Illinois was not behind the filing of the Edwards petition at Springfield.

Roger C. Sullivan is in Washington, and from there is going to Hot Springs, Va., where he will meet Charles F. Murphy, head of Tammany Hall in New York; Thomas Taggart of Indiana, E. F. Goltra, National Committeeman of Missouri; E. H. Moore, National Committeeman of Ohio; Charles Boeschenstein, National Committeeman of Illinois and other Democratic machine leaders. Platform planks will be discussed and the "wet" candidacy of Governor Edwards will be one of the important questions taken up.

WET WAVE SWEEPS OVER VERMONT

Half the Towns in State, the Largest Number Ever Known, Oppose Prohibition.

RUTLAND, Vt., March 3.—Returns from twelve out of the fourteen counties in the State on the results of yesterday's town meetings show that 124 towns voted "wet," the largest number in the history of Vermont.

The largest "wet" vote heretofore was in 1903, the first year of local option, when ninety-two of the 246 towns in the State voted for license. The next year the number dropped to forty and dwindled steadily in succeeding years until 1918, when the total jumped to thirty.

The vote has only a theoretical significance, because of the operation of the Federal Prohibition Amendment.

Legion Votes 'Wet' and For Bonus.

Special to The New York Times.

CARLISLE, Pa., March 3.—In a response to a request for its attitude on the question of repeal of the Federal prohibition amendment, the Carlisle Post of the American Legion at a meeting largely attended voted unanimously in favor of the repeal of the anti-liquor law. In addition the post by large majorities favored the suggested soldier bonus, a military man for President and universal service.

Thompson Denies Cuvillier Charges.

ALBANY, March 3.—Senator G. F. Thompson of Niagara, on a question of personal privilege today denied the statement of Assemblyman Cuvillier yesterday that he had said that "he did not raise his boy to be a soldier," and that he had refused to register under the selective draft law until compelled to do so by a United States marshal.

HILLQUIT SUMS UP SOCIALIST DEFENSE

Contends Inquiry Went Outside Charges as Stated by Ouster Resolution.

ASSERTS PARTY IS ON TRIAL

Assemblymen's Counsel Declares Decision to Unseat Them Would Be Gain for Socialism.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 3.—Morris Hillquit, chief counsel for the suspended Socialist Assemblymen, spoke before the Assembly Judiciary Committee today for more than six hours in summing up their defense. He called the testimony against them "a lie in its soul and in substance," and denounced the suspension and investigation as an attempt—the first in the history of this country and of the world—to outlaw a political party.

He closed his long argument, which had several hundred auditors, with the statement that the testimony taken and all the arguments by counsel amounted to little but "a delightful, and let us hope, somewhat useful academic discussion of the tenets, merits and demerits of Socialism." He pronounced the proceeding a grave political blunder and added that he did not know of anything that would more greatly benefit the Socialist party than an adverse decision.

"But remember," he added, "that we are a rival political party. Your political mistakes are our political gain, your political ruin will help our political upbuilding, and we cannot conceive of a more flagrant political and moral wrong than the unseating of these five men."

Mr. Hillquit read the ouster resolution embodying the charges against the Socialists, and contended the Judiciary Committee was limited in the scope of its inquiry to what that resolution contained. He charged Chairman Martin of the Judiciary Committee with injecting new charges, including those that the Socialists were committed to the forcible overthrow of the United States Government and conspiring with other party members to that end; that they were affiliated with a party pledged to the substitution of minority for majority rule, and that by voice and vote in public and private they had sought to hamper a successful prosecution of the war.

"In the resolution there is not a word, not an inference that would hold these men individually guilty of misconduct," he said. The attack on their failure to vote for certain military appropriations and the assertion that they had made it an aim to substitute the Soviet form of government here for that existing were projected into the investigation in Chairman Martin's statement, counsel asserted.

"Imagine for a moment," he continued, "a defendant brought into court on a charge of larceny, the District Attorney trying him for forgery and the Judge submitting the case to the jury upon the theory of arson and the jjury perhaps bringing in a verdict of assault and battery. This is practically what you are confronted with, for the evidence, such as it is, does not at all conform with the charges."

Counsel for the prosecution had gleaned from Socialist literature and utterances every foolish or compromising statement they could find, and had wrenched it from its context and put it into the record to serve the purposes of the committee, he said. Their witnesses, for the most part, were ignorant of the real tenets and purposes of Socialism, or like Peter Collins of the Knights of Columbus, prejudiced and intolerant.

Hillquit Summarizes Charges.

"Here comes Collins," he exclaimed, "you might as well take a policeman who makes love to the maid of a great authority on geology and call him an authority on geology because he knows all the kitchen gossip of an authority on the subject."

Mr. Hillquit said the charges that had been made and which he was prepared to meet might be summarized as follows:

First—That the Socialist Party is a revolutionary organization.

Second—That it seeks to attain its ends by means of violence.

Third—That it does not sincerely believe in political action, and that its politics is only a blind or camouflage.

Fourth—That it is unpatriotic and disloyal.

Fifth—That it is unduly controlled—or that it unduly controls public officials elected on its ticket.

Sixth—That it owes allegiance to a foreign power, known as the Internationale.

Seventh—That it approves of the Soviet Government of Russia, and seeks to introduce a similar régime in the United States; and, finally,

Eighth—That the Assemblymen personally opposed prosecution of the war and gave aid and comfort to the enemy.

"All of these charges," Mr. Hillquit said, "are distinctly charges against the Socialist Party as such. In other words, it is the Socialist Party of the United States that is on trial before you."

"We have been told—and even in the course of this proceeding—'if you do not like this country, why don't you leave it?'" said Mr. Hillquit. "They are not going to quit this country. They do not have to quit this country any more than you. They propose to stay and contribute the best that is in them for the advancement and betterment of the country, and to bring on a better social system of wealth production and distribution. The Socialists propose as a remedy the nationalization of the country's principal industries."

He called attention to the fact that the Declaration of Independence upheld popular attempts to bring about even the most fundamental changes in government by orderly processes and said that this constituted justification for the Socialist program.

In dealing with the charge that the Socialist party was committed to mass action and the general strike, counsel declared the Socialists shunned the general strike, but that the unseating of the five Assemblymen would be more apt to bring on such a strike than anything he knew of.

"The workers, in my opinion, would be justified in declaring a general strike until such time as their constitutional rights are actually accorded them, he exclaimed.

He made light of the charge that the Socialists exacted ironclad pledges from men they elected to office, and jestingly reminded the members of the Judiciary Committee that when their terms were up they would have to go hat in hand to some "vulgar boss" and beg for a chance to be renominated.

"I think, perhaps, the most telling point, is the charge that the Socialist Party is unpatriotic and disloyal—at least it has been emphasized more than any other," said the lawyer. "We opposed the war, because we regarded it wrong to enter this hideous, inhuman slaughter called war for a country four thousand miles away from the scene of conflict and not concerned in it. If similar conditions again arise I am sure we will take the same position. It is the arrant political coward only who supinely submits to what he in good faith considers a crime."

He then read the resolution for a prohibition referendum adopted by the Democratic State Convention here last week.

"Now, I ask you if it was legal for the Democrats to adopt a resolution opposing the supreme law of the land, an act of the sovereign people, the highest type of legislation, why was it wrong for the Socialists to oppose the declaration of war, which was merely an act of Congress?"

Lastly, Mr. Hillquit took up the charge that Socialists did not believe in nationalism and were governed by the Internationale. The first he flatly denied. He admitted that socialism was international in that its programs, its platforms, its ideals and aspirations were substantially the same in every country.

"But, gentlemen," he said, "that is not a peculiarity of the Socialist movement. If socialism is international, so is capitalism, so is commerce, so is industry, so is banking, so is science, so is art, and so is practically all of modern life. Even government is being internationalized. Religion is international, so is the Church, and the most notable example is the Catholic Church with its supreme pontiff directing its spiritual police all over the world."

The summing up will continue tomorrow, when Martin Conboy will argue for the prosecution.

CHINA THROTTLES H. C. L.

Wheat 30 Cents a Bushel There, Says Attache.

About 300 members of the American Manufacturers' Export Association got a thrill yesterday when Julean Arnold, Commercial Attaché at Peking, told them anthracite coal sold in West China for 50 cents a ton, wheat 30 cents a bushel and eggs three for a nickel. But, the attaché pointed out, West China lacks transportation and cannot get the stuff out into the world.

The Chinese, said Mr. Arnold, are rapidly assimilating Occidental ideas and are particularly keen for American building materials and methods. Shanghai is being virtually rebuilt, he said, under the direction of American architects. Mr. Arnold advocated the introduction of young Chinese into American business houses as likely to stimulate Chinese-American trade and national good feeling.

Jilted, She Says, Asking $100,000.

Papers in a suit for $100,000 damages for breach of promise brought by Mrs. Evelyn M. Lewis of 214 Riverside Drive against Isaiah Lidz, a thread manufacturer living in Mount Vernon, were filed in the County Clerk's office yesterday when trial of the action was transferred from Nassau to New York County. Mr. Lidz, who has been married fifteen years, denies that he promised to marry the plaintiff on June 1 last or any other time. He obtained an order requiring the plaintiff to give particulars. An affidavit by H. W. Krumwiede, Jr. agent of the building at 214 Riverside Drive, states that when Mrs. Lewis rented the apartment last June she presented a lease purporting to have been drawn by Howard H. Lewis, who, she said, was her husband.

WILSON HAS A RIDE, FIRST IN 5 MONTHS

Motors for an Hour, Accompanied by Mrs. Wilson and Admiral Grayson.

BENEFITED BY HIS OUTING

Trip Supposed to be Preliminary to His Leaving Washington for Convalescence.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—President Wilson went motor riding today for the first time in five months. It was his first appearance outside the White House grounds since a few days after his return to Washington, a sick man, at the end of September. He took a few motor rides in the week following his breakdown, but was obliged to take to his bed in the early days of October.

The Springlike weather, coincident with the marked improvement in the President's condition, aroused in him a desire to get out of doors. Yesterday, when the air had a balmy softness, he expressed a desire to take a motor ride, and while it was intended at first to grant his wish the plan was abandoned for some unexplained reason when his motor car was at the rear door of the White House awaiting him. Today he renewed the request and Mrs. Wilson and Rear Admiral Grayson acquiesced.

Leaning on a cane the President was assisted into a closed car at the rear entrance of the White House by Rear Admiral Grayson. Mrs. Wilson was already inside and the physician joined them. The President wore a gray sweater under a medium-weight overcoat. He sat on the rear seat with Mrs. Wilson, Rear Admiral Grayson facing them. A car containing Secret Service men followed the President's car.

The route was through the Speedway and along Potomac Drive, south of the White House, and thence down Pennsylvania Avenue, up Capitol Hill, around the Capitol and back to the White House. Many people recognized the President. Men bowed and women waved to him. In passing through the Capitol grounds Senator Borah of Idaho, one of the uncompromising opponents of the President's League of Nations policy, saw him, waved his hand to him and smiled broadly.

The President showed keen interest in what he saw. He said he felt that he had been away from Washington for a long time. In passing Centre Market, at Pennsylvania Avenue and Seventh Street, the President made a remark about the high cost of living as he called attention to a sign quoting pork at 35 cents a pound. "That brings it home to you when you see a big sign like that," he said.

The drive consumed something more than an hour. After the return to the White House Rear Admiral Grayson took the President's blood pressure and found it normal. The physician said the President had been benefited by the ride and probably would take daily rides for a time, the condition of the weather determining the program.

Photographers have been waiting for weeks at one of the rear gates to the White House grounds in the hope of getting a chance to snapshot the President. They were there today, but policemen on duty refused to let them take the pictures.

Today's ride was supposed to be preliminary to getting the President in condition to leave Washington for a period of convalescence. Where he will go has not been determined. The Government yacht Mayflower has been refitted and is in readiness for the President should it be decided that he should take a water trip.

PRALL HITS AT 'FINLEYISM.'

Would Strip Education Commissioner of Much Power.

Not only should the Lockwood Education bill now pending in the Legislature be smothered in the committee to which it has been sent, but a substitute bill taking away from the State Commissioner of Education the extraordinary powers he now possesses should be passed, Anning S. Prall, President of the Board of Education, declared yesterday in a statement.

"Finleyism plus State control equals autocracy, and these are sad days for autocracies," Mr. Prall said. "Do the people realize that this autocratic control of the public school system will sound the death knell of home rule in the educational system of this and all other cities of the State? And do they understand that many of the State Commissioner's acts and arbitrary orders, whether or not detrimental to the schools, cannot be reviewed by the courts of the State?"

One of the evils of elected boards would be that the entire teaching force, from Superintendent down, would be dragged into politics, Mr. Prall maintained. Members of an elected board would not take the broad view of the school needs of this city and would have only in mind the interests of the section or borough that elected them, he added.

BRADSTREET'S GETS WRIT.

The Bradstreet Company, mercantile agency at 346 Broadway, yesterday obtained a writ of replevin for several rating cards and reports from the offices of J. J. Klein of 309 Broadway. Officers of the Bradstreet Company said Klein was not a client of the mercantile agency and was issuing reports of his own in several trades.

It was alleged that Klein came into possession of the Bradstreet reports through a friend who was a regular subscriber and who turned them over to agencies controlled by Klein. Klein surrendered all the reports sought by the Bradstreet Company and denied that he had rewritten any of the Bradstreet information for his own reports.

with the swift express only a hundred feet away. He opened the throttle again, the drivers spun again, and the last coach, then the coal tender, passed out of danger.

Both Boilers Explode.

When all but fifteen feet of the locomotive had cleared from the path of the express, the heavy locomotive of the express caught the front part of the local's engine, tore it from the rest of the train, and piled up in a twisted mass of steel. The boilers of both locomotives exploded and the windows in coaches, signal tower, nearby houses, and the railroad station were shattered.

Four of the heavy steel coaches were derailed. Then there was a outpouring of passengers who had watched the swift progress of the express train from the windows of the light coaches in the local train. Railroad men ran to aid those who had been injured in the wooden cars by the impact when the local locomotive was torn away, and to seek possible injured persons among the passengers of the Flier.

The wrecked locomotives blocked the four tracks of the Jersey Central main line. Men delved into the débris trying to find the bodies of the three dead enginemen, but the steam from the broken boilers and the heavy smoke from the fireboxes drove them away. The Elizabeth Fire Department was called to cool the hot mass of steel so the bodies might be taken from the wreckage.

Ambulances were called from the Elizabeth hospitals and eight persons were taken away, some of them suffering from serious hurts. One of those most seriously injured was the fireman of the Philadelphia Flier. The buckling of the cab of his locomotive hurled him into the air, and witnesses told of seeing him strike telegraph wires as he descended. He suffered a fracture of the leg and possible internal injuries. He was not able to tell his story of the wreck.

Traffic Delayed an Hour.

Adding to the confusion, scores of passengers from trains that were forced to stop on both sides of the spot left their coaches to see the wreckage. Ten trains from Jersey City were held up near the wreck and the traffic was delayed for more than an hour. Shifts of traffic to other lines were made, new trains were made up, and finally all passengers were able to proceed. Radiating from the junction are lines to Asbury Park and many other New Jersey towns and thousands of commuters and other passengers were late in reaching their homes.

Wrecking crews found the bodies of the two engineers shortly after they started to work. The body of Broadley of Dunellen, N. J., fireman on the local, was not recovered until late last night.

FRENCH FEEL NEED OF A STRONG POLAND

Want Nation Safeguarded from Encroachment by Soviet Russia.

COUNTERPOISE TO GERMANY

Suspicious of Bolshevist Overtures, Which Leave a Way for Conquest Open.

By WALTER DURANTY.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, March 2.—There are indications that a speedy resumption of relations between the Allies and Soviet Russia is by no means such a certainty as many people imagined after last week's decision of the Supreme Council in London to send a League of Nations Commission into Russia to prepare the modus operandi of commercial intercourse.

The first comments of the "inspired" French press were to the effect that the London announcement was merely an elaborate and "face saving" method of granting peace and recognition to the Bolshevist Government within a brief period. There followed a flood of stories from Bolshevist or pro-Bolshevist sources about advantageous peace terms that the Bolsheviki were said to be offering to all and sundry.

It was reported, too, that Poland and the Baltic States were about to hold a conference at Warsaw with a view to following the allied lead by negotiating peace with the Soviets. But during the last few days a somewhat different note is beginning to be heard here. It has come to be recognized that the hope which Lloyd George was said to entertain of reducing the cost of living in Western Europe by utilizing the alleged huge stocks of Russian wheat and raw materials is founded upon delusion. Indeed, the first and most notable consequence of the resumption of relations between Soviet Russia and Esthonia appears to have been a sudden and tremendous rise in the cost of living in the latter country.

Foch Visit to Warsaw Doubted.

Meanwhile the Polish Diet has had rejected by a big majority the Socialist proposal to make peace with the Soviets immediately, and an interview printed by a French newspaper with the Polish President, General Pilsudski, attributing to him a desire to end hostilities as soon as possible has been repudiated.

There have been, too, a series of mysterious reports that Marshal Foch is on the eve of a visit to the Polish capital. On each occasion denial has followed, but the report crops up again. In the Matin's dispatch from its Warsaw correspondent announcing the Marshal's expected arrival and stating that the inhabitants are preparing triumphal arches and decorations for his reception the correspondent's interview with General Henrys, the head of the French Military Mission in Poland, concludes with this significant phrase:

"Finally," said General Henrys with a smile, "Marshal Foch is coming to Warsaw to see realized Bismarck's prediction—the constitution of a strong French Army upon the Vistula."

Of course the speaker didn't mean actual French troops. The phrase refers to an army of Poland, French trained and French in sympathy and ideals, but it shows that the head of the French mission believes that his country is about to make a striking and successful bid for influence in Poland.

At the Polish Legation here it was stated this afternoon that "no immediate visit of Marshal Foch to Warsaw is contemplated," and the Temps announces that the Marshal will be the guest of honor at a dinner here next Saturday.

French Anxious for Poland.

These curious contradictions seem to be an appropriate accompaniment to the mass of rumors and inexactitudes which cloud the Russian question at present. Tonight the Temps editorially promises something in the nature of a clue to the mystery. The writer dismisses as absurd the argument that Europe can be fed from the Russian granaries and says that Russo-Polish relations are the key to the Russian problem. Will the Allies, he asks, abandon Poland, their ally, in her present anxious and uncertain situation?

To help the Soviets reorganize the railroads or even to permit that without first safeguarding Polish interests, it is held, would be nothing less than a crime. Still less, the article proceeds, must Germany be allowed free access to Russia now, either under the pretext of commercial missions or otherwise, lest her help, in default of that of the Allies, may be utilized by the Bolsheviki to enable them to crush Poland.

The meaning of all this is clear enough. The French are by no means satisfied with the British policy of a resumption of relations with the Soviets in which, however, they concurred last week. Even then they did so unwillingly and it was understood that their concession on this point was not uninfluenced by England's concurrence in the French desire that Turkish sovereignty be retained at Constantinople.

Now the French see that there is a storm of protest in England against the latter decision, and they are wondering whether Lloyd George will be able to stick to his bargain. This doubt makes them less pleased with the Russian scheme than ever.

From the French viewpoint it is the effect of the scheme on the position of Poland that is all important. It cannot be too strongly emphasized that a strong Poland is a cornerstone of the whole French foreign policy.

Especially since the hopeless failure of the Russian reactionaries, whose success might have put back Russia on her old footing as a strong force friendly to France in eastern Europe, France sees none save Poland who can assume a position of counterpoise against Germany's physical superiority over France. For her future's sake, it is held that counterpoise must exist. It is not too much to say that if France really delivers Poland, threatened with disaster, she will be prepared to make the utmost possible sacrifices to avert it.

LENIN THREATENS POLAND.

Denounces That Country's Peace Conditions as Extravagant.

LONDON, March 3.—A Moscow wireless dispatch received here says the proposed peace conditions with Poland have been denounced as extravagant. The dispatch adds that Nikolai Lenin, the Bolshevist Premier, in a speech at the Cossack Congress said:

"If the Polish aggressor invades our country we will give him a blow that will not be forgotten."

LONDON, March 3.—Poland's peace terms are wholly unacceptable to Russia, says George Lansbury, former Socialist member of the British House of Commons, in a dispatch to the Herald, the labor organ, from Moscow.

"They include," says the correspondent, "the cession to Poland of a large portion of the independent State of Latvia and vast territories belonging not only to Soviet Russia, but to other nations bordering on Poland. Moreover the Poles demand the separation from Russia of all the smaller nationalities inhabiting the former Russian Empire, over which Poland is to assume the protectorate."

Mr. Lansbury adds that Great Britain appears to disapprove of these demands, which he says were instigated by France.

The Herald says it learns that the Georgia and Azerbaijan republics will start negotiations with the Soviet Government for a resumption of diplomatic relations.

spirit, abandoning old standards. Mr. Borah proceeded to discuss the situation in Europe since the armistice to prove, he said, that European diplomacy proceeded today upon the same course it followed before the war. He discussed what he termed the abandonment of the doctrine of the freedom of the seas, British annexation of more than 1,000,000 square miles of territory, French annexations, secret diplomacy and other features to show that the old order survived.

Senator Hitchcock in reply said that Great Britain and the other European nations were now democracies, and that in the case of Great Britain, at least, the Government responded more quickly to the popular will than in the United States.

This roused Senator Reed to a high pitch of indignation, and he said that if he felt about it as Senator Hitchcock did, he would go over to London to live. He spent the ensuing hour and a half in enlarging upon this theme, and trying to disprove the democratization of Europe.

By this time it was too late to vote, as many Senators had left the Capitol.

Through it all the unofficial compromisers, who are trying to save the treaty, continued their efforts to bring about a modification of the Lodge reservation on Article X., with a view to winning Democratic support. They spread the word that the treaty was not so dead as it looked, and that the irreconcilables might soon "be laughing on the other side of their faces."

Senator Lodge merely assumed a grim look when asked what he thought of the efforts to modify his Article X. reservation.

ITALIAN COMMENT BITTER.

Press Attacks Wilson's "Sour Opposition" Shown in Notes.

ROME, March 2.—The Giornale d'Italia, commenting today on the exchange of communications between President Wilson and the Allied Premiers with regard to the Adriatic controversy, says the discussion is "producing a painful impression on the Italians owing to the sour opposition of the American President to Italy's aspirations, which are founded both on right and on sentiment.

"He does not take into account," the newspaper continues, "the help given by Italy to the cause of human freedom. He depicts Italy as desirous for dominion and greedy for territory, insisting on the fable of Italian imperialism, while the Jugoslavs have annexed Bulgarians, Rumanians, Magyars, Austrians, Italians, Albanians and Montenegrins, more numerous than the 400,000 Slavs whom we would annex to obtain a safe frontier.

"President Wilson depicts the Jugoslavs as the victims and the Italians as the oppressors. This artificial manoeuvre proves the injustice of his attitude, the animosity of which naturally is not realized by the Americans. How can President Wilson speak of Italian imperialism when he allowed Czechoslovakia to annex 3,000,000 Germans?"

DRIVING SLAVS FROM FIUME.

Belgrade Says Persecution by d'Annunzio Has Begun.

LONDON, March 3.—A telegram from Belgrade to The London Times says that persecution of the Jugoslavs by Gabriele d'Annunzio, the insurgent leader, has commenced. Several Jugoslavs at Fiume have received orders to leave town in five days, while others are threatened with expulsion.

"The short delay," says the correspondent, "leaves these persons no time to occupy themselves with safeguarding their property, and consequently they will be completely ruined."

LAUZANNE ATTACKS FRIENDS OF SULTAN

his principal if not his only virtue. He knows that the Treaty of Versailles is unpopular and that the Senate will not ratify it. He seeks only an occasion to put it back in his pocket. He tried to find this pretext the other day in the Adriatic affair. But what a windfall for him if the Allies give him a good motive, both popular and worthy. And what motive more worthy and more popular in America than the maintenance in Constantinople of the scorned Sultan and of the abhorrent government of murderers and traffickers? We can already see in action the redoubtable White House typewriter. It is announced it is about to get to work again. And what is more grave, what will come out of it will have the approbation of more than a hundred million Americans.

"Let us sum up all the sides this question has for France. English public opinion is dissatisfied with us from reasons of dignity and sentiment. American public opinion is dissatisfied with us for reasons moral and religious. Italy is dissatisfied with us for reasons of policy and of commerce. Greece is dissatisfied with us and Venizelos has said: 'I cannot understand a policy which consists in taking the part of enemies against friends.' We satisfy, I suppose, a certain consortium, present or future, for the exploitation of railroads and tobacco. We satisfy also certain writers and artists who cannot imagine a sunset on the Golden Horn without the palace of the Sultan.

"Getting to the bottom of the matter, we, the champions of the right of civilization or morality, support at the dagger's point against the advice of all our allies and friends a régime the most antiquated, the most corrupt, the most immoral which Europe has ever known, a régime which in 1914, when we were fighting for our life, tried to stick a knife in our back.

"This is not what one would call a pretty performance."

SENATE ASKED TO ACT.

King Resolution Favors Expulsion of Sultan from Europe.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Under a resolution introduced today by Senator King, Democrat, of Utah, the Senate would declare in favor of the expulsion of the "Government of the Ottoman Turks" from Constantinople and the erection of three independent States in the old Turkish Empire under the "direction of the Allied Powers or the League of Nations."

The resolution was referred to the Foreign Relations Committee after some discussion of the failure of President Wilson to comply with the Senate's request for a copy of the report of the American mission sent to Asia Minor under Major General James G. Harbord. Senator Wadsworth, Republican, New York, said the President had failed even to acknowledge the Senate's request.

Senator King's resolution recited that the "presence of the Government of the Ottoman Turks at Constantinople has been a constant cause of disorder, massacre, oppression, poverty and pestilence among Christian peoples of Eastern Europe and Asia Minor," and that the Turks "are wholly disqualified to exercise authority over Christian peoples."

It recommended that Constantinople be made a separate State, that the six Armenian vilayets also be erected into an independent entity, and that the Turks be allowed to make a third State of the Province of Anatolia under their own control.

Senator Wadsworth said he had been shown the Harbord report at the State Department, and that high officials, including the Secretary of State, had given their opinion that with certain deletions there was no reason why the report should not be sent to the Senate. That was seven weeks ago, the Senator said, but efforts to secure the President's consent since then had been unavailing.

"I am afraid," said Senator Wadsworth, "that this is another instance of the studied indifference of the President to a courteous request of the Senate."

"That is habitual," interjected Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the Republican leader. "Literally hundreds of requests for information from the White House have been disregarded altogether. Never before, I believe, in the history of our Government has even acknowledgment of Senate resolutions been refused."

PLAN FOR LOAN TO GERMANY.

Committee of Neutrals May Now Direct Operations.

PARIS, March 4.—Premier Nitti of Italy at the Supreme Council meeting in London yesterday, says "Pertinax" in the Echo de Paris today, demanded a revision of the Hungarian draft treaty, because by it 3,000,000 Magyars would be included in the Jugoslav, Rumanian and Czecho-Slovak States. The correspondent adds that Lloyd George was inclined to support his Italian colleague.

According to "Pertinax" the most important debate was on the proposal made by Nitti Monday, that to furnish Germany with raw materials necessary for the normal working of her industries an international loan should be issued by the neutral countries, for the payment of which certain German resources should be chosen. The loan, consequently, says the correspondent, was withdrawn from the control of the Reparation Commission and the management of this operation will be in the hands of a committee, appointed by neutral countries.

"There is no doubt," says the correspondent, "that the proposal of Signor Nitti did not triumph, but nevertheless it shows how tendencies hostile to the Versailles Treaty are growing stronger."

SEES SENATORS INCONSISTENT.

Daily Chronicle Says Monroe Doctrine Is Made to Work Two Ways.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Thursday, March 4.—The Daily Chronicle in an editorial says:

"Senator Lodge has once again in the Senate proclaimed the Monroe Doctrine, the whole Monroe Doctrine and nothing short of the Monroe Doctrine, and Senatr Reed followed by saying it was a good thing that the Senate had not ratified the treaty or President Wilson could not use this great lever in dealing with the Adriatic question. Now these are interesting, curious and rather contradictory arguments, for the Monroe Doctrine, it must be remembered, not only said to Europe hands off America, but to America it said hands off Europe. Yet the Peace Treaty which is denounced because it violates one part of the Monroe Doctrine is to be used to enable America to violate another part of the Mnre Dctrine.

"In such debates as this, as in the fateful consideration of the pros and cons which preceded her entry into the war, we see this great nation divided on a really urgent issue between the claims of her exclusive past and the claims of a widening and still more energetic future. But the two paths lead in different directions and she cannot choose both."

SUGGEST REVISIONS FAVORING HUNGARY

Italians' Move Brings Supreme Council to a Deadlock—To Resume Adriatic Parleys.

LONDON, Thursday, March 4.—The Supreme Council yesterday discussed the question of peace with Hungary, says The London Times this morning, and considerable difference in opinion arose among the delegates, mainly in consequence of the Italian suggestion that the frontiers assigned by the general treaty of peace to Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Jugoslavia should be revised in favor of the Magyars.

"This suggestion seems to have received some support from the British representatives," the newspaper adds, "but to have been opposed by the French, who do not favor the idea of throwing an important part of the general Peace Treaty into the melting pot. Consequently a situation resembling a deadlock has been reached. It seems improbable that it can speedily be improved, since Signor Nitti, the Italian Premier, is leaving London today, while M. Millerand, the French Prime Minister, is not likely to return to London until matters have progressed sufficiently to enable him to sanction a decision which may have been prepared with the approval of the other French delegates."

The Supreme Council will reassemble early in April at San Remo, Italy, where negotiations with the Jugoslavs will be resumed.

REPORT TURKS KILLED MANY IN RODOSTO

Greeks and Armenians Said to be Victims of Massacre at Sea of Marmora Port.

PARIS, Mar. 3.—The Greek Legation made public a telegram today, charging the slaughter of a large number of Greeks and Armenians by the Turks in Rodosto, sixty miles northeast of Gallipoli on the Sea of Marmora.

The telegram adds that the French Governor of Dedeaghatch has left for Enos, the headquarters of the followers of Mustapha Kemal Pasha, Turkish Nationalist leader, who are said to be terrorizing inhabitants of that region.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Mar. 1.—All Americans in Aintab, where disorders occurred early in February, were safe on Feb. 14, according to a courier, who has arrived here from Asia Minor. The situation in Aintab has become quiet, and Armenians and Moslems have retired to their quarters.

The American Commission for relief in the Near East has reestablished communication with Marash and is sending in supplies. No arrests have yet been made as a result of the murder on Feb. 4, near Aintab, of James Perry and Frank Johnson, American Y. M. C. A. men.

Again and Again And Again

A newspaper or a magazine in its editorial columns must follow a course quite different from the methods profitable in its advertising columns.

Every day or every week or every month, as the case may be, the publication must come out with new news, new dress, new stories, new illustrations.

Today it is the flu, or Prince Edward's visit, or a new tale by Talbot Mundy. Yesterday it was something else, and so it will be tomorrow.

But every day, every week, every year the advertiser tells you of Goodyear Tires, of Columbia Grafonolas, of Fatimas or of two-score more.

You forget who piloted R-34—by the way, who did? But you cannot forget the Smith brothers.

The greatest achievement of courage or inventive genius, the most diabolical crimes, live in public print only for a few brilliant days.

The chief strength of advertising lies in saying it again and again and again.

FEARS TAX BURDEN OF SOLDIER GRANTS

Representative Hull Says They Would Result in Most Oppressive System in the World.

ALSO HURT BONDS NOW OUT

Criticism of Legion by Another Organization of Veterans Causes a Storm at Hearing.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The United States would turn to Bolshevism overnight if the demands of 10,000,000 persons now asking compensation from the Treasury were granted, Representative Henry T. Rainey, Democrat, of Illinois, said today during a hearing on the proposals to grant a bonus to the American soldiers. Representative Rainey and Representative Garner, Democrat, of Texas, who did most of the cross-examining of witnesses, indicated that a $2,000,000,000 bond issue, such as was suggested as a foundation for the monus, would throw the country into a deplorable financial condition.

During the forenoon session of the hearing a row occurred which equaled that of yesterday for excitement. Edward H. Hale, representing the Veterans of Foreign Wars, criticized statements made yesterday by Franklin D'Olier, commander of the American Legion, as "erroneous." A storm of protests broke out from many committee members and Chairman Fordney had to suspend proceedings, while the room reverberated with loud declarations from eight or ten committeemen, all talking at once. Representative Treadway of Massachusetts, Republican, objected to the criticism of Mr. D'Olier, while Representative Garner insisted that criticism must be permitted. Finally, Mr. Fordney ruled in Mr. Treadway's favor.

Contrasted with this outbreak, and its rather savage aspect, was an hour of comedy during the afternoon when the committee members roared over testimony given by J. H. Halper of the World War Veterans and Marvin Sperry, head of the Private Soldiers and Sailors' Legion. Sperry said he had never drawn pay but once while he was in the army, for the reason that he had been court-martialed four times. He said one court-martial was because he "would not obey a Lieutenant who told him to go into a certain place in the line during a battle."

Questioned of Political Intentions.

The principal witness of the day was Mr. Hale. He drew sharp questions from Mr. Rainey and Mr. Garner, both of whom seemed to believe that the witness' statements implied political coercion of members of the House who would not vote for the bonus.

"All you will have to do is to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor, or threaten a member of Congress and he will not have the slightest chance to be re-elected," said Mr. Rainey.

"I have just wondered how long Congress could stand the strain of all these demands. I wonder what might happen if a Congress was elected which would respond to the demands.

"Ten million persons are making direct or indirect demands upon the treasury for increased compensation; 5,000,000 in the A. F. of L., 4,000,000 in the soldiers' organizations and 600,000 to 700,000 government employes. If a Congress which would allow these demands should be elected next Fall, and the demands were granted, in a night this country would pass into communism or Bolshevism. And all the wars which your organizations have waged would have been in vain."

Questioned as to whether his organization intended the political extinction of men who voted against the bonus, Mr. Hale declared, and reiterated many times that any fight upon the election of a candidate to Congress would rest solely with the soldiers' posts within the candidate's district, and would not be engineered by the soldiers' organization as a whole.

$30 a Month His Proposal.

The witness declared that 3,000,000 out of the 4,000,000 men who have been under arms actually needed financial help to start them off in life. He had two propositions to make to the committee. One of these was to pay all men who served here or abroad sixty days or more $30 a month for each month served, with $100 additional for overseas service; the other was the Morgan bill comprising a farm mortgage plan. In order to pay for the plans, Mr. Hale urged a bond issue of $2,000,000,000, the sinking fund interest and administration expenses to be derived by levying a special 2 per cent. tax on all annual incomes above $50,000, with graduations up to 7 per cent. on incomes of $1,000,000 or higher. The bonds, he said, should be given to the soldiers.

Representative Gardner argued that the $2,000,000,000 bond issue would reduce the value of existing bond issues and would "cut the value of the property of 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 citizens of this country, including the 4,000,000 soldiers, down to 80 per cent." Mr. Hale denied that the soldiers would sell their bonds as soon as given to them, but said if they needed money would borrow it at the banks with the securities as collateral. Mr. Gardner countered by saying these loans would inflate credit, and thus raise prices.

Mr. Halper's scheme included $1 a day for days served and a minimum of $180. He was opposed to a bond issue, as he believed, he said, it would disrupt the financial program of the Government.

WASHINGTON, March 3 (Associated Press).—The soldier relief question got into House debate today, Representative Madden of Illinois, a member of the Republican Legislative Steering Committee, in an address urging economy in Government expenses, declaring that the "various relief measures proposed expenditures of "two to twenty billion dollars." If bonds were issued, he said, the interest rate would have been at least 6 per cent.

"How would a two-billion issue affect outstanding Government bonds?" asked Representative Garner.

"It would reduce them to 75 cents on the dollar, if not more," said Mr. Madden.

SEES A STEAMSHIP PLOT.

Lawyer Accuses Foreign Lines and a State Investigator.

Joseph O. Skinner, an attorney, asserted in Jefferson Market Court yesterday that four foreign steamship lines had combined to hamper new American steamship companies, and that charges against Miss Marian K. Clark, Chief Investigator of the Bureau of Industry and Immigration of the State Department of Labor, growing out of the alleged combination, were under investigation by Governor Smith. Skinner appeared as counsel for M. D. Alex, Secretary of the Putnik Immigration Company, a steamship enterprise, at 146 Tenth Street, who was accused of grand larceny. The lawyer asserted that the "steamship conference" was back of the charge. After the case against Alex had been continued until next Tuesday, Skinner said he would submit memoranda to the Magistrate to show that his client had been persecuted through the State Labor Department.

In court Skinner alleged that Miss Clark and others in the department had acted in "collusion" with the "steamship conference," made up, he said, of the Cunard Line, International Mercantile Marine, French Line, and Italian Line, which aimed to control steamship ticket agents throughout the country. He said he had forwarded charges against Miss Clark to the Governor.

DISMISSES 15 MORE OF NEWBERRY AIDS

Judge Sessions Also Throws Out Count Five in Indictment, Charging Buying of Votes.

UPHOLDS COUNTS 3, 4 and 6

Eighty-five Respondents Remain, and Motions to Free These Will Be Argued Today and Tomorrow.

Special to The New York Times.

GRAND RAPDIS, Mich., March 3.—Judge Sessions on his own motion today dismissed fifteen more minor respondents in the Newberry alleged election conspiracy trial as having not been connected by the evidence with the alleged conspiracy. The Judge also dismissed Count 5 in the indictment, which charged the buying of votes, but denied the motions of the defense to dismiss Counts 3, 4 and 6, or to free the remaining eighty-five respondents.

The fifteen respondents dismissed are: Christian Broeck, Prosecuting Attorney of Muskegon; Albert F. Crawford, bank cashier, Breckenridge; Fred J. Derrick, Menominee; John W. Dunn, Judge of Probate, Arenac; Benjamin Gero, Deputy Game Warden, Manistique; Alex C. Green, employed in the State Capitol, Alpena; John Jones, Prosecuting Attorney, Ontonagon; Daniel C. Laughlin, Jackson; William E. Lewis, Hart; Samuel Odell, member of the State Utility Commission, Shelby; John C. Rittenhouser, Cheboygan; James Swain, Coldwater; Lewis J. Thompson, former Judge of Probate, Allegan, and Paul Woodworth, Badaxe.

Following the trimming up of the frills and the clearing of rubbish out of the case, as Judge Sessions expressed it, attorneys for individual respondents addressed the court on motions to dismiss their clients, and James W. Heleme, Democratic Senatorial candidate, spoke in his own behalf.

Heleme said there was not testimony to connect him with the Newberry conspiracy, that he believed he had a right to run for an office, and that he did not overrun the limit of campaign expenses.

Judge Sessions, with a smile, replied: "If one is to believe the indictment, then, you were trying to elect Newberry."

Motions to dismiss individual respondents will be continued tomorrow with Attorneys Murfin and Nichols speaking last for dismissal of Senator Newberry and his campaign managers. This will take up practically the entire day. Judge Sessions has withheld all decisions.

The defense will probably not call up any witnesses before Friday.

2.50 BEER SOLD IN JERSEY.

Atlantic City Bars Supply Customers Under the New Law.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 3.—Two and a half per cent. beer and porter, which had been held in reserve by brewers, made its appearance in bars here today, and business immediately became active. The brewers, in anticipation of the law legalizing the sale of three and a half per cent. beer being immediately signed by the Governor, had shipped the reserve brew to the shore several days in advance. They were ready for delivery early this morning, and automobiles were on the move the entire day and this evening.

It was intimated by smiling bartenders that a new brew with a full alcoholic "kick" of three and a half would soon make its appearance.

INQUIRY INTO SHIP'S SINKING

Federal Board Investigates Accident to the Moccasin.

An inquiry into the sinking of the steamship Moccasin, the latest of a series of mishaps to former German ships in this port and in many others, was started yesterday by the United States Shipping Board. The board is expected to end its investigation and announce its findings today.

Speculation as to the existence of an organized plot to damage ships formerly flying the German flag has been aroused again by the Moccasin incident. It was reported that the ship, which sank Tuesday at her berth in Brooklyn, had her sea cocks opened. The Moccasin, which is in the South American trade for the Munson Line, had just arrived here after her maiden trip.

"There is nothing to show that the sinking resulted from sabotage," said George W. Sterling, Assistant Director of the Shipping Board. When asked about mishaps to other vessels formerly in the German service he said that he was not familiar with the case.

T. L. MASSON WOUNDED.

Editor of Life Accidentally Shoots Himself with "Safety Revolver."

Thomas L. Masson, the editor of Life, is in the Mountainside Hospital in Montclair suffering from a bullet wound in the fleshy part of his leg. While cleaning what he calls a "safety revolver," he accidentally shot himself. Fortunately the bullet was only .32 calibre and his injury, though painful, was not serious. He is improving steadily and will be out of the hospital tomorrow.

Mr. Masson said he did not regret the occurrence, as it provided him with the first real rest in years.

LLOYD MUST FACE TRIAL.

Indictments Against Chicago Millionaire and 15 Communists Upheld.

CHICAGO, March 3.—William Bross Lloyd, millionaire sergeant-at-arms of the Communist Labor Party, and fifteen other Communists must stand trial on indictments recently returned charging them with conspiracy to overthrow the Government by force.

Judge Oscar Hebel today denied a motion to quash the indictments.

52 YEARS IN PRISON METED TO ROBBERS

Pair Who Attacked Wealthy Texan and Wife in Knickerbocker Sentenced.

DESERVE LIFE, SAYS JUDGE

Spanish Government, Proceedings Reveal, Asked for Men Caught with $30,000 Booty.

In passing sentence on Ramon Rodriquez and Adriano Alvarez Herra, the two Spaniards who broke into the room of Mr. and Mrs. Aloysius J. Broderick of Dallas, Texas, while they were at the Hotel Knickerbocker, attacked them and were arrested as they were escaping with $30,000 booty, Judge John F. McIntyre in General Sessions deplored yesterday that he was unable to impose the death sentence. Instead he gave each 52 years and 6 months in Sing Sing at hard labor. The crime was committed on Dec. 23.

It developed that the Spanish Government, through the Consul General here, made application for both men, offering to punish them in their own land. Judge McIntyre said it would now be a long time before either returned to Spain. The prisoners pleaded guilty to grand larceny a week ago, when the Judge, fearing they would escape from the prison ward at Bellevue Hospital, where they were simulating illness, forced them to trial.

"These defendants are the vilest scoundrels that have ever come before me," said the Judge. "I am going to impose the most severe sentence I can. This may be considered harsh, but this Court feels that it owes a duty to the people of the State of New York. It must be remembered that this complainant hovered between life and death for a time and that these prisoners might well have been here today for sentence to the electric chair."

Judge McIntyre praised Policeman Martin Myers of the West Forty-seventh Street Station, who arrested the two Spaniards as they were escaping from the hotel. He also spoke in praise of Policeman William Hayden of Hoboken, who on May 21 last arrested Herra with several hundred dollars' worth of jewelry in his possession. Herra got off with a suspended sentence in Hudson County.

Hayden, on the stand, told of the capture of Herra and his subsequent plea of guilty before Judge John A. Blair in the Court of Common Pleas in Hoboken. The story of the assault on Broderick and his wife was told by Police Lieutenant Cornelius J. Willemse, who identified the open knife found in Herra's possession when he was arrested. Mr. Broderick was beaten over the head with a hammer and his wife's hands were tied.

To Extend Schick Test in Schools.

The Schick test for diphtheria will soon be extended to 100 schools in this city, Dr. William H. Park, Director of the Bureau of Laboratories of the Health Department, announced yesterday. The extension follows the successful application of the test in twenty schools last year. The test ascertains the children susceptible to diphtheria, who then receive injections of diphtheria antitoxin.

CONDEMN FAMOUS WINDMILL

Modern Houses Will Displace Centuries-Old Structure on Montmartre.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—The famous Moulin Radet, one of the two remaining windmills which for centuries have crowned the Montmartre, is to be removed to make room for the construction of new houses. As this will inevitably ruin the picturesque spot from the artist's point of view, the painters are in despair, and lovers of old Paris are endeavoring to get the authorities to consent to the mill being moved to another site instead of being pulled down.

In the seventeenth cenutry the hillside and top of Montmartre were covered with windmills. The number finally dwindled to two, the Moulin de la Galette and the Moulin Radet. For many generations the artists of all countries have sought out the Montmartre for the purpose of reproducing these mills on canvas. The section was a favorite one with American tourists and artists.

CONFRONT MARTENS WITH RED PLOT PROOF

Seized Message Urging Communists to Break Up A. F. of L. Read at Senate Inquiry.

"ENVOY" IS CONTRADICTED

Former Consul General Poole Denies Assertion That He Was Expelled from Russia.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, the so-called Russian Ambassador in the United States, was questioned before the Senate investigating committee today regarding documents outlining Bolshevist activities to be carried out in this country which were started from Russia by courier and which fell into the hands of the State Department.

Wade H. Ellis, counsel for the committee, in presenting the documents said Anton Koltoroy, the courier, was captured at Riga last December 18, and that he carried 3,000,000 rubles in diamonds in addition to letters. Martens denied acquaintance with Koltorov.

Reading from the State Department letter transmitting the documents, Mr. Ellis said Koltorov carried in addition "a number of press statements signed by James Gordon, addressed to the Russia Union and various communications undated, together with a report on the state of discipline in the Kolchak armies."

One of the documents was a letter from Bucharin, a Soviet leader.

"One of the important tasks is that of organizing groups of soldiers among American armed forces for the furious baiting of officers," said the latter. "I fear the mistake most dangerous in America is that of getting soviets formed largely among women on purely cultural grounds. More stress must be put upon workers' soviets, the fighting organizations. More emphasis must be put upon seizure.

"It is necessary to pay particular attention to the A. F. of L., which must be broken up by working actively in conjunction with the I. W. W. to organize a revolutionary trades-union movement. Fight with every means against the organization of a white guard."

Martens insisted the letter was not addressed to him.

"It was directed to the Communist Congress here," Mr. Ellis said, "but I think you know something about it."

D. C. Poole, former American Consul General in Russia, now a bureau chief in the State Department, was called and questioned about a previous statement by Martens that he had been expelled from Russia for interfering in that country's internal affairs.

"I was not expelled," said Mr. Poole, "but left of my own accord and upon the instructions of the Secretary of State."

Mr. Poole denied that he had ever been concerned in any plots or activities against the Bolshevist Government. When he left Russia, he said, B. B. Kalamatiano, an American citizen of Russian birth, had remained to furnish the State Department with information. This man has been kept ever since in prison under sentence of death, he said, and every effort was being made by the American Government to assure his well-being and eventual release.

"The State Department's only effort has been to get American citizens out of Russia," he added.

The Soviet letter read at the Senate inquiry was printed in full in THE NEW YORK TIMES of Dec. 26, 1919, as part of a series of documents taken from a Soviet courier captured at Riga on his way to the United States. Among the other documents, also cabled to this paper by Walter Duranty, THE TIMES correspondent then at Riga, was a letter published Dec. 28 signed A. Menshing and J. A. Bersin containing the following passage:

"The Embassy (Soviet Embassy in United States) and Comrade Martens are not subordinate to any organization. Organizations are advised to work in full contact with the Embassy, which is responsible only to the All-Russian Central Committee of Soviets."

Mr. Martins had repeatedly boasted before the Lusk Committee that he was in continuous communication with Moscord by means of secret couriers.

Soviet Asserts Denikin's Army Is "Gradually Dispersing."

LONDON, March 3.—Russian Bolshevist forces are advancing rapidly in the Caucasus region, according to an official telegram received by Reuters, Limited, from Moscow. During the last fortnight, the message says, the Soviet troops in that district have captured 17,000 prisoners, and General Denikin's army is declared to be "gradually dispersing."

A wireless dispatch received here from Moscow says that the Red forces in the capture of Odessa took a total of 1,508 white officers, including fifty-three generals and 217 colonels. It adds that Bataisk (?) on the Sea of Azov has been occupied.

HOLD 10 AS PATERSON REDS

L'Era Nouva Editor's Bail $10,000—Others' Bonds Fixed at $5,000.

Ludovici Caminita, editor of L'Era Nouva, a radical newspaper said to be the organ of the Paterson anarchists, was held in $10,000 bail, and nine other alleged anarchists arrested several weeks ago in Paterson were held in $5,000 bail at yesterday's session of the Board of Special Inquiry at Ellis Island. Lawyers for the prisoners announced that they would not take advantage of the modified rules of the board, which permit the accused to refuse to answer questions when placed on the witness stand.

Frank R. Stone, a Department of Justice special agent who has watched the Paterson group of radicals for several years, appeared with lawyers from the immigration service and Department of Justice agents to prosecute the case. Papers and literature advocating revolution and overthrow of the Government were introduced in evidence.

Stone told the Board of Inquiry that the Government did not seek to prove in the present hearings that Caminita and the Paterson group of anarchists have been guilty of actual bomb throwing, but merely that the accused, who are charged with advocating the assassination of public officials, should be deported as undesirable aliens. The records of the hearings of the Paterson group will be forwarded to the Secretary of Labor for a final ruling.

Urges Trade with Soviet Russia.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The American Commercial Association made public tonight a letter it had sent to the State Department, through the Russian division, asking that licenses for trade with Soviet territory in Russia be issued to American business men, that shipping rights be extended, mail, telegraph and wireless opened, and that the Government "facilitate the dispatch of funds" from Soviet Russia. The association also asked that a committee of business men representing it be allowed to go to Russia to investigate economic conditions and make arrangements for American trade.

Denies Withdrawing Observers.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Denial was made at the State Department today of the published report from abroad that the United States Government, on account of the attitude of the Senate toward the Versailles Treaty, has ordered the withdrawal from Europe of its representatives who have been acting as unofficial observers to keep this Government informed of the work of the Reparations Commission and other bodies provided for by the treaty.

Blizzard Sweeps Western States.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 3.—Blizzard conditions prevailed in Nebraska tonight, with a high northwest wind, a fall of snow and a rapidly descending temperature. Southeastern Colorado, already suffering a snow blockade, is in the throes of a blizzard, said to be the worst in thirty years. In the La Plata mining district the snow is reported twelve to twenty-five feet deep.

DETECTIVE ACCUSED BY WOMAN OF GRAFT

and he met Mrs. Melyado at one or two in the morning and received money.

On the occasion which serves as the basis of the indictment the complainant averred that Gunson called on her and said he needed a suit of clothes. She had a $100 bill and after Estelle Young had changed it, she gave the detective $50, she asserted.

Mrs. Melyado stated that she continued to give Gunson money, but the shock of the death of a near relative caused her to resolve that she would change her mode of life. Accordingly she obtained a position as hairdresser. Gunson, according to Mr. Smith, followed her and demanded money. When she said she was unable to comply with his demand he attempted to have her return to her former occupation, but she refused, Mr. Smith added.

Gunson drew a gun and threatened to kill a man who became offensive in the West Ninety-fifth Street apartment and the two women had to leave the house because of the incident, the complainant said.

The prosecutor charged that women who paid police officers were discharged in the Women's Night Court. To support this assertion he produced the court record of several cases. In one the Gonzalez woman, under the name of "Rose Lopez," was discharged by Magistrate Frothingham on June 11, 1918. She said she paid $400 for being released.

In another case Estelle Young was dismissed on a charge of violating the Tenement House law by Magistrate McGeehan on Jan. 18, 1919. The girl said she paid $300 on this occasion.

Both the Melyado woman and Miss Gonzalez were arrested on June 3, 1918. Mrs. Melyado said she was sent to jail for twenty days because she refused to pay and her friend was jailed for one day after paying $600.

Robert M. Moore of 346 Broadway, counsel for Gunson, objected before Judge Malone to $5,000 bail for his client if the indictment was returned on the uncorroborated testimony of the two women companions of Mrs. Melyado. Mr. Smith said he had ample corroboration of other witnesses of unquestioned probity, whereupon Mr. Moore withdrew his objection.

Inspector Henry declined last night to enter into any discussion of the arrest of Gunson and the charges against him.

DECLARES PROOF SHOWN AGAINST ERZBERGER

Attorney General Krause Says Mixing of Business with Public Acts Is Established.

BERLIN, March 3.—In summing up the evidence in the libel suit of Mathias Erzberrer, former Minister of Finance, against Dr. Karl Helfferich, former Vice Chancellor, Attorney General Krause declared today that conclusive testimony had been introduced that Erzberger had mixed business with his political acts.

The Attorney General startled a large crowd of spectators when he made this emphatic statement. The charge that Erzberber's business ventures formed part of the conduct of his political office was the basis of the suit.

Discussing the former Minister's transfer of money from Germany to Swiss banks, the Attorney General said that while these transactions were above suspicion, Erzberger would have done better to have co-operated with the Foreign Office in the deposit of these funds.

WHERE HEARING IS BELIEVING

THE Ampico has long been famous as the piano that reproduces the playing of the great pianists, yet no one can have the faintest conception of the perfection of this instrument nor what it would mean to them in their home until they have heard it. The Ampico is more than a piano—it is music itself.

Within its beautiful case dwells the musical genius of the ages. Poetic tenderness, fiery brilliance, exquisite daintiness—every attribute of the great virtuoso is brought into your home, exactly as you have heard him on the concert stage. Then you may enjoy the latest popular music of the day—Broadway's favorite "jazz" artists are ready to play irresistible dance music for your delight.

The Ampico plays itself without your personal attention and whenever you wish. At other times it is just the beautiful piano that you may play with your own hands, if you are able. When it plays itself there are no limitations to its superb music. This seems almost impossible—a dream of great music—but hearing is believing.

Come hear the Ampico. It is the one instrument that will bring to your home music that is always and ever delighting—that will be a constant source of pleasure and inspiration to the whole family.

CRUSHED TO DEATH IN HOTEL ELEVATOR

Mrs. Muriel Ford of England Hurt Fatally at Majestic in Husband's View.

HE EXONERATES OPERATOR

Chief Medical Examiner Reports the Fatality Was Due to Boy's Negligence, However.

Mrs. Muriel Ford, wife of Ernest H. Ford, a retired importer and exporter of England, was hurt fatally yesterday morning as she was stepping out of one of the elevators in the Hotel Majestic at Central Park West and Seventy-second Street. Her husband exonerated the elevator runner, saying the accident was due to the carelessness of his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford and their son, John, aged 6, went to the hotel from the Cedric, on which they arrived from England last Sunday.

The couple left their suite of three rooms on the tenth floor of the hotel at about 9:30 o'clock, intending to go to the grill, in the basement, for breakfast. When the elevator reached the main floor, four other passengers alighted. A statement which Mr. Ford later prepared said the elevator operator, believing no one else intended getting out, started the car. With the door not yet shut, and the car in motion, his wife tried to get off, he said. Before the elevator boy could stop the car Mrs. Ford was crushed between the roof of the car and the floor of the entrance.

Mrs. Ford was removed to her room, where Dr. J. A. McLeay, a physician at the hotel, treated her. She died at about 11 o'clock. Her ribs were crushed and she suffered other internal injuries, it was said. The funeral will take place tomorrow.

Copeland Townsend, owner of the Majestic, admitted the inner gate on the car had not ben closed and the outer one was only half shut when the elevator was started. He said that in 999 cases out of 1,000 elevators are started before the doors are completely closed. The elevator boy, he said, was Carl Rembfit, 19 years old, living at 282 West Seventy-first Street.

Dr. Charles Norris, Chief Medical Examiner, after taking the testimony of the elevator boy last night, said the woman's death was due to negligence on the part of the boy. The testimony will be submitted to the District Attorney, who Dr. Norris said, will decide whether the boy will be held.

The statement of the boy was to the effect that after a few passengers had left the car on the main floor, Mrs. Ford put out her right foot attempting also to get off. Not seeing that she was partly outside the car, he turned the handle and the car went down. He saw she was caught, stopped the car and went up again, he said, but it was too late.

Gifts for Many Hebrew Charities.

Through the will of the late David Bloom of 2 West Seventy-second Street, who died Feb. 12 last, filed for probate in the Surrogates' Court yesterday, the Hebrew Free Loan Society receives a legacy of $3,000, and bequests of $1,000 each are made to Beth Israel Hospital, the Daughters of Jacob, the Jewish Maternity Hospital, the Uptown Talmud Torah, the Chesed Shal Emes Society and the Mackzikel Talmud Torah. To Birdie Bloom, widow of the testator, is left $20,000 outright and a similar sum is bequeathed to his daughter, Maud Finkelstein. The residuary estate is divided equally between his two sons, Henry Bloom of 302 West Eighty-sixth Street and Jesse Bloom of 101 West 112th Street.

Woman Bound and Robbed in Home.

Four men entered the apartment of Mrs. Margaret Vici at 17 Centre Street, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon and asked if her husband was home. When she replied that he was not, they bound her to a chair and then searched a trunk for money. Finding none, they stole 25 bed sheets, valued at $300. Mrs. Vici's screams brought Patrolman Little, who released her. Detectives arrested John Yodice, of 156 Conover Street, who was identified by Mrs. Vici as one of the men. In the Fifth Avenue Court he was held in $1,500 bail.

BABY HAD $7,500 NECKLACE.

Mail Carrier Who Found Gems in Street, Thought Them Worthless.

A diamond and pearl necklace, valued at $7,500, which was lost Tuesday night by Mrs. L. T. Lasard of the Hotel Majestic, Seventy-second Street and Central Park West, was found in the home of John C. Carson, a letter carrier, at 566 Amsterdam Avenue, yesterday morning, where it was being used as a plaything by his baby.

Mrs. Lasard was carrying the necklace in an envelope when she left the hotel Tuesday night. Within a few minutes after she left she returned and reported that she had lost it. Detective Richard Golden, investigating the loss, was told by a bellboy at the hotel that he had seen a letter carrier pick up an envelope in the street nearby.

The detective traced it to the Carson home yesterday morning, when Mr. Carson admitted that he had picked up a trinket near the Majestic, but did not think it was of any value.

"Where is it?" the carrier asked his wife.

'MURDER MYSTERY' SOLVED.

Bones on Staten Island Those of Fever Victims in 1870.

The finding of seven skeletons doesn't make a Staten Island murder mystery, an investigation last night of a "gruesome find" yesterday made apparent. Deane F. Wood, a publisher, was walking on the beach near Huguenot, it was explained, when he noticed a bunch of bones sticking out of the ground. He and a friend, Joel H. Johnson, dug around a bit and concluded they had a murder mystery. They went over to New York and told a newspaper about it, and a "murder mystery" was circulated.

Dr. George P. Mord, Deputy Medical Examiner, examined those bones, however, and learned they were the remains of yellow fever victims of 1870. Ships were coming over from the other side. The disease developed on the way across. Many passengers died. Those who didn't were taken to Swinburne Island. Some of them were buried on Staten Island, and every Spring since then storms have unearthed the bones.

How shall we have inventions if we cease to train inventors?

MARCONI invented the wireless.

But the developments in electricity that made the wireless possible were the work of university professors—Kelvin of Glasgow, Maxwell of Cambridge, and Hertz of Bonn.

Surgeons applied the X-ray to human healing. But university professors discovered the Ray.

Look down the list of inventions that have transformed America. No less than fifty of the most significant came out of the laboratories of Cornell University; or out of the minds of men whom Cornell laboratories trained.

YOU men who own great industries—of what value will your plants and machinery be in another generation, if the springs of invention are dried up?

Those springs will not dry up: inventions and inventors will continue to flow out of the laboratories at Cornell, if Cornell can pay a living wage to the men who direct her laboratories.

MEXICO EXPECTS TO GET ARMS HERE

Retirement of Lansing Thought There to Have Removed the Obstacle.

LAST REFUSAL ON JAN. 7

Investigations Showed That Rebels Got Half of Arms Shipped and That Americans Were Killed by Them.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Mexico is said to be preparing to demand permission to import arms and munitions of war from the United States. Hilario Medina, sub-Secretary of Foreign Affairs, in a statement which has been reported to the State Department, has announced that as a result of the retirement of Robert Lansing as Secretary of Staet, it is probable that the Mexican demand will be met. At the same time there was made public in Mexico City the text of the most recent correspondence between Mexican Ambassador Bonillas and Secretary Lansing on the matter.

Because of the unsettled conditions in Mexico the State Department has for several years refused to permit war munitions to be exported to Mexico, except in a few specific instances. Investigations showed that the rebels secured at least half the munitions permitted to move for the Carranza forces and they also were said to have secured large quantities by barter with the Government commanding officers. The investigations also showed, it was said today, that practically all of the 300 and more Americans killed in Mexico during the past few years by Mexicans were killed by American-made bullets.

As a result of these investigations, the Government has consistently refused to permit American manufacturers to send to Mexico even munitions purchased here before the United States entered the World War. When General Scott was Chief of Staff he took a strong stand against allowing arms to cross the border, and Henry P. Fletcher, who recently resigned as Ambassador to Mexico, also steadfastly recommended against permitting such shipments.

Secretary Lansing gave a final refusal on Jan. 7 to lift the embargo The Mexican refused to visé the passport of Henry Forres, an American witness before the Fall committee, whose home is at Matamoros, Mexico, was also made public today.

"Permit me to point out to your Excellency," the Mexican reply said, "that the said Mr. Forres, in testifying before the sub-committee of the United States Senate, stated that conditions prevailing at present in Mexico were chaotic, exhibiting as evidence of his assertion that the President of the republic on the occasion of his visit to Cuatro Cienegas had been escorted by 7,000 soldiers. Furthermore, the said Mr. Forres expressed himself in harsh terms with regard to Article 27 of the Constitution, stating it simply provided for confiscation or robbery. In general his statements were not only derogatory to Mexico and this Government, but were also sarcastic. Nevertheless, the said Mr. Forres has not confined himself to his false statements with regard to Mexico, but he has been engaged in an active propaganda against Mexico among the persons attending the sessions, having furthermore offered in a jocular tone to go to the Mexican Consulate and advise himself as to whether the visé of his passport would be denied, confident that it would not be.

"In view of the antecedents of Mr. Henry Forres my Government is pained to advise your Excellency that it can not permit the entry into Mexico of the gentleman."

MEXICO CITY, March 3.—Full information regarding the raid of Mexicans on Montana Camp, near Ruby, Ariz., on the afternoon of Friday, Feb. 27, has been requested by the Mexican Foreign Office. Nothing official was given out yesterday regarding the incident, in which John A. and Alexander Fraser, brothers, were killed. It was unofficially stated, however, that no United States troops had crossed the border in pursuit of the bandits.

The only incident of American soldiers crossing into Nogales, Sonora, occurred late last week, when two Americans who had crossed the international line in search of liquor were fired upon by Mexican customs guards. The affray resulted in the deaths of one Mexican guard and one American.

TO TEST MRS. HONE'S SANITY

Commission Asked for Aged Widow Who Has $60,000 Income.

Supreme Court Justice Erlanger appointed a commission in lunacy yesterday to determine the mental condition of Mrs. Maria C. Hone, widow of John Hone and sister of the late John L. Cadwalader, who was head of the law firm of Cadwalder, Wickersham & Taft. Mrs. Hone, who is 80 years old and lives at 5 Gramercy Park, is alleged to be incompetent to manage her property because of senile dementia. The petition in the case says Mrs. Hone spends her time playing with dolls.

Mrs. Hone has an income of more than $60,000 from trust funds left by her father, brother, husband and sister, including $10,697 from property set aside for her under a marriage settlement.

Eggs Drop 1 to 6 Cents in Chicago.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 3.—Eggs dropped from 1 to 6 cents on the Chicago Produce Market this morning. The greatest decline was registered by miscellaneous eggs, comprising receipts from the farm, which fell to 41 to 48½ cents, as compared to yesterday's price of 41 to 49 cents. All grades were affected by the decline.

WOULD PUT MOVIE ON PLANE OF STAGE

French Minister of Instruction Suggests a Conservatory to Develop the Picture Art.

ALSO STATE FILM LIBRARY

Cinematograph Regarded by M. Honnorat as the Best Means of International Publicity.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, March 3.—The formation of a conservatoire to encourage art and perfect the mechanism of moving pictures is urged here by M. Honnorat, Minister of Public Instruction. He aspires to have movies placed on the same plane as the theatre and opera, and to teach action, production, scenic arrangement and all other crafts necessary to making a finished film, just as music and dancing are taught at the Conservatoire and Opéra.

To begin with, M. Honnorat thinks that private firms should themselves found such a school in common in Paris.

"They have plenty of money," he says, "and the State would give them all the encouragement they need. But the school should not be run as a financial concern. It should be supported by contributions from all those interested and pay no attention to profit, only to discovering and developing masters of all arts and crafts necessary for the production of good films.

Honnorat believes that in France the development of moving picture production has not been so great as it might be, because only a few people realize that the art is different from that of the theatre.

"The task of the Conservatoire," he says, "will be to create real cinematograph actors and actresses, to perfect apparatus and scene setting, to experiment, invent and innovate. The Conservatoire must also have its own theatre in which to show its films, which would also be sent later abroad to set an example. But they would not come into commercial competition with private firms, as they would all be specially selected pieces supplied free by the Conservatoire as an advertisement and model."

In his scheme M. Honnorat provides for a certain number of paid instructors, but he also hopes that many of the most successful actors would also give their services as instructors and advisers free. In their own interest, he thinks, moving picture producers would be well advised to take, and will not be able to avoid taking, a snare in the undertaking. He hopes also to form a kind of national library of the best films produced both by the Conservatoire and private firms. Of such a library there is already the nucleus in French and other moving pictures of war scenes and public events, but he wishes to see added to it films of every kind, so that the collection will be as representative of the moving picture art as the National Library is of contemporary literature.

While taking the view that the development of French art and enterprise is the primary object, he adds that one of the greatest reasons for the establishment of such a Conservatoire is "that the moving picture is the best means of international publicity."

ROYALTIES SUBJECT TO TAX.

Roper Rules That They May Not Be Classed as Dividends.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Authors, artists and others must pay normal taxes as well as surtaxes upon their royalties, according to a ruling issued by Daniel C. Roper, Collector of Internal Revenue. Mr. Roper, in announcing that the royalties are not "dividends," says he seeks to correct any erroneous impression caused by a recent circular letter sent out by the Authors' League.

In a statement made tonight, Mr. Roper says:

"Royalties, salaries, space rates, or any other compensation paid by publishers or others to authors and artists constitute an expense of the paying firm or individual and not a distribution of profits.

"A true return of income by an author or artist who received royalties during 1919 must show royalties in Block B on the income tax return. If he received salary or wages, commissions or bonuses or a pension the amount should be shown in Block B. All other professional income should be shown in Block A, where any necessary expenses that were directly incident to the earnings of such income and were not personal or living expenses, may be deducted."

ROAD TO HURRY NEWSPRINT

Pennsylvania Forms Bureau to Expedite Shipments to the Press.

PHILADELPHIA, March 3.—Owing to the difficulty of newspapers in obtaining a sufficiently steady supply of newsprint paper, the management of the Pennsylvania Railroad system announced tonight that it has taken steps to give this commodity special attention in transit and to do all that is possible, from the railroad point of view, to assure the newspapers a continuous and satisfactory supply.

For this purpose a special bureau was organized today at the general offices of the company here under the joint supervision of the transportation and traffic departments, and in direct charge of J. F. Deasy, assistant chief of transportation.

"It will be the duty of the bureau," the announcement said, "in all periods of emergency or scarcity to watch the movement of newsprint consignments on its lines, expedite the movement wherever possible and when necessary follow a shipment back to the source of original supply, even though on another railroad system.

"It will also be the duty of the bureau and of the traffic and transportation departments to endeavor to obatin the co-operation of connecting railroads on whose lines the shipments originate."

TO AID TOURISTS IN FRANCE.

Bank of France Will Issue Special Checks for Travelers.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, March 3.—At the request of the Compagnie Francaise du Tourisme, the Bank of France has decided to issue special travelers' checks, called cheques de voyage, for the convenience of visitors to this country.

These checks, which will be for 100, 500 and 1,000 francs, will be purchasable in all foreign countries at the current rate of exchange before the traveler sets out, and will have the value of a Bank of France note here.

The object in issuing these checks is to avoid exchange difficulties for tourists and the loss which frequently attends such transactions.

URGE RISE FOR TEACHERS.

Board of Education Told Shortage Is Due to Inadequate Pay.

At a hearing by the special committee of the Board of Education inquiring into the shortage of teachers at the Board of Education Hall last night, William G. Willcox, former president of the Board of Education, appeared as a member of the Educational Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and said business men admitted there was a shortage in the teaching staff and that a flat increase of about 30 per cent was necessary in order to maintain the efficiency and morale of the teaching profession.

Mrs. Grace Strachan Forsythe, District Superintendent, and President of the Interborough Association of Women Teachers, said an increase in salaries was necessary but that it was not the only thing needed to make the profession attractive and desirable. William T. Vlymen, Principal of the Eastern District High School, said the teachers were very much gratified at the stand taken in their favor by the Board of Education. He said it was not for themselves that the teachers wanted justice, but for the children. Mrs. Edna M. Bryant, President of the Professional Elementary School Teachers' Association, said she represented about 14,000 teachers in the system and that they felt a grievance in the difference between the salaries paid them and the teachers in the seventh and eighth-year grades. The committee will hold another session this evening.

MME. ALDA SINGS FAREWELL

Her Last Performance of This Season in "Cleopatra's Night."

Mme. Alda took leave of the Metropolitan last evening for the season in Henry Hadley's opera, "Cleopatra's Night," sung for the fourth time, and on this occasion conducted by the composer. Mr. Kingston took the hero's rôle, sung by Harrold at the premiere, and others were the Misses Gordon and Tiffany, Messrs. Picco and d'Angelo.

Following the native novelty—for even Egypt's scenes were done by Mr. Geddes, an American—there was the Russian opera-pantomime, "Le Coq d'Or," for the last time but one this year, with its double cast of singers and dancers, headed by Barrientos and Rosina Galli, the orchestra, led by Bamboschek, and the action designed by the King of the carnival, Adolph Bolm. The audience was a large one.

Carmen Pascova, Soprano, Sings.

Carmen Pascova, an Australian soprano agreeable to see and hear upon the stage, gave a matinee recital yesterday before a musical—and in part an operatic, and enthusiastic—audience at Aeolian Hall. Accompanied by Josephine Hartmann Vollmer at the piano, Miss Pascova sang old Italian airs of Astorga and Salvator Rosa, some translated classics, and later Russian and French. Among a group of current interest were a Maori "Poi Song" by Alfred Hill, and "The Garden" and "Visions" by Howard Barlow, heard for the first time.

Godowsky Plays with Philharmonic.

Leopold Godowsky, the distinguished pianist, made one of his rare reappearances with the Philharmonic Society's orchestra last evening before a sold-out house at Carnegie Hall, a special and popular occasion. Mr. Godowsky was heard in Tschaikowsky's concerto. Rafael Diaz, of the Metropolitan, sang the Flower Song from "Carmen," and Mr. Stransky conducted Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Scheherazade."

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Jane Cowl resumed her role in "Smilin' Through" at the Broadhurst last night. Her illness necessitated the calling off of the Tuesday performance.

The revival of "The Piper" at the Fulton Theatre has been postponed until March 18. Olive Oliver has been added to the cast.

"A Week-End Marriage," a comedy by Owen Davis, will be placed in rehearsal Sunday by the Shuberts.

"The Unwanted One," by Clara Beranger, well known as a writer for the motion pictures, will have its first performance in Hartford tomorrow night. It is expected to come to New York in a few weeks.

"The Ziegfeld Girls of 1920" will be the title of the new revue which Mr. Ziegfeld will present on the New Amsterdam Roof next Monday night.

"Aphrodite" will end its run at the Century on April 3.

The midweek matinee of "The Letter of the Law" at the Criterion will be given on Wednesday hereafter instead of Thursday.

John S. O'Brien is again playing the role of Seward in "Abraham Lincoln" after an absence caused by illness. The role was acted in the interim by John Meehan.

"The Criminologist," a psychological melodrama in one act by Alpheus Lincoln, will soon be offered in vaudeville by Joseph Hart.

MARY PICKFORD WINS DIVORCE IN NEVADA

Motion Picture Actress Obtains Decree from Owen Moore on Ground of Desertion.

WEEPS AS SHE TESTIFIES

Tells Court Her Husband Left Her Several Times, Finally Refusing to Return.

RENO, Nev., March 3.—Mary Pickford, motion picture actress, obtained a divorce from Owen Moore last night at Minden, a small town near Carson City, on grounds of desertion. She had been at the Campbell ranch at Genoa, nearby, since Feb. 15.

Miss Pickford was accompanied to the court room by her mother, Mrs. Smith, and wept freely while testifying. Mr. Moore was not in court. Miss Pickford's family and friends though he was at Minden at lunch on Monday. He was represented by an attorney. Miss Pickford is still at Genoa.

Miss Pickford told the court that Moore had deserted her on several occasions and had only returned in response to her pleas, but that a year ago he left her and had ever since refused to return.

Immediately after obtaining the decree Miss Pickford went back to the ranch, where she had been living. She said she was seeking a quiet place to live and intended to stay near Minden for a long time and to make the State her permanent home.

Moore arrived at Virginia City on Sunday night, with a camera man, saying he intended to take snow pictures for a coming picture, but he could find no hotel accommodations, so he drove down to Minden in a machine and was served with the papers while at luncheon the next day.

The ranch where Miss Pickford is staying is on the outskirts of the deserted town of Genoa, first settled by the Mormons in 1847, but now with scarcely an inhabitant, and she is out of reach of the telephone.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 3.—Mary Pickford, to whom was granted a divorce from Owen Moore at Minden, Nev., on the grounds of desertion, has been separated from Mr. Moore for several years. They have worked in the same studios, but never in the same company, since their separation.

Miss Pickford and her family have always declined to discuss her marital affairs, but because of her religious faith it was a surprise in motion picture circles when word of the decree was received.

Across the Continent with the U. S. Mail

"Neither snow nor rain nor heat nor gloom of night stays these carriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds."

That is the motto of the U. S. Post Office. Can any tribute to aircraft attest its dependability more fully than its adoption for regular mail routes?

The record for the first year was 128,255 air miles covered, 7,720,340 letters carried, or more than enough letters to give every man, woman and child in Greater New York one letter by airplane.

See the new Transcontinental Mail Plane, convertible into a war plane over night; the Aerial Freighter, the 12 passenger Air Liner, the Aerial Pullman, Flying Limousine, Aerial Coupe, the Cabin Cruiser of the sky, the Pony Blimp for private use, the Baby Sport Plane costing no more than a good runabout car and requiring a hangar little larger than your private garage, and many other aircraft.

Let your children observe aviation progress. They belong to the age of flight. Bring them to the show.

HUMILIATION FOR THE TURK.

Every day after breakfast, if we may believe dispatches from London, the Supreme Council gets together and spends a pleasant half-hour humiliating the Turk. His fleet is to be taken away and something is to be done to his army. "Turkey will be "left a mere phantom of her former "self," we are told, with only 6,000,000 people instead of 30,000,000. Who can doubt that Mr. LLOYD GEORGE was right when he said that the terms would be drastic enough to suit anybody?

Well, let us see. Turkey is to be reduced to a phantom, according to this dispatch, by losing everything except Constantinople and Anatolia. Estimates of population in the Ottoman Empire are unreliable, but 30,000,000 seems a very high figure; statistics of some claim to trustworthiness put it at only 22,000,000 in 1914. Of these 9,000,000 were in Constantinople and Anatolia. Whether the Turk is to lose four-fifths of his empire or only three-fifths may seem a petty matter of arithmetic, but it illustrates the mood of the Supreme Council. The world must be convinced that Mr. LLOYD GEORGE and Mr. MILLERAND have really treated the Turk very harshly indeed, have avenged on him the outrages of centuries.

But the Turk stands humiliation well. He goes on murdering Christians, humiliated or not. His army is still able to give the French trouble in Cilicia. And is he to keep all of Anatolia, as this dispatch would imply? If so, somebody has broken a number of promises. But these matters are of no importance, and it would be indelicate to wonder why, if it was so easy to take away four-fifths of the Turkish Empire, it would not have been possible to take away a little more—territory, to be sure, which would not be a profitable sphere of influence for a great Power, but which contains Christians on whom the Turk will take his revenge.

These considerations are beside the point. Mr. LLOYD GEORGE has humiliated the Turk; he says so himself. One wonders if this is precisely the way in which the affair has been represented in India by the somewhat precipitate Mr. MONTAGU. A few days ago cynical persons thought that Mr. MONTAGU had been so hasty about carrying the news to India because he wanted to make it impossible for the Supreme Council to change its decision under popular protest. Now it begins to seem as if he may have been instructed to tell it in India in order to give the Supreme Council an excuse for saying that the protests came too late.

EQUALITY.

If Republican women are manifesting disappointment with the fact that the Republicans picked only one woman as a delegate to the National Convention, while the Democrats divided equally the representation of men and women, then these women leaders display poor judgment. When they asked for suffrage they demanded equal rights. Women were to be equal with men. They were confident then that women could display talents equal to those of men and asked for nothing better than equal terms.

The Republicans have taken them at their word. All they have asked is whether the candidate was fitted to discharge the duties of a delegate in such a way as to reflect credit on a Republican organization of New York, and with nothing but that consideration in mind they have made their choices. One of those chosen happens to be a woman, HELEN VARICK BOSWELL. The credit reflected on Miss BOSWELL and on the women from whom she is chosen is vastly greater than if she had been selected because she was a woman.

The Democrats, on the contrary, have paid no attention to the merit of their delegates. They have elected men as men and women as women. This is a negation of all that suffrage was supposed to stand for. Their affront to women, which women strangely consider a compliment, has gone so far that one of the male delegates at large has actually given up his place so that a woman—any woman—could take it. This is not feminism, not even woman suffrage of the sturdy Alice Stone Blackwell type; it is the sickliest romanticism.

The Republicans have taken the principle of equal rights at its face value. The Democrats have tried to be gallant. Which do the woman suffragists of New York like best? Strange to say, they seem to like the old chivalric attitude best. It is what was predicted of them by their enemies before the advent of suffrage, but their friends denied it. It is reported that the sentiment is so strong that "there is a drift of women "away from the Republican Party in "this State." It is true that this drift is ascribed partly to feminine desire for vengeance against Senator WADSWORTH, and that does show a certain equality with men. In such a case the female of the species is by no means deadlier than the male. But in the other respect the Republican women have by no means lived up to the idealized picture of woman suffrage.

YANKEE BACKSLIDERS.

What artist, what Cruikshank, his "hand with horror winged," shall depict, for the satisfaction of the saints and the reproof of reprobates and backsliders, the contemporary decadence of "the old Puritan stock," its melancholy relapse into its ancient passion for the bottle and the bowl? No longer are the Green Mountains delectable. The Vermont towns had on Tuesday their annual chance to choose between good and evil, to vote against or for liquor license. By what evil possession did they tumble over one another in their zeal for that which profiteth not? It is estimated that 75 per cent. of them have gone wrong and "wet." Burlington and Rutland, St. Albans, staid Montpelier itself, and sundry other cities, long impregnable keeps of prohibition, have opened their gates to the enemy. Many towns that used to be dry went regrettably wet. The towns that used to be wet are wetter than ever. Nowhere, or almost nowhere, is there comfort or hope for prohibition.

In the Massachusetts Bay and Plymouth colonies things and people are as bad or worse, if worse can be. Town after town that has voted against license for years on years forgets its honorable past and blithely buys a ticket on the Black Valley Railroad. Natick of the shoes and HENRY WILSON, beautiful old Dedham, Andover of the academies, Hull, that index of public opinion—"as goes Hull so goes the State"; Brookline, most patrician and plutocratic of towns that scorn to be cities; Barnstable, Bedford, Cohasset and Essex—long, too long, is the list of the erring sisters. Saddest of all is the case of Rockport, a famous citadel of cold water. Rockport, where a sorority of Carrie Nations, a generation before the day of the intrepid Sunflower smiter of Gilded Gehennas, beat down the rumholes with hatchet and axe—Rockport has fallen. A hundred other water towers have fallen. Like Vermont, Massachusetts is gone to the bad.

Deplorable as this New England decline and fall is, it is cheering to reflect that it did not occur until after the Eighteenth Amendment had been almost unanimously ratified. If the moral state of New England is regrettable, at least its manifested thirst comes too late to do it any good.

A REPROACH TO THE COUNTRY.

Government control of the processes of aiding crippled soldiers to earn their bread in competition with men strong and hale has been an egregious and shameful failure. So far the result has been that several thousand clerks, the Vocational Board's office staff, have drawn salaries disproportionately large, and employment has been found for 217 soldiers out of some 200,000 who made applications for training. It is true that 24,000 men have been entered for the course, but the instruction has been mismanaged, although the example of other nations that have had the problem to solve might have been followed with advantage. The American way was to be independent of foreign methods, and to be lost in a maze of red tape and cross-purposes; and yet our Vocational Board had more money to spend and more human material with which to work out the problem.

It does not seem too harsh to say that the desire to make jobs for placemen has been more conspicuous in this case than well-directed effort to do the work of helping the maimed to support themselves and hold their heads up in the world. It may be granted that the intentions of members of the Vocational Board were excellent. But the thing has been done woefully wrong, and thousands of brave soldiers, sensitive about their condition, have been humiliated.

There must have been unsympathetic souls engaged in the duty of relief, men prone to suspect unfortunates of a design to impose upon the board and cheat the Government. Else why the so-called "hard-boiled" order giving subordinates the cue to steel their hearts against possible imposture? There was to be no sentiment in judging cases. Only the eyes and the brain were to judge. If there was any danger of sympathy being stirred, "put cotton in your ears and lock the door" was the injunction. The attitude to be taken was condensed into "Be hard-boiled!" And there was this gem of callousness in the original order: "If you are "naturally sympathetic, work nights "when nobody is there." Gainful employment was found for 217 remnants of fine physical manhood, and the instruction of the 10 per cent., and a little more, of candidates was inadequate and ill-directed. The system of distributing them about the country was, it is now admitted, a mistake. Concentration, whenever practicable, would have been the better policy. Mr. USL W. LAMKIN, chief of the division of rehabilitation, who called in the "hard-boiled" order and toned it down a bit with a proper sense of its offensiveness, once explained a palpable case of failure on the part of the board by saying that "some one must have fallen down." It is to be feared that falling down was the rule and not the exception, judging from the record.

Owing largely to the intervention of The Evening Post, which has done a public service in exposing incompetency, Congress has at last been aroused to action. The Committee on Education is to investigate what has been both a misconception and a misdirection of the offices of humanity, to put the matter charitably, and it is to recommend the needed regulation. The crippled soldier has not always, indeed seldom, had a fair chance to put his case before the board, for he has been a victim of the "burden of proof," and the training, when it has not been wrong, has infrequently had the result intended. The Board of Vocational Education could be made to function right, and Congress must see to it that in future there is no ground for complaint, and that the problem of aiding the wounded soldier is really solved.

HELPING GERMANY.

A few months ago it was proposed that Germany should be economically boycotted as a means of increasing its military punishment. Now the Supreme Council is considering economic assistance to Germany, in kindness to the Allies more than in tenderness for Germany, we hope. Hate is a more difficult policy for the Allies than for Germany, and there is much danger that Germany may escape something of what it ought to suffer. There should be no sentiment in deciding whether Germany should receive a loan of cash or goods in order to enable it to endure its sentence to hard labor and discharge the obligations it has assumed to pay for some part of the damage it has done. Business considerations should control, not political nor sentimental. The assistance should be given only on terms regarding reparation, and on satisfactory security.

Even a criminal is entitled to hear his sentence, and to begin to serve his term so that he may count on his release. There never will be a better time to fix the terms of Germany's sentence than now, when it is asking favors. The question of security is difficult, but not beyond solution. The war debt of Germany makes its Government securities nearly worthless, and the reparation securities must take precedence of the war debt. But there ought to be no difficulty about making the advance of materials a lien on the goods made from the materials.

France has a right to be restored and sustained as well as Germany, or rather more so, and the aid given to Germany might be restricted in some degree to use in reconstructing the regions Germany ravaged, to which work and duty Germany has already bound itself. The support of German workers on this undertaking is aid to both Germany and her victims. The suggestion comes from British sources, and that gives an opening to suggest that England might set the example of helping Germany to help itself by restoring to German commerce some of the shipping taken from Germany. There is a constantly increasing supply of shipping, and England and the allied nations might profit more by selling existing shipping to a necessitous buyer than by using the deteriorated vessels in trade. England's suggestion ought to be more acceptable to the neutrals than to the belligerents. The neutrals have borne the least share of the war's burdens, and have profited disproportionately by the war. They are further enriching themselves now by regular and irregular trade with Germany and with other nations on Germany's account. This advantage will grow with Germany's recovery from prostration. If the neutrals do not lead the way, they are blind to their own interests and should be persuaded to do their duty, if others are to do theirs.

THE SEATTLE ELECTION.

The first American general strike was called in the City of Seattle in February, 1919. Some 30,000 members of 110 unions went on a sympathetic strike, ostensibly for the purpose of showing their sympathy with and forcing the settlement of the strike of 25,000 shipyard workers, protesting against the award of an arbitrator. As a matter of fact, the strike was revolutionary in its purpose and intention. The Federation of Labor unions had largely fallen into the hands of radicals from Russia and of I. W. W.'s. The revolutionary element controlled a large number of the unions and the Central Labor Council composed of the heads of the unions. A Soviet government was the aim behind the strike. As OLE HANSON, the Mayor who squelched this strike, said, "the sympathetic "revolution was called in the exact "manner as was the revolution in "Petrograd." Practically every industry was stopped. The syndicalists and the anarchists in charge of the strike were good enough to except certain necessaries—lighting, water, and so on. The city government refused to accept any exemptions. It insisted on maintaining law and order. Mr. HANSON organized a force of 1,000 extra policemen, armed them with rifles and shotguns, and "told them "to shoot on sight any one causing "disorder."

So the attempted revolution ceased to revolve, really lasted only two days, though technically it lasted five. The following March Seattle showed what it thought of Soviet aspirations by re-electing three Councilmen over candidates approved by the radical labor leaders. HUGH M. CALDWELL, sometime a Major in the A. E. F., was elected Mayor last Tuesday by a majority of nearly 17,000 votes over JAMES DUNCAN, Secretary of the Seattle Central Labor Council, leader of last year's communist-anarchist, dictatorship-of-the-proletariat adventure. Major CALDWELL'S majority is the greatest ever given to a candidate for Mayor of Seattle. There, in what seemed a hotbed and experiment station of revolutionary violence and class government a little more than a year ago, the forces of conservatism and Americanism are too strong and victorious to be challenged again by their enemies, by dangerous aliens or the partisans of dangerous alien theories.

What is true of Seattle is true of every other American community, of the whole United States. The Massachusetts election was a faithful indicator of sentiment in all parts of the country. In France and England, likewise, this reaction against the Russian gospel and its propaganda and apostles in other countries is apparent; and nowhere more apparent than among the members of trade unions, sometimes misled and too often misrepresented by wild-flaming chiefs who mistake violence for energy.

THE COLLEGE AS A FOOL KILLER.

It is possible that in declaring colleges to be among "the greatest fool killers in the country" Mr. J. OGDEN ARMOUR overestimates their prowess. "If a man is incurably a fool," he says, "a college education renders "him considerably less objection-"able." But Mr. ARMOUR has obviously in mind only one of the many species of fatuity. His comparison is between "the fool who obtains his education "amid the white lights and the man "who gets the white lights mixed up "with a little collegiate life." It is a case of the "Broadway sport" against the "college sport," and unquestionably there is something to be said for the aureate manners acquired on the Gold Coast. But not all moon-calves are gilded. Mr. ARMOUR seems to have mislaid the old saw as to the clever fool.

Only the other day Mr. JOHN HAYS HAMMOND, likewise speaking at New Haven, said: "Today ambition, thor-"oughness and earnestness are bad "form among undergraduates." The man who takes life and learning seriously is "an amusing fellow." Too true. But why "today"? From that early time when the undergraduate body was about evenly divided between red Indians and white, the "poler" or "grind" has been the butt of scorn and derision. Yet the number of these laughing-stocks has increased out of all proportion to the number of gilded moon-calves, and it is still increasing. No place is more serious, by and large, than a university. Only the old graduate at commencement thinks of college life as a purely festal occasion. But the prejudices of the hail-fellow minority continue unabated. The result is that at all of the larger colleges there is a large number of the intelligentsia who pass their four undergraduate years virtually untouched by the generally salutary, if often extravagant and erring, standards of what is known as "college life."

Individualists to begin with, these "outsiders" accentuate their bias, meeting social scorn with the scorn intellectual and prizing as their peculiar and priceless distinction an unflinching adherence to any and all cults of preciosity and radicalism. Few organizations are as flourishing as that of the Socialist college graduates, and the only influence that is making their shadow grow less is a tendency to secede and seek further laurels as parlor Bolsheviki. In their case the university, far from acting as fool killer, has only bred "bats in the belfry." Mr. HAMMOND was calling for an increased influence of men who have won success in the practical outside world. "I should put a man "who has made his mark at the head "of an institution, rather than a "scholar." But, unless he is alluding to the manner in which practical men have been known to inscribe their signatures, is not a "scholar" also a man who has made his mark?

The pressing needs of the universities are two. One is a more thoroughly digested social life, in which men of all kinds are thrown naturally together in their daily living, in athletics and in college clubs. President WILSON at Princeton made a revolutionary attempt at this, and now President LOWELL at Harvard is developing a well-considered plan for a like purpose. The other need is for an equally well-organized intellectual life, in which all able men are encouraged to meet and vie with one another in the contests of scholarship. The most important step in this direction is probably the "honors system" lately devised at Columbia, according to which each student will meet others of his specialty under a distinguished professor of the subject and proceed to the "honor degree" through intimate acquaintance with the best books and the best available men in the field. Only by a thorough organization of its life, both social and intellectual, and by making the two interpenetrate and blend, can the college become really efficient as a fool killer.

JERRY M'AULEY'S WORK.

The trustees of the Jerry McAuley Mission have done well in deciding to carry, on the work begun so many years ago by "the toughest man in New York." For almost two generations MCAULEY carried on the work himself. After his death it was still carried on with a certain lack of faith in the ability of other men to do what he had done. Finally the question came up squarely whether it should be abandoned, and the men left in charge—no McAuleys, not with a spark of his genius, but plain and practical—decided to keep it up.

The work that has to be carried on in the McAuley Mission is what it was when JERRY was alive. There is the same need of effort to reclaim and save men along the waterfront, and earnest men even without the McAuley personality are capable of doing it. The McAuley Mission shines like a lighthouse where many cargoes come ashore. It should continue to shine.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

This Defeat Really a Triumph.

Always, up to very recently, the failure of a strike, whether the strike was one of many men or only a few, has been counted, and for that matter has been, a failure of "labor"—a defeat of its purposes and a humiliation of its organization. Of late, however, there have been several strikes the failure of which has been a triumph of "labor" and a defeat and humiliation only for leaders or agitators whose claims to represent and speak for "labor" were repudiated by those whom they had hoped to control.

A really notable instance of a strike that failed and yet is a victory for those in whose name it was brought is that of the French railway employés. This movement, if successful, would have worked almost immeasurable injury to the country, as would the suspension of railway traffic for a few weeks in any country that has advanced beyond the exclusively agricultural or pastoral stage. It broke down completely, however, before it had much more than begun, and all the close observers of it agree that this sudden termination was far less due to the vigorous measures which the French Government was empowered and ready to take than to the refusal of French "labor" to support the ambitious plans of the men who were seeking to revolutionize the French social and economic system, and to improve the condition of the French workers only if it would be an improvement to subject them to a form of despotism like the one that has succeeded Czarism in Russia.

For such a revolution and for such an improvement the working folk of France are evidently far from ready—so far that with characteristic good sense they proceeded to "break" the railway strike themselves either by remaining at work, as a good half of them did, or by returning to it in defiance of their Socialist leaders as soon as they realised the object of the undertaking.

Cold to Class Appeals.

Reassurance can be felt outside of France, as well as in it, as a result of what has happened there. French labor is not different from labor elsewhere—out of Russia. It shares the discontents and the ambitions for higher rewards and more power that exist in labor circles throughout the world, but manifestly it has and uses judgment in selecting the means to which it will resort in the attainment of its ends, and as clearly it does not accept the name of "proletarian" any more than the status; and the yearning for a rule properly to be called proletarian is confined to a minority that makes much noise but is no longer able to lead or manipulate the workers as a separate class with separate interests.

Here, too, recently, certain strikes have been broken by labor or so feebly supported by it that the originators abandoned them as hopeless. In every such case the result was due, as in France, to appreciation on the part of labor that it was not a class, but a part of the general public. To have a trial of strength with a single employer is one thing, but it is quite another to threaten with intolerable deprivations all or a great majority of a country's inhabitants. Only in a Russia can a whole people be coerced by a single group.

A Pacifist Pays the Penalty.

That variously eminent person who is best known as NORMAN ANGELL has a real grievance in the treatment which he received from the Cambridge undergraduates when he endeavored to express before them his opinion of things in general and of wars in particular. The young men were under no sort of compulsion to listen to a pacifist if they did not choose, but, having gone to the place where he had been invited or permitted by somebody in authority to speak, they were under an obligation to give him a courteous, if not necessarily a respectful, hearing. Instead, they hooted and yelled at him, sang derisive songs, and finally would have ducked him in the famous university's almost more famous river if the police, after a hard battle, had not rescued him.

All this was distinctly reprehensible—not quite as reprehensible, of course, as much that Mr. ANGELL has said and written since the war began, but still sufficiently so to deserve condemnation of some severity.

Yet how easy to understand is the vivacity of the undergraduate antagonism, and how hard to be as angry with it as their misbehavior demands! If they escape the reproof of all whom Mr. ANGELL'S books have tempted toward like transgressions—who are told by conscience that they are innocent only from lack of opportunity and a convenient river—the boys are not likely to regret their sin anything like as bitterly as they should.

SOLDIERS' BONUSES.

Canada as an Example for Us—Disabled Come First.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In the last part of your editorial article on "Billions for Bonuses" you state in substance that there are a great number of us veterans who do not need and would not accept this bonus. Any one who makes a statement like this does not appreciate the sacrifice of at least a million of us in view of the tremendous rise in the cost of living. We left for war when a dollar had its intrinsic purchasing power, and were discharged with a shameful $60 bonus when the dollar depreciated to less than one-half its original value. While some of our patriotic Americans were amassing war fortunes and others were doubling and trebling their former incomes as a direct result of the war, we veterans were sacrificing our all. We weren't putting away nice sums to meet an exigency like the present cost of living.

In simple and gospel truth terms, we were discharged in the "race of life" with a handicap. No matter how fast many of us ex-service men can run in this race of life, we will never catch up with the patriotic stay-behind and slacker because Uncle Sam handicapped us with a $60 pittance.

The only way the great mass of Americans can display true patriotic gratitude to the ex-service man and give him a chance to run life's race equally is cheerfully to subscribe to the bonus bond. We veterans are not demanding something that the American people cannot offer. This may entail a burden, as you state in your article, but then weren't we ready to suffer greater hardship when we went to the battlefield? One good turn deserves another. The Canadian people showed their good turn by granting the Canadian ex-service man a liberal bonus. Surely the American people can live up to this golden maxim. JACK B. GOLDSMITH.

New York, Feb. 28, 1920.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In your edition of Feb. 27 I read of the intention of Congress to float a loan for the benefit of all ex-service men.

Would it not be wiser to show our gratitude first by caring for those men who, as a result of service, are not, and doubtless never will be, able to look out for themselves? Why not see one job to a successful conclusion instead of leaving it in the awful state of neglect and mismanagement in which it now is?

If put to a vote, I am sure that our entire civil population, as well as ex-service men, would prefer to see that $2,000,000,000, or any like amount, devoted to the necessary medical attention, vocational guidance and temporary, or if need be permanent, support of our wounded. Then let us consider the remainder of those more fortunate.

All this in spite of the fact that I am the wife of an able-bodied ex-service man who would benefit to the extent of $900 by the passage of this bill.

Australia Has Independence.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Dr. Albert Shaw, editor of The Review of Reviews, addressing the Republican Club on Saturday last, was, according to the report in Sunday's issue of THE TIMES, asked if he believed the British Government would be "willing finally to grant complete independence" to the British Dominions. He replied: "British statesmen had frequently stated that Canada, South Africa, Australia and New Zealand could receive independence any time they demanded it."

Evidently the position in regard to Australia is not clearly understood, as Australia has independence of political action under her Constitution, which was framed by Australian statesmen, approved by the Australian people and passed by the British Parliament and assented to by the King as far back as 1900.

Under her Constitution Australia controls her naval and military forces, her customs tariff, her currency and coinage, taxation, naturalization, immigration and all her internal affairs. She does not pay any tax or tribute to Great Britain. As an example of the independence of action Australia enjoys under her Constitution may be quoted her navigation and immigration acts.

Commissioner for Australia.

Rejected Cabinet Secretaries.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In reference to the statement which appeared in THE NEW YORK TIMES of Feb. 26 that never in our history, so far as could be learned, has the Senate rejected a nominee of the President for a Cabinet position, permit me to quote the following from the "Encyclopedia Britannica (Eleventh edition, Page 857 of Vol. XII.):

"In August, 1868, President Johnson suspended Secretary Stanton and appointed Grant Secretary of War ad interim until the pleasure of the Senate should be ascertained. Grant accepted the appointment under protest and held it until the following January, when the Senate refused to concur in the "Encyclopedia Britannica." (Elev-Stanton resumed his office."

THE VANISHED EARS.

Where are the ears of yesterday
Which soft locks used to frame,
To which the poet sang his lay,
The lover breathed his flame?
Now flapping pads of hair conceal,
Imprison and suppress
A feature which was once revealed
In all its loveliness.

Why is the modest little ear
Thus cheated of its due,
While, mountain-like, bold spines uprear
Their vertebrae to view?
And ankles, once so coyly hid
From idle passerby,
Now flaunt their trimness unforbid
To every heedless eye?

Have those keen brains that yesterday
This port of entry knew
Become too weak to hear and weigh
The views that might pass through?
If ears are made for hearing, dears,
It's cruel and obtuse
To hide them with what interferes
With their intended use.

No Hebe ever thus defaced
Her charms to follow fads,
Or sculptor ever dared disgrace
A Venus with such pads.
The vanished years of yesterday
Our hearts can never know,
But, oh! the ears of yesterday
Let style again bestow!

HARLOWE DRAWING, $135.

"The Three Sisters" Brings Top Price at Goldstein Collection Sale.

"The Three Sisters," a charming water-color drawing by George Henry Harlowe, brought the highest price at the sale of the big collection of original drawings of Dr. MAX A. Goldstein, President of the St. Louis Art League, at the American Art Galleries last evening, going to Seligsberg for $135. It was a charmingly characteristic work of the artists from the old Duke of Cambridge collection.

An elaborate pen and wash drawing by Fragonard, "Ruins," went to John Quinn for $85; Miss Ruth Teschner paid $100 for a gray wash drawing, a "Dutch Landscape," by John Van Goyen; the charming "Head of a Child," by Greuze, in black and white and sanguine, from the R. T. Porter collection of Berkenham, Kent, England, went to Otto Meyer for $85, and Joseph Laroque paid $85 for a "Portrait of Prince Albert," a charcoal drawing with colored chalks, by Sir George Hayter, of the Royal Academy.

Returns were $5,513. The sale will be continued this evening.

AGAINST ALIEN PRESS BILL.

Counsel Says Senate Measure Would Annihilate Foreign Papers Here.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Passage of the Senate bill to bar foreign language newspapers from second-class mailing privileges would result in the almost complete annihilation of the foreign language press, it is declared, in a brief submitted today to the members of the Senate Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads.

The brief in opposition to the measure was drawn up by Louis Marshall of New York for the Interracial Council and the American Association of Foreign Language Newspapers. It questions the constitutionality of the measure and states that were Congress vested with the power to exclude the foreign-language newspapers from second-class privileges sound public policy would dictate the non-exertion of such power.

The "proposed discrimination," it adds, would deprive the country of the most natural and most effective agency for spreading Americanism among the foreign born, many of whom cannot speak English and are dependent on foreign-language papers for such information they obtain as to the Government and general subjects.

Approximately 1,500 newspapers and magazines printed in virtually every foreign language, with a circulation aggregating 8,000,000, are affected by the proposed legislation.

Less than one-fifth are German newspapers, and, according to Mr. Marshall, "not more than 4 per cent. of these publications are Socialist, Communist or I. W. W., probably not more than 1 per cent. being Communistic or I. W. W."

The fact that a small percentage of these papers are Communistic in their tendencies—a much smaller percentage than those published in English—does not justify a repressive measure with respect to the 99 per cent. that do not entertain Communistic beliefs, it is argued.

DELAYS ACTION ON COLBY.

Senate Committee Will Consider Nomination on Friday.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Action on President Wilson's nomination of Bainbridge Colby to be Secretary of State was deferred by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today, after a discussion in which some members are said to have insisted that his qualifications be given careful consideration before confirmation was recommended.

It was said that neither the Democratic nor the Republican Senators at the meeting showed any disposition to urge quick confirmation, and it was agreed unanimously to let the subject go over until the next meeting on Friday. There were suggestions that the committee might name a sub-committee to consider the nomination, or might report it to the Senate without recommendation.

BELGIAN WOMEN NEAR VOTE.

Chamber Passes Measure for Franchise in Communal Elections.

LONDON, March 3. — The Belgian Chamber of Deputies has voted in favor of votes for women 21 years of age, as well as men, in communal elections, says the Brussels correspondent of The London Times.

All the Catholic members voted for the measure and all the Liberals, except Paul Hymans, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Burgomaster Max against it, while the Socialists were divided between their general principle of equality and fear of religious influence.

The Liberals considered that women are not yet ready for the vote. An amendment offered by Burgomaster Max excluding women of "notorious misconduct" was adopted.

In view of the fact that voting at elections is compulsory, the presence of only one woman in the public gallery during the debate would seem to indicate little interest by women in the question.

HOSPITALS SEEK $712,000.

New York Society Wants $100,000 for Current Deficit.

The Society of the New York Hospital, 8 West Sixteenth Street, announced yesterday the start of a campaign to raise $712,000, of which about $100,000 is needed to meet a current deficit. The society operates the New York Hospital, Bloomingdale Hospital and the Campbell Cottages for Convalescent Children at White Plains.

"The Society of the New York Hospital," said Edward W. Sheldon, its President, yesterday, "has treated nearly 1,800,000 patients since it was started and 70 per cent. of them have been cared for free of charge."

The Board of Governors of the society includes Hermann H. Camman, Henry W. de Forest, Bronson Winthrop, Cornelius N. Bliss, Jr.; Arthur Iselin, Payne Whitney, R. Horace Gallatin, Lewis Case Ledyard, Jr., and Joseph H. Choate, Jr. Contributions should be addressed to Paul Tuckerman, Treasurer, at the New York Hospital, 8 West Sixteenth Street.

HUNGER HALTS WILD GEESE.

Large Numbers Hover Over Great South Bay Seeking Food.

PATCHOGUE, March 3.—Large numbers of famished wild geese have been flocking for several days over and upon the thick ice of the Great South Bay, all along the south shore of Long Island, especially opposite Patchogue, Blue Point, Bellport, Brookhaven and Bayport. The birds are on their way north and are dazed to find their feeding ground en route covered with ice two to three feet thick where hitherto at this season of the year the bay has been free.

The birds hover around the open water holes made along the shore by the rise and fall of the tides and manage to find shellfish and grasses. From all indications the heavy ice will not break up until the middle of April, if then, which is unusual. The geese will be unable to continue their flight northward unless they get sufficient strengthening food for the journey. The baymen are giving them some food.

GEDDES AN ATHLETE IN BODY AND MIND

Britain's New Ambassador to America Is 6 Feet 2½ and Broad Shouldered.

QUICK TO SOLVE PROBLEMS

Keenly Interested in Business Development and Responsible for British Trade Policy.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 3—A man head and shoulders above his fellows—to be exact, 6 feet 2½ inches—with the shoulders of a Hercules, Sir Auckland Geddes, Great Britain's new Ambassador to the United States, is like some gigantic athlete who has taken to his books, says A. P. Nicholson in The Daily Chronicle. Something too much has been made of his professorial manner. One would rather say that his outward manner is grave and courtly, like Mr. Balfour's; but his face is sometimes illumined by an unexpected and charming smile. He has a big head and fine brow and beneath it a keen and rugged face, clean-shaven.

Sir Auckland is reputed in the inner councils to be one of the best three or four brains in this country. He is intellectually patient, even when he knows himself to be master of a subject.

How does his mind work? You can trace in the working the effect of his long and severe laboratory training, and analytical processes are extraordinarily strong with him. Whenever he tackles a new situation—and he had many during the war and its aftermath—he goes at it as though it were a scientific problem which had to be analyzed in every possible way. That is the groundwork. Then comes a constructive flash, which always comes quickly, and which rushes into his mind. He rises up from study of the situation knowing then how to deal with it in all its details. The whole of the administrative machinery required is at once designed in his mind. What took time was the preliminary analysis.

Undisturbed by Criticism.

It is this capacity for intellectual mastery, perhaps, which leaves Sir Auckland easy and apparently undisturbed by violent criticism. When he knows it to be false it does not appreciably gall him. "Time will show," one can hear him murmur.

In the little intense world of fierce politics and journalism he has been assailed since he went to the Board of Trade as if he himself had produced the economic effects of the great war. Every pulpiteer demands an immediate and drastic bill to cure the earthquake. Sir Auckland knows the cure must be slow for this particular earthquake, and he has bent himself to devise sure remedies about which he prefers to say as little as possible. "Time will show."

One aspect of the knowledge Sir Auckland gained in administration is particularly worth knowing, now that he is Ambassador to Washington. He is keenly interested in training and development in business life and in development of international co-operation in business. There is a study of him in Mr. Vanderlip's book.

With it all Sir Auckland is very human—a side he has not yet shown much in our public life. On the athletic side he got his university blue at Rugby football and is a fine swimmer still. He always has been ready to mix freely in social life, but domestic simplicity is the keynote of his private life. He delights in the society of children and young people. He has five youngsters of his own—four boys and a girl.

Lady Geddes Hospitable.

Lady Geddes, who is Irish, her husband being a Scot, is extraordinarily hospitable. Both have lived on the other side of the Atlantic.

It is on the serious side that we would touch in taking leave of Sir Auckland, for his departure, though a gain to us across the water, is a loss here. He got a firm grasp of things during the war. Having first rejected an award for gallant and distinguished service, afterward he was responsible for the policy followed in our demobilization and its coordination with the re-establishment of industry.

On Sir Auckland's subsequent report on the state of trade and employment, undertaken at the request of the Prime Minister, was based the transitory trade policy of our country up to last Summer. He completely reorganized the Board of Trade and the coal mines department, and from June last year was responsible for the latter, having to shoulder many points in coal policy determined before then. Only within the last few weeks has it been found possible to give public effect to the policy which he inaugurated. These facts are not all known.

Now that the good work he has done in relation to our trade and commerce is beginning to be reflected in the prosperous state of trade, our country finds itself in the clear and unswerving policy he adopted from the outset. In a nutshell, it was to free trade from control, to assist industries in their turnover from war to peace work, to encourage export on the largest possible scale, and to impress upon manufacturers the urgent necessity for developing overseas markets.

CITY MILK PLANT OPPOSED.

Dairymen and Distributors Declare It Would Drive Out Private Firms.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 3.—Opposition to the legislative proposal to give New York City the right to operate its own milk pasteurization plants was expressed this afternoon before the Senate Agricultural Committee by dairymen and milk distributors, who declared such a plan would, in time, compel private firms to go out of business. They objected further on the ground that milk distributors, as taxpayers, would be called upon to support a competitive undertaking.

Royal S. Copeland, Health Commissioner for New York City, was the only speaker in favor of the measure, which was introduced for him by Senator George F. Thompson of Niagara. He declared the main purpose of the bill was to give the city an instrument to fight malnutrition of millions of poor children.

Samuel Bosford of Buffalo declared malnutrition "in many instances is due to ignorance or laziness on the part of parents and not to the cost of food." He insisted that political scandal would be sure to follow control of the industry by the city.

G. W. Alger, representing the milk conference of New York City, said milk prices there were fair, the principal item of cost in the distribution of milk was delivery service he said, and as long as New York City residents wanted milk delivered they must pay for it.

Sophie Irene Loeb, member of the Milk Commission, spoke in favor of the bill.

It is believed this bill will be defeated, though Governor Smith has insisted that some remedial milk legislation must be passed.

The committee also gave a hearing on the Statewide bill introduced by Senator Thompson which would create a commission to regulate and control the mil

BLOMMERS, PAINTER, MARRIES HIS PUPIL

Son of Famous Dutch Artist Weds Miss Vivian Shaw Kennedy at the St. Regis.

MRS. L. W. NELSON WEDS

Marries Henry J. Pearce, Philadelphia Steel Manufacturer—Nuptial of Miss Fischer and R. G. Clarke.

The marriage of Bart Blommers, a landscape painter, and a son of the Dutch painter, Bernardus Johannas Blommers of The Hague, Holland, who was sent by the Netherlands Government to this country to paint a portrait of Andrew Carnegie for the Peace Palace at The Hague, and Miss Vivian Shaw Kennedy, a daughter of Mrs. John Gosta Bergquist of Glen Head, L. I., by a former marriage, took place yesterday afternoon in a private suite at the St. Regis, the Rev. Dr. Oliver Paul Barnhill of the Marble Collegiate Church officiating.

The bride's sister, Mrs. William A. Prime, Jr., of Woodmere, L. I., was the matron of honor and Edward G. O'Reilly of the Plaza was the best man. Mrs. Blommers is of English descent and her brother, Vernon Shaw Kennedy of Chicago, was gazetted for bravery in the English Army in Flanders and commissioned a Captain of the London Guards. In the Summers of 1916 and 1917 she was a pupil of Mr. Blommers in Lenox, and is well known in the Berkshires, where she was a guest of Manice Pollock.

Mr. and Mrs. Blommers will sail at an early date for England and will spend some time in Holland.

Pearce-Nelson.

Henry G. Pearce of the Standard Steel Works, Philadelphia, and a son of the late Alfred Pearce of that city and of Mrs. Ellis Hampton of Buenos Aires, Argentina, and Mrs. Leita Wheeler Nelson of Philadelphia, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Henry Wheeler of 214 West Seventy-second Street, this city, were married at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Dewart, the Apthorp Apartments.

The bride wore a blue chiffon frock and lace hat and carried gardenias and lilies of the valley. Her niece, Miss Mary Dewart, was the flower girl. William Pugh was the best man. The Rev. Oliver Paul Barnhill, assistant pastor of the Marble Collegiate Church, performed the ceremony. After a honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs. Pearce will live in Wynnewood, just outside of Philadelphia. The wedding was a very small one, the bride's only child, Miss Leita Nelson, aged 18, being one of the guests.

Mr. Pearce is a University of Pennsylvania graduate, class of 1909, and is a crack cricketer, representing the United States in cricket in Australia and England. He went over with the A. E. F. and was Captain in the Engineers Corps during the war. Mrs. Pearce obtained a divorce from her first husband, Captain Charles Preston Nelson, commander of submarine chasers in the United States Navy, and known as "Daredevil" Nelson. She married him when he was a Lieutenant in 1905 and her divorce was obtained Dec. 15 last.

Clarke—Fischer.

The wedding of Robert Gilkes Clarke and Miss Dorothy Ruth Fischer, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fischer of the Apthorp Apartments, took place last evening in St. James's Lutheran Church, Seventy-third Street and Madison Avenue, the Rev. Dr. J. B. Remensnyder officiating, and a reception for 200 guests followed at the St. Regis.

Miss Fischer walked with her father and had her sister, Mrs. Malcolm J. Edgerton, as her matron of honor and Miss Ada G. Titus as maid of honor. The bride's two nieces, the Misses Anna and Phoebe Fischer, were the flower girls. Mr. Clarke's best man was John M. Plane and Malcolm J. Edgerton, Walter S. Fischer, Sayre Pickering, Adam A. Stutcliffe, Alexander C. Robeson and C. Taylor Tapson were the ushers.

On their return from their honeymoon in the South Mr. and Mrs. Clarke will make their home in New York.

Moss—Goldberg.

The marriage of Lawrence Moss of this city and Miss Ruth Goldberg, a daughter of Mrs. Jennie Goldberg of 206 West Ninety-second Street, took place last evening at the bride's home, Rabbi Solomon Foster of Newark performing the ceremony. The bride is a niece of City Planning Commissioner Moses of Scranton, Pa., who gave her in marriage. Miss Gladys Woolner, daughter of Food Commissioner Mrs. Samuel Woolner, Jr., of Peoria, Ill., was the maid of honor and her only attendant, and Sylvan Asch of this city was the best man.

Miss Dorothy F. Heywood Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Heywood of 324 West 103d Street announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Frances Heywood, to Ferdinand Meyer, a son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Meyer of Roland Park, Baltimore, Md. Mr. Meyer is a student at Johns Hopkins, from which he will be graduated next June.

Matthews-Conlon Engagement.

Thomas A. Matthews of Troy, N. Y., announces the engagement of his daughter, Miss Ida Frances Matthews, of 160 Dean Street, Brooklyn, to Gaynor Clement Conlon, a son of Mrs. Elizabeth Conlon of 191 Park Place, Brooklyn.

JAPAN OUR FRIEND, AMBASSADOR SAYS

Shantung Controversy, Shidehara Declares, Cannot Disturb Relations with America.

PROMISES JUSTICE TO CHINA

Denies Any Intention to Interfere with Territorial Integrity or the Open Door.

K. Shidehara, the new Japanese Ambassador to the United States, speaking last night at a dinner in his honor at the Hotel Astor given by the Japan Society, declared that Japan in the Shantung problem would go forward "unswervingly along the pathway which, she believes, leads to international peace and stability."

"The Shantung question," he said, "can never be a source of difficulties between the United States and Japan. We have enough common sense and clear vision to perceive the sheer madness of any attempt at aggression or economic monopolization in China."

Ambassador Shidehara was introduced by Elbert H. Gary, who presided at the dinner. "Some time," Judge Gary said, "I hope he will be a real Ambassador, having been received at the White House in some form or another." Judge Gary declared that Japan had never broken a promise and that history would show that her motives in the Shantung problem were unselfish.

"I see every sign of a firm and enduring friendship," Ambassador Shidehara said. "We are neighbors, and yet divided by a substantial barrier which effectually prevents frontier incidents. It is not possible to imagine any question on which our interests seriously clash.

Promises Justice to China.

"You maintain that China should be treated with justice. I tell you that we are as anxious as you are to see to absolute justice being accorded to her. You maintain that the territorial integrity of China and the principle of the open door should be respected. I assure you that no nation can be more deeply interested than we are in the preservation of those principles consecrated by repeated treaties and arrangements.

"We attempt no economic monopolization in China. We only expect that we shall not be denied the chance for our natural expansion in the field of commerce and industry. Every nation is expanding and is seeking to expand commercially and industrially, and Japan claims what other nations equally claim. We are not afraid of foreign competition in the Chinese market, if only we are assured of fair and equal opportunity. At the same time, we gladly welcome the co-operation of various nations in such economic activities, in the interest of all parties alike, including China herself.

"Nor can the Shantung question be a source of difficulties between the United States and Japan. Immediately upon the coming into force of the Treaty of Versailles, Japan communicated to the Government of Peking her readiness to enter into negotiations for the completion of necessary arrangements respecting the restitution of Klau-Chau, in fulfillment of her pledged word to China and to the world.

"She further declared that, without waiting the conclusion of those negotiations, she would proceed to the withdrawal of the Japanese military guard now stationed along the Shantung Railway as soon as China shall have organized an adequate police force to take over the protection of the railway, which is to be made a joint Chino-Japanese enterprise.

"Two alternative courses are now open for China, to take—either to effect an early settlement of the Shantung question, or to leave the question unadjusted and pending an indefinite length of time. It remains for Chinese statesmen to decide which of these two courses would better serve the true interests of their country and the world. In any case, Japan knows her responsibility to China and to civilization.

"It would be borne in mind that Japan has in China a special position which is not shared by the United States or by any of the European powers. Her future destiny is closely interwoven with that of China, and her own national safety and vital interests are in many cases directly involved in Chinese problems, which America and Europe can not afford to approach from purely sentimental or economic points of view.

"I feel sure, however, that this special position of Japan is fully realized by her American and European friends and that she will not be called upon to renounce her undoubted right of self-protection and self-preservation.

"It has often been suggested that the immigration question might prove to be a source of complications between the United States and Japan. There is, however, nothing at present to warrant such apprehension. The so-called gentlemen's agreement regulating that question has operated to the mutual satisfaction of both countries, and the Japanese Government have been exercising control over the emigration of laborers with such rigor and determination, that I have personally incurred the displeasure of many of my American friends, who have not been permitted to take their Japanese servants from Japan to the United States.

"It is chiefly with regard to the treatment of Japanese immigrants lawfully admitted to this country that questions have occasionally been presented and are likely to arise. I am, however, confident that those questions will be satisfactorily adjusted on the basis of just and humane principles, and in a manner worthy of the best traditions of our mutual relationship."

Refers to Troublemakers.

Ambassador Shidehara declared that there were persons "who for their own crooked ends made it their business to create dissension and estrangement among nations. There are people," he said, "who, knowingly, or unknowingly, make it their habit to view the conduct of foreign nations through stained glasses of prejudice and mistrust. Those men have been circulating stories which testify to their wonderful power of invention or imagination, and the general public likes to be entertained with news which is exciting, startling and amusing, whether true or false.

"Every nation is liable to make mistakes, but when a keen and concentrated attention is devoted to the discovery, the exaggeration and the eager display of shortcomings, the result is the production of a false impression which is nothing less than deplorable in its consequences. Whatever faults we may have—and, if we believe in progress we must believe that we all have much to amend—a friendly eye would view them with patience and hope. I venture, then, to bespeak and predict a generous temper among the nations; and, in particular, an especial degree of cordial relations between the Pacific powers."

Adjt. Gen. Charles H. Sherrill, who has recently returned from a visit to the Far East, said that Japan was the only bulwark against the spread of Bolshevism outward from Siberia.

"I believe," he said, "it would be a fine thing for international law and order if Japan should be encouraged to occupy Eastern Siberia and there set up such a dam against the outflow of lawlessness as would be afforded by her excellently functioning Government, which is today assuring prosperity, liberty and the right to the pursuit of happiness to her millions of industrious and frugal citizens."

Dr. Henry van Dyke declared that to understand Japan it was necessary to understand the Japanese people. "It is not necessary for a Japanese to become an American or an American to become a Japanese," Dr. van Dyke said. "What is needed is a mutual understanding."

Frank A. Vanderlip was introduced as the new President of the Japan Society. In a brief address he said that he was going to Japan on April 10, with others who had been invited to discuss unofficially international affairs. Mr. Vanderlip declared that it was the duty of every citizen to have a clear understanding of world affairs, and added that a better understanding between this country and Japan would help to make for a better world.

About 1,200 men and women attended the dinner. Before the formal speeches the Secretary of the society, Mr. Wood, read a report on the objects of the organization and its work during the year past.

MRS. MEREDITH GIVES WASHINGTON FLURRY

Wife of New Secretary Upsets Tradition by Changing Day of Cabinet Reception.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Mrs. Edwin T. Meredith, wife of the new Secretary of Agriculture, in announcing herself as "at home" on Thursday, rather than Wednesday afternoon, has shattered another Washington tradition, and given official society almost as much of a flurry as did the late President McKinley when he changed the White House functions from Wednesday to Thursday, because on Wednesday night his family usually attended church.

Mrs. Meredith will hold her first reception tomorrow, with a party of assistants, and all the appointments of a pre-war Cabinet reception day. Cabinet day has always been Wednesday, with each of the official hostesses usually observing the same unwritten law regarding the day, hour and form.

The wife of the Secretary of State has always been the arbiter of the Cabinet receptions. When the Senate confirms Bainbridge Colby as Secretary of State, Mrs. Colby will undoubtedly be accorded the leadership of the Cabinet circle, just as her predecessors have been, from the time of Mrs. Hamilton Fish, who is credited with the establishment of the present system, down to Mrs. Robert Lansing, who is drawing rooms Mrs. Meredith may be said to have made her début less than a year ago.

Society awaits with much interest the independent action of Mrs. Meredith, who has already made scores of friends and is regarded as one of the coming hostesses of the Capital. Mr. and Mrs. Meredith are now established at 1,785 Massachusetts Avenue.

MRS. KLINE TO WED CARL J. SCHMIDLAPP

Divorced Last Autumn, She Is to Marry Vice President of the Chase National Bank.

The announcement of the engagement and coming marriage of Mrs. Frances Cooper Kline of 49 East Fifty-second Street, this city, to Carl J. Schmidlapp, Vice President of the Chase National Bank of this city, of 11 East Sixty-first Street, was made last evening. The wedding will take place on March 15 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Evans, 998 Fifth Avenue. Mrs. Kline is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Oliver G. Cooper of Montana. She has lived for the last ten years in this city with her first husband, George B. Kline, whom she divorced last Autumn in Reno.

Mr. Schmidlapp is the son of Jacob G. Schmidlapp and the late Emelie Balke Schmidlapp, and was born in Cincinnati. He is a Cornell graduate, class of 1908, and is a Director in Continental Insurance Co., Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Co. and other companies and is the Treasurer of the East Side Settlement. His clubs include the University, Metropolitan, Bankers, Ardsley and Knollwood Country.

MISS McCOOK ENGAGED.

Daughter of Mrs. John J. McCook of Tuxedo to Wed Jackson H. Boyd.

Mrs. John J. McCook of Tuxedo Park announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Harriet McCook, to Jackson H. Boyd, of Harrisburg, Pa., son of Mrs. Boyd and the late John Y. Boyd of that city.

Miss McCook is the youngest daughter of Mrs. McCook and the late Colonel John J. McCook, and is the sister of Mrs. Peter Augustus Jay, Mrs. John Junius Morgan, and Miss Martha McCook, also a niece of Charles B. Alexander.

Mr. Royd graduated from Princeton, Class of '14. He served in the American Ambulance Field Service in France in 1916, and later as a Captain of Field Artillery when this country entered the war. He was aid to Major General C. A. F. Flagler, and resigned from the regular army upon his return from the army of occupation last April.

No date has been set for the wedding.

VANDERBILT WEDDING APR.29

Nuptial of Cornelius, Jr., and Miss Littleton to be Held in St. Thomas's.

The wedding of Miss Rachel Littleton and Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., son of Brigadier General and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, will take place on Thursday afternoon, April 29, in St. Thomas's Church. Miss Littleton is a half sister of Martin W. Littleton, and makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. Littleton in New York, and at their country place at Plandome, L. I. She is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Littleton of Chattanooga, Tenn.

The plans for the wedding have not been completed, except that it is to be a quiet and simple affair, as Mr. and Mrs. Littleton are in deep mourning for their son. The invitations will probably be issued around the first of April, at which time it is probable that the detailed plans for the wedding and the names of the attendants will be made known.

Miss Bateson to Wed Capt. More.

The engagement has been announced of Miss Lucinda Davis Bateson, daughter of Mrs. Charles Edward Bateson of 60 West Fifty-seventh Street, to Captain Morgan Berkeley More of the Aviation Corps, U. S. A., a son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. More of Buffalo, N. Y.

Miss Bateson, who was named for her great-great-grandaunt, a sister of Jefferson Davis, spent three years in France during the war, the first year as a chauffeur, and the second and third as an auxiliary nurse in Dr. Joseph A. Blake's hospital, and while there she met Captain More. She is a sister of Mrs. W. E. G. Gaillard and of E. Farrar Bateson, who married Miss Rosina Hoyt Otis. The wedding will take place some time in April.

Throng Sees "Musical Milestones."

The second performance of the Junior League's "Musical Milestones" attracted a capacity house last night at the Waldorf-Astoria. Several changes were made in the cast. Miss Frances Ballard substituted for Miss Leila Burden, and Miss Constance DeLanoy for Mrs. Bradish Carroll, Jr., in the cakewalk revival, while Miss Olivia Erdmann and Mrs. Elliot Phillips took the part of Miss Carrie Mathews, respectively, in "Dolly Gray," and "The Geisha" song and dance. The third and last performance takes place tonight.

In Aid of French Orphans.

Dorothy Canfield Fisher, author, will tell of her war experiences at an entertainment to be given Saturday afternoon at the Little Lenox Theatre, 32 East Seventy-eighth Street, under the auspices of the New York Alumnae Association of Kappa Kappa Gamma in aid of the French orphans of Bellevue-Meudon, which the fraternity has adopted. Winifred A. Marshall and Theodora U. Irvine will also appear on the program.

DR. MANNING CALLS NEW CANON SOUND

Trinity Rector Supports Proposed Concordat with Congregationalists.

EXPOUNDS LAW OF CHURCH

Not Mandatory for Persons to be Confirmed Before Receiving Communion, He Says.

The Protestant Episcopal Church does not make it mandatory that persons be confirmed before they come to the altar and receive Holy Communion, the Rev. Dr. William T. Manning, rector of Trinity Church, told an audience which crowded Trinity Chapel, Twenty-fifth Street, west of Broadway, last evening. This was the third of a series of Lenten weekly lectures on "Some Present Religious Questions" before the eight congregations of Trinity parish. His particular theme was "Present Efforts Toward Church Unity; the Concordat."

This is the first public deliverance of Dr. Manning in this city on this issue, which he is strongly advocating, and not only his own people but many of the "high" churchmen and churchwomen were present, and the official stenographer of the Church of St. Mary the Virgin, the clergy of which are vigorously opposing the Concordat, was present and took down every word Dr. Manning said.

Trinity's rector preached exactly one hour and twenty-five minutes, and he so warmed up in his arguments for the Concordat that he spilled all his notes on the floor in front of the pulpit.

Dr. Manning is a member of the Episcopal Commission appointed in Detroit last October to confer periodically with a like commission from the Congregational Church on the proposed Concordat. He has been criticised for defending this purpose, and it has been asserted that it cost him the honor of being Bishop of New York.

The Concordat is the proposed canon which will permit Congregational clergymen to receive confirmation and additional ordination to that of their own denomination from an Episcopal Bishop, which would permit them thereafter to administer the sacraments of the Episcopal Church, under the jurisdiction of an Episcopal Bishop, while remaining in the Congregational fold.

Dr. Manning admitted the proposed canon had its weak points, but held that it did not violate any principle of the Episcopal faith.

"I have supported this Concordat from the beginning, not because I thought it was perfect, not because I liked everything about it, but because I thought it violated no principle of the Catholic faith," said Dr. Manning. "I felt it right not to put obstacles in the way of it but that it should have a fair trial. And I shall continue to give it my support unless it develops that it cannot be carried out without violating a principle. But I have good and reasonable hope that the way may be found to work out this Concordat. If so, it will be one of the greatest steps toward reunion of the Christian church since disunion.

The rector admitted the weak point so far was that, although the Congregational minister had to receive Episcopal confirmation, the laity who under this arrangement would approach Holy Communion would be unconfirmed.

"Some of us need to remember that our Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian and Congregational brethren are Christians, and that as baptized people they are as much members of Christ's Church as we are," said Dr. Manning. "Can we say honestly that the Episcopal Church holds that confirmation is required before receiving Holy Communion?" Dr. Manning asked. "We know perfectly well that the Episcopal Church does not hold this. The Roman Catholic Church does not hold this either. She receives some under certain conditions. For 100 years no one was confirmed in te Episcopal Church. They could not be unless they took a voyage to England. And yet the church survives. That was an emergency, and this, too, is an emergency."

FRANK C. SMINK DEAD.

Chairman of Board of Reading Iron Company Was 74 Years Old.

READING, Pa., March 3.—Frank C. Smink, a leader in the iron trade of the country, died here today. He succeeded the late George F. Baer as President of the Reading Iron Company when the latter became President of the Reading Railway in 1902. Recently he had been serving as Chairman of the iron company's board, succeeding E. T. Stotesbury.

Mr. Smink began his career as a bank clerk, and was later identified with the Reading Railway until he entered the iron trade. He was 74 years old.

Sir Thomas A. Stuart, Scientist.

SYDNEY, New South Wales, March 3.—The death was announced today of Sir Thomas Anderson Stuart, distinguished physician and scientist, and Dean of the Faculty of Medicine in the University of Sydney. He was born in Scotland in 1856.

Sir Thomas was actively identified with many of the medical and scientific societies of Great Britain and achieved wide publicity when he organized the expedition of the Royal Society of London to Funafuti, an island in the Ellice group in the Pacific Ocean. The expedition, by boring to a depth of 1,000 feet in coral rock, secured confirmation of the Darwinian theory of reef formation. Sir Thomas was a frequent contributor to scientific journals.

Plan Memorial to McCullough.

Friends of the late John McCullough, chief of police of New York from 1895 to 1899, who died in Asbury Park two years ago, met yesterday in the trial room at Police Headquarters to perfect plans for the removal of the body from Asbury Park to Woodlawn Cemetery. A fund of $15,000 is to be subscribed by friends in and out of the police department for the erection of a memorial to the former chief. Among those at the meeting were Police Commissioner Richard E. Enright, Deputy Commissioner August D. Porter and former Inspector Adam A. Cross.

Col. S. C. Curtis Dies at Palm Beach.

Special to The New York Times.

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 3.—Colonel Samuel C. Curtis of Omaha died here today from heart disease. He had been ill several days and was 80 years old. His daughter, Miss Lynn Curtis of Omaha and New York City, left for New York tonight with the body. Another daughter, Mrs. Diamond Bird, resides in Greenwich, Conn.

Harry P. Stimson.

Harry P. Stimson, owner of the Hotel Cumberland, at Broadway and Fifty-fourth Street, died yesterday afternoon of pneumonia, at the hotel, in his sixty-fourth year. Prior to his purchase of the Cumberland he was Secretary-Treasurer of the Hotel Imperial, and before he came to New York he was a banker in Kansas City. Mr. Stimson was born in Vermont, and was graduated from Middlebury College. For many years he served as Secretary of the New York Hotel Men's Association.

David B. Kirby Dies of Injuries.

David Barclay Kirby, formerly associated for many years with the law firm of Manice & Perry, died Tuesday in Roosevelt Hospital from injuries suffered the day before when he was struck by an automobile while crossing Fifth Avenue at Forty-third Street. He was born in Beaufort, S. C., in 1834, a grandson of the Revolutionary Colonel Ephraim Kirby.

HUGGINS SWOOPS DOWN ON YANKEE CAMP AND GIVES PLAYERS TWO SHARP DRILLS

HUGGINS IN CHARGE OF YANKEE SQUAD

Manager Sends Players Through Two Snappy Workouts on First Day in Camp.

RUTH IN CENTRE FIELD

Slugger Puts In Hard Day, but Fences Are Still Secure—Fewster Ill with Cold.

Special to The New York Times.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 3.—Miller Huggins was here today to supervise the practice of the Yankees, and that practice went with more snap and order than on either of the two preceding days. However, that may not have been all due to the prescience of the manager. The weather was better. It warmed up, and the Yankees had two business-like drills.

One of Huggins's men, Chick Fewster, was in bed with a cold. Fewster is a fine ball player, but of the delicate type easily affected by passing ills. His absence prevented Huggins from putting something like a regular infield to work for its first performance. Two regulars of last year, Pipp and Pratt, are here, but Peck has not arrived; neither has Meusel, who may win the third base job. So, with Fewster ill, the first "regular" quartet to take the infield consisted of Pipp at first, Pratt at second, Rice at Short and Ward at third.

Pipp Starts with Rush.

This was a rather unbalanced combination, though Ward isn't to be forgotten in considering eventual third base occupants. Pipp slid easily into the work notwithstanding it was his first time out. He always did have the faculty of starting in the Spring where he left off in the Fall.

It was a severe day for Babe Ruth, among others. Ruth is a hard worker in practice. With the batting and fielding of morning and afternoon he was pretty tired when he was through. Huggins conscripted an outfield composed of Bodie in left, Ruth in centre and Vick in right, so at the start Ruth gets his wish of being assigned to the centre area.

Railbirds and others already are fastening eagerly on every ball pitched to Ruth to see if he won't knock it over a fence. Ruth has not done so yet this trip. The fences are far out for one thing; he hasn't made any undue effort to put it over for another, and for a third the wind has been against him.

Veteran Pitchers at Work.

The pitchers for the afternoon batting were Mays, Thormahlen and Mogridge, and these three, with Shawkey, were excused from making an afternoon appearance. Shore ambled into action both morning and afternoon. He trots around the infield and outfield, taking genera conditions as it were, though he has had one pitching workout.

McGraw, Smallwood, Stemiller and Quinn pitched to the batters in the afternoon. Gleich, outfield candidate, lined them out pretty against this chap. When starting to first he has the same peculiar oscillation of the head and shoulders as Ty Cobb. In whatever respects he will resemble the illustrious Tiger is in the lap of the future.

Quinn is doing more work than any of the regular pitchers, possibly in the belief that the more practice he gets without the spit ball the sooner he will be able to navigate without that moribund delivery.

The Yankees are still waiting to get their National Commission check for $18,000 plus interest for winning third place last year. The paper was sent two weeks ago from Cincinnati, but never arrived. Huggins, before leaving New York, informed Garry Herrmann of the mystery of the vanishing check, and the latter sent word that another would be sent. Whether the original was lost, strayed or destroyed by spontaneous combustion, the Yankees don't know, and don't care, just so the duplicate doesn't meet the same fate.

DODGERS PLAY SHORT GAME

Johnstons Defeat Konetchys Again by 11 to 9.

Special to The New York Times.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 3.—The Johnstons and the Konetchys played the second game of their Spring training season at the Robins' camp here this afternoon and it resulted in another victory for the Johnstons. The score was 11 to 9 and only six frames were played. The large squad of athletes completed their day's work by trotting once around the park. Al Mamaux, Bob Vines, Harry Heitman and Leon Cadore were the slabsters who performed in this game. Mamaux hurled the first three frames for the Johnstons and was relieved by Vines, who is a local lad working out with the club.

Heitman pitched the first four chapters for the Koneys and Cadore finished the game. The last frame pitched by Heitman was a burlesque. Before the Johnstons were retired they scored nine times and cracked out seven baseshits. Two errors by members of Koney's side aided the Johnstons in their parade across the plate.

Rowdy Elliott, who performed first at second base and later behind the plate for the Johnstons, again injected much pep into the pastime. He made the only error charged to his side when he dropped an easy foul. It was his first chance to grab a foul this year, so the backstop was excused.

Sherrod Smith, one of the Dodgers' leading left-handers, reported for duty this afternoon, but did not don a uniform. Grimes is now the only member of the hurling staff who has not reported.

KOPF SIGNS UP WITH REDS.

Moran Also Confers with Groh on Terms of Contract.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, March 3.—Shortstop Larry Kopf late today affixed his signature to a contract to play with the 1920 Cincinnati National League Baseball Club. The contract was signed following a conference with Manager Pat Moran, who arrived in Cincinnati from the East to take the players to Miami, Fla., Friday, for Spring training. Moran also conferred with Infielder Heinie Groh and expressed the hope that Pitcher Hod Eller and Eddie Roush, the other players unsigned, would appear in Cincinnati to see him before the Reds leave for the South.

Moran said the new rules regarding "freak" delivery would not prove a handicap to any of his pitchers.

FENWAY PARK SALE HALTED.

Frazee Expects to Settle Case with Lannin Out of Court.

BOSTON, March 3.—Sale of Fenway Park, home grounds of the Boston American League baseball club, which was advertised to be held at auction today, was postponed a week as a result of court proceedings brought by President H. H. Frazee. Subsequently Frazee said that his differences with former President J. J. Lannin probably would be settled out of court within a day or two.

President Frazee dismissed as unfounded rumors that a deal for a sale of the club to local interests was pending.

He said that he had set a price of $1,250,000 on the club to local interests last year and that the price has not changed since, nor has any move been made toward negotiations for sale.

Sharpe Is Planning Building to House Yale Winter Teams

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, March 3.—Dr. Albert Sharpe, director of Yale athletics, has started a movement for a building to house the indoor sport teams and to accommodate the crowds which have clamored for admission to games this Winter only to be turned away for lack of room. Dr. Sharpe said tonight that he had secured architectural advice and felt certain that a structure could readily be erected which would accommodate the crowds at the basket ball and hockey games and furnish playing facilities for both teams.

The undergraduates have pledged their support to the scheme. The Yale Daily News said today that another season Yale must provide a home for its hockey team instead of allowing it to go to Philadelphia for its home games. The undergraduate management tried vainly to secure the New Haven Arena, with a view to providing a surface of artificial ice for this season's hockey matches.

WAIST LINES OF GIANTS SHRINKING

Warm Weather and Snappy Training Enables Players to Pull in Their Belts.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 3.—The waist lines of the Giants' baseball players are gradually diminishing. Two days of delightful Summer weather has spurred the players, young and old, to cut loose more enthusiastically than is usual. Nearly all the players this afternoon were able to pull in their belts a couple of inches, although they confessed that the reduction was not brought about without the cost of lame arms and aching legs.

The leisurely life of the ball tosser during the Winter months is favorable to waist lines. George Burns, Benny Kauff, Rube Benton, Frank Snyder, Ross Young, H. Wilbert Hubbell and several others have taken on weight, but the work of the past two days has made them all a little more sylph-like. All the young players seem to be in fine condition, and this afternoon they cut loose and, under the direction of Mathewson, tossed the ball around in mid-summer fashion. Two more members of the Giants' rare collection of yearling infielders showed their talent this afternoon.

George Armstrong, a player who comes from the Coast, played for a while at third base and attracted considerable attention. He has style and grace aplenty. Armstrong was recommended to the Giants by Fred Snodgrass. Another lad from the Coast is Frank McGuire, who cut up a lot of fancy capers at second base.

Players Are Sunburned.

In Matty's first string infield this afternoon Jim Cooney took the place of Jigger Staatz at second, for Jigger is laid up at the hotel with a slight stomach ailment. Sicking was at short and Frank Frisch at third. The Fordham boy is playing the dizzy corner just as handily as he played second base last season. He covers an acre of ground.

Harry Bates, Artie White and Johnny Horn all got a chance at infield work, and the veteran groundkeeper of the Giants, Henry Fabian, remarked that he had never seen so many promising kid players in many years.

The veteran boxmen, Jess Barnes, Nehf and Benton, all took a hand at lobbing the ball up to the batsmen.

Barnes's brother, Virgil, who is known to the players as Zeke, also took a hand in the flinging. Paul Johnson, Jimmy Barton and Col Snover worked some of the kinks out of their arms.

The veteran players started medicine ball exercises to reduce their weight. Kelly, Kauff, McCarty, Sicking, Burns and Young stood in a circle and kept three medicine balls going around at top speed.

Staatz on Hospital List.

Coach Mathewson is sporting a sunburn which glows like a Texas sunset. Nearly every player on the big squad is burned, and before the week is over they will be the color of cordovan leather, if the sun is as active as it has been for the last few days.

Frank Frisch is batting left handed exclusively this Spring, and is using one of the Ross Young type of bats. It is a heavy club with a thick grip.

Manager McGraw wired to Treasurer McQuade yesterday from Atlanta, stating that he had been delayed on the way, but expected to get here late tonight. Mike Gonzales and Larry Doyle are with the Giants' manager.

Sidney Ross, who has been with the Giants on their last two Southern training trips, reported today. He seems to be in fine shape and was burning them over fast during the batting practice.

There are so many recruits on the Giants' squad that they have not yet been able to get acquainted. They don't know each other's first names yet.

Judge McQuade, the Treasurer of the Giants, puts on a uniform every day and gets out and throws the ball around with the players.

ARMY WINS AS GAME ENDS.

West Point ooes Out Brooklyn Poly at Basket Ball.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST POINT, N. Y., March 3.—The Army team won an exciting game of basket ball today from Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute. The final score was 24 to 22. The game was won in the last few seconds of play. Cross for the Army tossing a sensational basket from the centre of the court and registering the Cadets' twenty-third point. Pfeiffer's perfect throw from the foul line as the whistle blew, ending the game, gave the West Pointers another.

The lineup:

ARMY (24).		BRLYN. POLY (22).
Cross	R. F.	Specht
Blaik	L. F.	Nelson
Whitson	C.	Ghelardi
Pfeiffer	R. G.	Bachrach
Daniel	L. G.	Kentzman

Goals from field—Cross (8), Blaik (4), Specht (4), Nelson (2), Bachrach (2). Goals from fouls—Pfeiffer, 10 out of 15; Nelson, 0 out of 11.

Substitutions—Joy for Ghelardi, Swartzman for Kentzman, Johnson for Blaik, Kessler for Whitson.

Referee—Tom Thorpe, Columbia. Time of halves—Twenty minutes.

YALE FIVE WINS WITH EASE.

Sends Substitutes Against Springfield in Second Half.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, March 3.—Yale defeated Springfield Training College tonight at basket ball 45 to 30. The Blue led by 26 to 11 at the close of the first half and sent a substitute combination against the Massachusetts collegians in the second period.

The lineup:

YALE (45).		SPRINGFIELD (30).
Van Slyck	L. F.	Fallon
Alderman	R. F.	Bennett
Hamill	C.	Eggbrecht
Flynn	L. F.	Mansfield
Cohen	R. F.	Edwards

Goals from floor—Van Slyck (5), Alderman (6), Hamill (6), Cohen, Crane, Fallon (3), Bennett (3), Edwards Sims, O'Donnell (3). Goals from foul—Van Slyck (5), Crane (2), Fallon, O'Donnell (3).

Substitutions—Yale: Keck for Van Slyck, Morse for Alderman, Stanton for Hamill, Jamieson for Flynn, Crane for Cohen. Springfield: Watters for Edwards, Sims for Mansfield, O'Donnell for Fallon.

Referee—Dan Kelley.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, March 3.—It was a good day for the Appleby brothers in the national amateur Class A 18.2 balk-line billiard tournament in progress at the Boston Athletic Association. In the afternoon Francis S. Appleby went out easily in 22 innings, defeating Robert M. Lord, 300 to 105. In the evening match Edgar T. Appleby played listlessly and was forced to travel 44 innings to win from Percy Trump, 300 to 235.

Francis turned in a remarkable feat in his match. He won the bank, but missed on his try for the count in the first inning. Starting with the second, he scored in every inning, the only player in the tournament to go through a match with only one blank inning.

He created a new high average for himself and gave his grand average a boost. His billiards were of a high order, but the lack of competition given him by Lord and the letting down of interest in the tournament since it has simmered down to McAndless and Collins took the edge off.

The evening match was slow and uninteresting with little of the expert in billiards being introduced. Edgar Appleby started well, running out forty-four in his third turn at the table, but after that he lost his stroke and it became a task for him to go through the monotony of running up his 300 points.

The scores by innings:

GARDNER CLINCHES TITLE.

Wins Metropolitan Three-Cushion Billiard Championship.

METROPOLITAN 3-CUSHION BILLIARD STANDING.

Player.	W.	L.	P.C.
G. Gardner	6	0	1000

H. T. Rose	1	4	.200
H. L. Türk	1	5	.167

Gus Gardner clinched the metropolitan three-cushion billiard championship of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players at the Broadway Billiard Academy last night when he scored his sixth straight victory, defeating Addie Wickers by a score of 30 to 13. This round-robin tournament originally had eight players entered, which would have necessitated each player engaging in seven games, but Leonard D. Sacks, after losing his first match, failed to appear for his other engagements and it was officially decided to drop him from the standing. Under this arrangement each of the players still remaining in the tourney had to play six instead of seven games.

Gardner, therefore, has played through his schedule of games without sustaining a single defeat. Louis A. Servatius is holding down second place in the standing, but Ray Naughright has an excellent chance to pass him and win the silver medal. Naughright is scheduled to play Harry Levine tonight and should Naughright win he will finish second in the standing, the tie being decided by the number of points the two players scored in all of their matches.

Besides winning the gold medal emblematic of the metropolitan championship of the association, Gardner has gained the first leg on the silver cup put up by the Broadway Billiard Academy. This cup must be won twice, not necessarily in succession, to become the personal property of a player.

Harold L. Turk was scheduled to play Gardner last night, but word was received from his physician that he had fallen downstairs at his home yesterday and had sustained a fractured rib. Wickers agreed to play Gardner.

Gardner was in the same fine form that featured his work against Servatius on the previous evening. The new champion was in excellent stroke and his unerring judgment of angles enabled him to secure an easy victory over Wickers.

DARK HORSE IN TOURNEY.

A dark horse was uncovered in the national three-cushion tournament of the American Amateur Billiard Association at Joe Thum's Academy last night. Joseph Primakow, the unknown quantity who had been the cause of much speculation among the players in the tourney, was finally able to appear to play a scheduled match, and the showing he made against George Van Arsdale stamped him as a player of great merit. Primakow is a finished carrom player in every respect. He is supported by an extremely powerful stroke, possessing great driving power; but it is not in the least harsh. His knowledge of angles is up to the standard of Class A play, and he should make his presence felt in the current chase for the title. He defeated Van Arsdale by a score of 50 to 42 in 110 innings.

N. Y. U. NINE CALLED OUT.

Coach Kellogg Will Inspect His Battery Men Tomorrow.

The first call for candidates for the New York University baseball team was issued yesterday by Coach Raymond V. Kellogg and Manager Martin Jentzen. Kellogg plans to start tomorrow with his pitchers and catchers and confine all his efforts to them for about two weeks. By that time arrangements will have been made for the use of a nearby armory for team practice.

Pair of Jap Tennis Stars Stages Amazing Match in Semi-Finals of Palm Beach Tourney.

Special to The New York Times.

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 3.—Craig Biddle will meet Ichiya Kumagae tomorrow for the Florida tennis championship. In the lower half of the semi-finals bracket today Biddle beat R. L. Baggs of New York. In the second set Baggs threatened trouble, but Biddle came back just as fast and held him off.

The match between Kumagae and Seiichiro Kashio furnished the big spectacle of the tourney. Kashio won the first set by head work. He made his openings with accurate drives and then went in to the net and got the points. It was a duel from start to finish, with long rallies throughout marked by great speed and amazing accuracy in placing. Kashio forged ahead in the beginning because he took greater chances and won on them.

In the second set it was apparent that he had made his supreme effort and could no longer force himself to keep up the pace. In the third he braced and it was close for the first half, but Kumagae was too good for him and drew away gradually. The scores of the match were 4—6, 6—0, 6—2.

The summary:

Singles.

Semi-Final Round—Craig Biddle defeated R. L. Baggs, 6—1, 6—3; Ichiya Kumagae defeated Seiichiro Kashio, 4—6, 6—0, 6—2.

Consolation Singles—W. H. Shriver, Baltimore, defeated Ogden Phipps, New York, 6—2, 6—4; Rodman Wanamaker, 2d, Philadelphia, defeated W. H. Shriver, Baltimore, 6—2, 11—9; Dr. L. Housman, New York, won from H. G. Sonne, New York, by default.

Doubles.

First Round—Captain A. Gore, Washington, and John Marcus, New York, defeated R. L. James, Saratoga, and R. L. Baggs, New York, 3—6, 6—4, 6—1; John Hennessey, Indianapolis, and James Calder, New York, defeated R. W. Leonard, New York, and F. J. Dorham, New York, 6—4, 6—3; Gordon Douglas, New York, and F. C. Inman, New York, defeated W. P. Snyder, Pittsburgh, and Rodman Wanamaker 2d, Philadelphia, 6—2, 6—3; R. Shriver and W. H. Shriver won from Charles Coulven and H. C. Sonne by default; Craig Biddle and Beals C. Wright defeated Captain Gore and John Marcus, 5—7, 6—2, 6—1; John Hennessey and James Calder defeated Sidney Thayer and M. Goldman, 7—5, 7—5; Ichiya Kumagae and Seiichiro Kashio defeated Gordon Douglas and F. C. Inman, 6—3, 6—3.

Mixed Doubles.

First Round—Mrs. T. Schlichter and S. Kashio won from Miss Madge Mulqueen, New York, and Captain Gore by default; Miss Virginia Rice, New York, and H. B. Chase, San Francisco, defeated Miss E. Pierson, New York, and Rodman Wanamaker, 2d, 6—1, 6—1; Miss Phyllic Walsh, Philadelphia, and Beals Wright, New York, defeated Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Snyder, Pittsburgh, 6—4, 6—2; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brokaw, New York, defeated Mrs. W. H. Shriver, Baltimore, and George D. Biddle, Philadelphia, 6—1, 6—2.

Second Round—Mrs. Rawson Wood, New York, and Craig Biddle defeated Miss E. Brainard, New York, and John Hennessey, 6—3, 6—3; Miss Peggy Thayer, Philadelphia, and H. C. Morgan, New York, won from Mrs. William Dick, New York, and A. Major, New York, by default; Mrs. Frederick Singer, Paris, and Ichiya Kumagae won from Miss Evangeline Johnson, New York, and Murray Vernon, New York, by default.

DILLON VICTOR AT SQUASH.

Beats Graham in First Round of University Club Tourney.

A squash racquets tournament for the championship of the University Club was begun yesterday with a large entry list and some surprises developed immediately. The greatest of these was the elimination of M. Graham, the star of the New York Racquet Club, by Herbert L. Dillon, in straight games, who scored 15—9, 15—6. Graham had been the advance choice of most of his associates to win the tournament, and his defeat by Dillon came as a real upset.

The winner is a former Princeton football guard and captain, and his great physical strength makes every swing of his racquet a punishing one. It was mostly by sheer speed that he won yesterday, giving his more experienced opponent little chance to bring his superior knowledge of court tactics into play.

The summary follows:

First Round—A. H. Ely, Jr., defeated C. J. Coe, 15—9, 15—11; A. H. Lockett defeated D. Clark, 15—5, 15—7; L. F. Frissell defeated H. L. Bodman, 17—15, 14—17, 17—16; E. Dominick defeated G. Parker, 15—7, 15—8; H. L. Dillon defeated M. Graham, 15—9, 15—6; B. M. Eyre defeated G. H. Bartholomew, 18—15, 15—12; R. Milbank defeated Thomas Blagden, Jr., 15—8, 15—10.

Over 600 Tourney's Already Planned by Gunners' Clubs

Applications for more than 600 trapshooting tournaments have been received by the General Committee of the American Trapshooting Association for the season of 1920. This is over 200 more than were held in 1919, when the association enjoyed its record year. At the meeting of the General Committee held yesterday at the headquarters of the association in this city it was announced that the applications already on hand are sufficient to authorize the assertion that all previous records in trapshooting will be broken during this year. Last season upward of 400 sanctioned shoots were held. During the coming season it is figured that approximately 650 will be sanctioned.

BRADFORD TO MEET ROOME IN FINAL

Players Score Victories in Yale Club's Class B Squash Tourney.

R. Roome and L. Bradford became the finalists yesterday in the Class B squash tennis tournament at the Yale Club, the former taking a hard four-game match from J. F. O'Rourke by scores of 15—12, 15—9, 12—15 and 17—16, while the latter triumphed in straight games over K. O'Brien at 15—10, 17—14, 15—10.

Although the two surviving Irishmen in the tournament went down to defeat, they put up great battles against their more experienced opponents. O'Rourke staged a sensational pull-up after being two games down, winning the third by a narrow margin, and almost saving the fourth, which was set for extra points at 14-all. A trifle more endurance helped Roome through the pinch, and he put the match to his credit with a timely ace, when the loss of the rally would have meant at least a tie and possible defeat.

The summaries:

Class B—Semi-Final Round—Bradford defeated K. O'Brien, 15—10, 17—14, 15—10; R. Roome defeated J. F. O'Rourke, 15—12, 15—9, 12—15, 17—16.

TAYLOR IS SQUASH WINNER.

Defeats Perez in First Round at the Army and Navy Club.

The Army and Navy Club, occupying the former quarters of the Princeton Club in Gramercy Park, yesterday began to make a practical use of the squash tennis courts by staging a handicap tournament for the club championship, with some of the best known players of the metropolitan district entered. Only one match was actually played in the first round on the opening day, Geoffrey Taylor, the Harvard expert, defeating H. L. Perez in straight games, 15—9, 15—10.

COLUMBIA SETS NEW MARK.

Riflemen Score 975, Defeating Dartmouth in Intercollegiate Series.

Another season's record fell before the splendid shooting of the Columbia rifle team yesterday. The Blue and White easily defeated Dartmouth by a score of 975 to 951. The previous high mark for the New Yorkers was 973, made two weeks ago in the first match in the intercollegiate championship competition.

The scores:

Columbia—L. R. Condon, 197; W. P. Schweitzer, 197; J. R. Twiss, 196; J. F. Kleuninger, 193; R. W. Kerr, 193. Team total, 975.

Dartmouth—R. W. Grippy, 193; T. E. Reed, 192; W. Ingraham, 189; E. J. Wetherbee, 189; D. Shepard, 188. Team total, 951.

SQUASH AT COLUMBIA CLUB.

Cornell and Strebeigh Gain Semi-Final Round in Tourney.

I. H. Cornell and R. L. Strebeigh became semi-finalists yesterday in the Class B squash tennis tournament at the Columbia University Club, eliminating F. W. Chambers and W. H. Putnam, respectively, in the third round.

The summaries:

Class B—Third Round—I. H. Cornell defeated F. W. Chambers, 15—12, 15—6; R. L. Strebeigh defeated W. H. Putnam, 13—5, 15—9, 15—6.

CLARK IS TO LEAD AMERICAN GUNNERS

Is Empowered by General Committee of A. T. A. to Select Team for Olympic Meet.

Definite plans for the sending of an American trapshooting team to the Olympic Games at Antwerp this Summer were made at the meeting of the General Committee of the American Trapshooting Association at its meeting at the headquarters of the association in this city yesterday. Jay Clark, Jr., on behalf of the sub-committee of the amateurs appointed as an Olympic Trapshooting Committee, announced that the committee would be present at the general meeting of the Olympic Games Committee to be held in this city on March 13, upon which occasion all information regarding the conduct of the trapshooting contests at Antwerp will be explained in detail to the committee.

Because entries for the Olympic contests will have to be made not later than June 21 the General Committee yesterday expressed the opinion that no time should be lost in giving full consideration to the composition of the team to be sent abroad. It was also the opinion of the committee that there would not be sufficient time for holding elimination shoots or other trials. For this reason Mr. Clark was immediately and unanimously elected captain of the team with full power to select the shooters who will go to Antwerp to represent the United States. Mr. Clark stated that he would require the aid of a committee of four, preferably two amateurs and two professionals, to assist him in making the selections. The question of deciding how the expenses of the team should be defrayed was left for further consideration after the meeting of the Olympic Committee on March 13.

While it was not definitely decided at yesterday's meeting, it was the unofficial view of the General Committee that eight men should be sent to Antwerp. Under the rules governing the Olympic shooting events, seven men can be nominated for the individual events but only five men can shoot. Six regular members and two substitutes can be named as a team to shoot in the team events, but only one team can be nominated by each country.

Under the rules which will govern these contests the gun must be held between the armpit and hip until the target is in flight. This is at great variance with the rules governing the sport in this country where the shooters hold the stock of the gun glued to the cheek and are "on" the target the minute it is released from the traps. However, at the Olympic games the shooters will have the benefit of two barrels whereas in the United States they are allowed only one. In the event of ties, however, the shooter who is compelled to take advantage of a second barrel does not score as much as the man who makes his "kill" with the first shot. But this method of scoring only applies to shooting off ties.

At today's session dates will be assigned for the hundreds of tournaments which will be held by the different clubs and State associatoins throughout this country and Canada during 1920. The number of clubs and associations which have made applications for dates far exceeds anything in the history of the sport on this side of the Atlantic. It was decided that the work could be expedited and more effectually handled by a sub-committee, and this plan was adopted. A sub-committee composed of Stoney McLinn, Secretary of the American Trapshooting Association; Ed Banks, the veteran shooter and official, and C. Starr Matthews was appointed. They will be assisted in the work by L. J. Squier, C. W. Hymer, and J. Leonard Clark.

TOMES PLAYS BRILLIANTLY.

Under Heavy Handicap, Harvard Club Squash Star Beats Emmett.

Play was continued yesterday afternoon in the first round of the Winter handicap tournament for Class B squash tennis players at the Harvard Club, several more names being wiped off the big draw. The most surprising feat of the day was the victory of A. H. Tomes, recently runner-up for the national Class B individual championship, over R. S. Emmett in straight games, scored 15—11 and 15—10. The winner was forced to start each game at minus five, while his rival enjoyed the huge handicap of ten aces and one hand.

The summary follows:

Class B—First Round—A. Richard (+6) defeated F. Corbin (scratch), 15—9, 11—15, 15—11; B. Pitman (+10 and one hand) defeated G. G. Zabriskie (+10), 15—2, 15—6; A. H. Tomes (—5) defeated R. S. Emmett (+10 and one hand), 15—11, 15—10; G. M. Carmochan (+10) defeated S. W. Knauth (+6), 15—10, 15—7; M. B. Shonk (+10) defeated E. A. Leroy, Jr., (+6), 15—2, 15—5.

BLOOMER CAPTURES JUNIOR FOILS TITLE

Intercollegiate and Epee Champion Adds Another Crown to His Collection.

Millard J. Bloomer, Jr., of Columbia University, intercollegiate foils champion and holder of the national junior epée title, added a third title to his string last night by carrying off first honors in the national junior foils championships at the New York Turn Verein. The collegian won the junior honors against the strongest kind of competition, after working his way to the finals through a field of twenty-three entries.

The Columbia fencer, although he displayed even more than his ordinary skill and adroitness, received a hard fight from C. A. McPherson of the New York A. C., former intercollegiate foils champion, and H. E. Twyeffort of the French Y. M. C. A. Bloomer redeemed what seemed a lost cause by making a sensational comeback in his bout in the finals with McPherson, who lost the clash after he had scored four straight touches.

Six men survived the three preliminary rounds and qualified for the finals. They were Bloomer, McPherson, Twyeffort, Ernest Rebie and Paul Benzenberg of the New York Turn Verein, and Paul Rosier of the French Y. M. C. A.

In the finals Bloomer made a clean sweep of four matches and had such a commanding lead that he was able to dispense with his last bout. He defeated Riebe, Twyeffort, Benzenberg and McPherson and had the upper hand at all times. The championships were under the supervision of the Amateur Fencers' League of America.

Father and son clashed in the second strip, which brought together Dr. L. F. Bishop of the Fencers' Club and Bishop, Jr., a Yale University representative. The younger generation won the bout, 5 touches to 2.

The summaries:

First Strip—McPherson defeated Betancourt, 5 to 1; Colver, 5 to 2; Leicester, 5 to 2; Riebe, 5 to 3; Dorst, 5 to 1; Stelle, 5 to 2. Hear! Hear!

A customer dropped in to show us an overcoat he purchased here in November, 1901—over eighteen years ago.

The coat is still doing good service; in fact to such an extent that in December last he had the goods turned, using the original shoulder and body lining.

This coat has been used on the owner's travels all over the world.

In these days of high prices, when everybody wants to make old clothes last as long as they will, what finer compliment than to learn that his one "complaint" about our stuff is that it lasts too long.

JIMMY WILDE OUTPOINTS PATSY WALLACE HANDILY IN BOUT AT PHILADELPHIA

WILDE HAS A WIDE MARGIN ON WALLACE

British Boxing Midget Amazes Philadelphia Ringsiders with His Terrific Blows.

HAS FOUR OF SIX ROUNDS

Quaker City Opponent Trys Only to Keep Out of Harm's Way—Champion Hailed as a Marvel.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, March 3.—Probably the greatest fight between little fellows that Philadelphia has ever seen was presented tonight when Jimmy Wilde, England's wonderful atom and the holder of the world's flyweight championship, outpointed Patsy Wallace of this city after six rounds of terrific boxing.

Wallace tried to keep out of harm and fought his battle just right. This was the only possible way he could have avoided a knockout at the hands of the mighty Briton. He was up against the greatest little fighter of modern times and was outclassed in both science and punching power.

When Wallace came out of his corner at the start he tried two or three exchanges and took the lead in the round, but a left hook near the end that showed him the punching power behind those long arms of Wilde drove him to cover.

Four Rounds Are Wilde's Clearly.

From then on until the sixth it was Wilde, Wilde, Wilde. He was all over Wallace and won the second, fourth, fifth and sixth rounds by a wide margin. The third was even.

Wilde lived up to every last word of his reputation. A great fighter, he fought a grand fight, willing to take punishment at all times and asking only that Wallace stand up and fight. He proved himself a true world's champion.

To those at the ringside visions of a former world's champion were called to mind by Wilde's showing. In two respects only does he differ from Jack Johnson; one is in color and the other in size. He has the form duplicated to a nicety and is the best two-handed puncher in the ring today with the probable exception of Dempsey. No other fighter who has ever appeared in a local ring in recent years has shown such perfect ability with both hands, whether jabbing, hooking or swinging.

The huge crowd that thronged the club saw a fighting demon who won his way into the hearts of local fight fans by everything he did.

Wallace Is Plucky.

Even though he was shaded by the very whirlwind of Wilde's attack, Wallace made a good showing. He was obviously nervous when he entered the ring, but determined to stay the limit. Only three times during the six rounds did he open up to the limit to mix things, and on those three occasions he made things warm for the world's champion. Once he opened Wilde's lip. Another time he drove him back by landing two hard swings to the face. The third time he almost knocked Wilde down.

That near knockdown came in the sixth round after an exchange of blows during which Wilde was wheeled out of position and off his balance when he missed a swing. Wallace hooked him in the back of the neck at the same time. Wilde almost tumbled to the canvas, but managed to catch himself although both his hands hit the floor. He was up immediately and before the referee could run in to protect him. Then he launched into the attack anew.

STONEHAM'S RACER WINS.

Different Eyes Captures Handicap at Oriental Park.

HAVANA, Cuba, March 3.—Different Eyes showed his heels to a good band of sprinters in the Ocean Wave Handicap at the Oriental Park track today. His effort this afternoon was in direct contrast to his previous race, when he was beaten off by practically the same field. Carmody had the mount on the C. A. Stoneham colt, and it was largely due to his superior riding that the son of The Manager got down in front. Sirocco was second, and the favorite, Col. Taylor, was third. Different Eyes stepped the six furlongs in the fast time of 1:11 4-5.

The summaries:

FIRST RACE—Purse $600; for two-year-olds; four furlongs. Disturbance, 100 pounds (Garner), 7 to 5, 1 to 2 and 1 to 4, first; Dorothy, 112 (Murray), 7 to 5, 1 to 2 and 1 to 4, second; Fiction, 112 (White), 7 to 2, 7 to 5 and 7 to 10, third. Time—0:49 1-5. Bertha Minnix, Firefly II. and Asoutney also ran.

SECOND RACE—Purse $600; for three-year-olds and upward; five and one-half furlongs. Sayeth, 115 pounds (J. Petz), 5 to 1, 2 to 1 and even, first; Br'er Fox, 110 (Finley), 7 to 1, 5 to 2 and 6 to 5, second; Grasmere, 113 (Carmody), 3 to 1, 7 to 5 and 7 to 10, third. Time—1:08 2-5. May Craig, Miss K., Claude Walker, Doc. Kloethe, Ben Butler, Sea Beach, Front Royal, Passion and Native Soil also ran.

THIRD RACE—Purse $600; for three-year-olds and upward; claiming; five and one-half furlongs. Stiletto, 108 pounds (Murray), 5 to 1, 3 to 1 and even, first; Theodora Fair, 108 (Barnes), 10 to 1, 4 to 1 and 2 to 1, second; Surget, 113 (A. Collins), 3 to 1, 7 to 5 and 7 to 10, third. Time—1:08. Weymouth Girl, Lackrose, Farnum, Prince Bonero, Sir Oliver, Fortune's Favor, Prince Easy, Hazelnut and Sophie K. also ran.

FOURTH RACE—Purse $800; handicap; for three-year-olds and upward; six furlongs. Different Eyes, 103 pounds (Carmody), 7 to 5, 7 to 5 and 7 to 10, first; Sirocco, 113 (Pickens), 4 to 1, 8 to 5 and 4 to 5, second; Col. Taylor, 115 (Barnes), 5 to 2, even and 1 to 2, third. Time—1:11 4-5. Clearing Up, Belle of Elizabethtown, Basil, Ima Frank and Cromwell also ran.

FIFTH RACE—Purse $600; for four-year-olds and upward; claiming; mile and fifty yards. Baladin, 109 pounds (Brown), 2 to 1, 4 to 5 and 2 to 5, first; Manokin, 112 (F. Hunt), 5 to 1, 2 to 1 and even, second; and The Talker, 110 (A. Collins), 10 to 1, 4 to 1 and 2 to 1, third. Time—1:42. Grace, Chansonetta II., Sunningdale, Dione, Rey Ennis and Legacy also ran.

SIXTH RACE—Purse $700; for four-year-olds and upward; claiming; one mile and a sixteenth. Foster Embry, 106 pounds (Murray), 5 to 2, even and 1 to 2 first; Dainty Lady, 102 (Barnes), 6 to 1, 5 to 2 and 6 to 5, second; Skeer Face, 103 (Chiavetta), even, 3 to 5 and 1 to 3, third. Time—1:46 2-5. Galaway, Ned Mileybright, Fairly and Great Gull also ran.

Public Comes to Support of Racing in Maryland

BALTIMORE, Md., March 3.—Following the hearing on the various bills now before the Legislature at Annapolis, friends of racing now believe that no changes will be made which will materially affect the conduct of the sport in this State. The hearing gave evidence that there is strong public support for the turf.

It is the opinion of those who are following the situation closely that a bill exacting some form of revenue will be passed, but that it will be a measure which will insure the future of the sport rather than put an end to it. The measure providing for a levy of $6,000 from the tracks appears now to be most strongly favored by the lawmakers.

ARNOLD GALLOPS IN FRONT ONCE AGAIN

Applegate's Entry Wins Avondale Handicap at New Orleans, with Iwin in Second Place.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 3.—C. A. Applegate's dependable Arnold gave another of his good performances here today and fairly galloped off with the Avondale Handicap, a five and a half furlong sprint which was the feature of the day's racing at Jefferson Park. This five-year-old son of Peep o' Day, which is a steadily worked campaigner, has not been out of the money in eleven starts during the Winter meetings here.

He was, accordingly, well supported for the Avondale, for which only four had been named, and as an even money favorite he never gave his backers much to be uneasy about. He received a good ride from Myers and although he led Iwin home by only a length, he was being pulled up at the finish and could have won with more to spare if the jockey had wanteld to keep him at top speed to the end. Ticklish was third, only a neck back of Iwin, while Ultra Gold trailed in a bad last.

Arnold broke with a rush and assumed a good lead at the very start. Myers took him over to the rail and soon opened up a gap of two lengths, while Iwin and Ticklish were racing neck and neck in the wake of the pacemaker. Arnold showed all of his usual speed and despite the high impost of 124 pounds had the race in hand all the way.

Iwin was fortunate enough to save ground all the way and turning into the stretch began to move away from Ticklish, as the latter went wide and lost ground. The latter got back into his stride quickly and was far from through. He came with a rush and Iwin had to be hustled to save the place. Meantime Myers had assumed such a commanding lead with the winner that he eased up in the last 50 yards and came under the wire at a canter.

The largest field of the day and one of the largest of the meeting went to the post in the final race, at a mile and a sixteenth. There were fifteen starters of the plater variety and consequently a victory for a 20 to 1 shot was not a great surprise. The winner was Sea Urchin, which got up in the last few strides to beat Dragon Rock a neck, while Sophia Gatewood was third. Sea Urchin was far back until the stretch was reached, when he moved up steadily and took the lead.

GIEBEL IS FIRST IN TITULAR SWIM

Wins Metropolitan Association Championship in Tank Meet at New York A. C.

Although he was ill with a cold and had a high temperature, Leo Giebel donned his swimming togs and captured the Metropolitan Association championship swim at 220 yards against some of the best swimmers in the district at the swimming meet held in the tank at the New York Athletic Club last night. He had a margin of three yards over Fred Kahele, although he was beginning to show the effects of the strain by the time he reached the end.

This was not only the feature contest of the meet, but it provided also the best competition. Giebel was steady throughout and led all the way, being fully five yards in front at one time. Paul Chace, who eventually finished third, and Kahele made a strong effort in the first lap, but could not make the turns as neatly as the N. Y. A. C. star. Kahele finally had more strength in reserve and was able to defeat Chace by about two feet. Charles Ross, also of the New York A. C., the only other starter, was last and could not keep up with the other mermen.

It was a big evening for the Giebel family, for the younger brother, Henry, captured the 100-yard backstroke handicap, defeating John Zimnock and Hal Vollmer. This was a close victory, and Giebel won by only a touch. Giebel started from scratch, while Zimnock and Vollmer had handicaps of five seconds each.

The fifty-yard Class A swim went to Cornelius Sheehy, who, with a seven-second handicap, defeated Joseph Hearn and Joseph Ruddy.

The summaries:

100-Yard Handicap—R. Mazet, Marquand School, first; A. Morrison, unattached, second; C. J. Harold, unattached, third. Time—1:05.

Fancy Diving—Fred Sponberg, New York A. C., first; George Bahn, New York A. C., second; Louis Balbach, unattached, third.

25-Yard Swim, Class B—William Lynch, first; Raymond Ruddy, second; Thomas Ryan, third. Time—0:22 2-5.

50-Yard Swim, Class A—Cornelius Sheehy, first; Joseph Hearn, second; Joseph Ruddy, third. Time—0:37.

220-Yard Swim, Metropolitan Association Championship—Leo Giebel, New York A. C., first; Fred Kahelo, Central Y. M. C. A., second; Paul Chase, New York A. C., third. Time—2:30.

YALE TO NAME AVIATORS.

Four Fliers Will Represent Blue in Intercollegiate Races.

NEW HAVEN, March 3.—Four men will be selected shortly at a meeting of former Yale aviators to represent the university in the intercollegiate air races, May 6 and 7. There are available for the team about fifty students who held commissions in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps Flying service. D. S. Ingalls of Cleveland and Sumner Sewell of Bath, Me., seniors, are aces.

MIXED FOURSOME PLAYED.

Mrs. Letts and Ashley Lead Golf Pairs at Belleair with 83.

Special to The New York Times.

BELLEAIR HEIGHTS, Fla., March 3.—In the annual mixed foursome contest here today Mrs. F. C. Letts of Chicago and T. Ashley of Boston won the low net with a score of 83. They were around in 84 with a handicap of 1.

Two pairs tied at 84. Miss Marion Kerr and Hamilton K. Kerr of New York with 95—11, 84, and Miss Eleanor Head of Pittsburgh and H. B. Martin of New York with 99—15, 84. They will play off for the second prize.

Mrs. Letts is former Western champion and she is a strong favorite to win the Belleair women's championship next week.

Jack Sharkey in Fast Bout.

DETROIT, March 3.—Jack Sharkey of New York and Roy Moore of St. Paul fought ten fast rounds here tonight, at the end of which opinion was about equally divided. Sharkey landed stiff lefts to the head frequently during the early rounds, but his opponent scored telling leads later in the bout.

POWER CRUISER RECORD.

Hoosier V Averages 28.7 Miles an Hour, a New World's Mark.

MIAMI, Fla., March 3.—In making an average speed of 28.7 miles an hour over the 113-mile Miami-Bimini power cruiser course, Feb. 14, the Hoosier V. established a world's record. Charles V. Chapman, Secretary of the American Power Boat Association, made the announcement tonight. The former record was 27.4 miles per hour, made by the Countess in 1916. Hoosier V. is owned by H. B. Duckwell, Indianapolis.

PLAN TWO NEW GOLF LINKS.

Northport Association Gets Hold of Tract of Land.

Long Island, already punched like a commuter's ticket with hundreds of golf holes, will have thirty-six more along the North Shore as a result of the formation of a new golf association which plans to build two new links. Devereux Emmet, the golf architect, has been retained to supervise the construction of the two new courses.

Announcement was made yesterday of the organization of the Northport Golf Association. A. H. Pogson, Secretary of the Metropolitan Golf Association, is Secretary of the new organization.

In addition to golf, other sports and activities customary for country clubs will be provided at Northport, such as tennis, trap shooting, horseback riding, and also salt water swimming. The group of sportsmen has obtained an option on 649 acres of shore front property on the north coast of the island where, in addition to the golf courses and clubhouse, there will be constructed tennis courts, traps, pavilion, and bath houses.

The management of the association will be in the hands of a Board of Directors composed of Northport and New York men. The officers are: President, Thomas M. Hodgens; Vice President, L. B. Gildersleeve; Secretary, A. H. Pogson, and Treasurer, R. B. Johnson.

Ottawa Wins Hockey Title.

OTTAWA, March 3.—The Ottawa hockey team clinched the championship of the National Hockey League here tonight by defeating the Toronto club, 7 to 4.

COURTNEY BLAMES CORNELL FACULTY

Rowing Coach Declares Lack of Co-operation Has Cost Him Loss of Star Oarsmen.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 3.—Lack of co-operation on the part of the Faculty is blamed by Coach Charles E. Courtney of the Cornell crews for practically wiping out a crew that it took months to build up and one that the dean of American rowing coaches considered the equal of any that he has ever turned out.

As a result of mid-year examinations the starboard side of Courtney's heavy crew, considered by him to be the better, has been wiped out and the work of months thrown away simply because, the vetrean coach states, the Faculty failed to co-operate with him, as has been the custom in past years. Coach Courtney declared that he would rather buck the best crew in the country than buck the Cornell Faculty.

Courtney told how, in past years, members of the Faculty had kept him advised of the class room standing of each oarsman. If a crew man was behind in his work Courtney would call him aside, have a heart-to-heart talk with him, and, as a result, the candidate would remain away from the crew room until his scholarship work had been made up. For years, because of this co-operation, the "Old Man" never lost a man from any of his crews.

It had been the dream of the veteran oarsman to round out his career as coach of rowing at Cornell with another of his justly famous clean sweeps.

NICKALLS TAKES CHARGE AT YALE

Rowing Coach Returns to New Haven and Immediately Assumes Direction of Crews.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, March 3.—Yale's crew coaching was today placed in the hands of Guy Nickalls after a lapse of three years due to the war. The former English oarsman arrived here at 1 o'clock this afternoon and took charge of the large and promising squad of oarsmen in indoor machine work an hour later.

This evening he conferred in detail over the situation with George Van Santvoord, the assistant coach, who has directed the coaching since Professor Mather Abbot resigned last November to become head master at Lawrenceville. As Van Santvoord, Nickalls and Abbot are all former Oxford oarsmen, the Yale stroke will suffer no violence through the coaching of the trio during one season.

Nickalls, who gave Yale winning 'Varsity crews in 1914 and 1915, but whose three eights were all defeated by Harvard at New London in 1916, expressed his pleasure at his return to America, but declined to make any extended statement. After Yale suspended athletics in 1917 he entered the English Army as an engineer.

Upon his arrival in New York yesterday he met members of the Graduate Rowing Committee, and tonight conferred with Captain Churchill Peters and Coach Van Santvoord of the present Eli crews.

Berkeley Irving Five Wins.

The basket ball team from Trinity School was no match for Berkeley Irving yesterday afternoon and lost a fast and well-played game, 28 to 10. The home players led throughout the game, assuming a 12 to 4 lead in the first half. Culver and Forsman starred for the winners.

THE WORLD IN REVIEW.

March CURRENT HISTORY MAGAZINE is now on news stands. The important events in all countries of the world are narrated without comment or bias; 208 pages; 25 cents.—Advt.

...and at three historic banquets

A fact:

Within a single week last fall, great civic dinners were tendered at the Waldorf-Astoria to General Pershing, to Herbert Hoover and to Cardinal Mercier. And at all three of these famous banquets, the only cigarette served by the hosts was Fatima.

Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

FATIMA

A Sensible Cigarette

"Just Enough Turkish"

Facts like these make Fatima's place among cigarettes unique. A few years ago, the "proper" thing on such state occasions would have been an expensive, fancy-boxed, straight Turkish cigarette.

Today, things are different.

Men base their choice on taste rather than price. That Fatima should be so clearly the choice of men who can afford anything they like, shows that most smokers really prefer—not too much Turkish tobacco in their cigarettes nor too little—but "just enough Turkish."

Dress Goods Uncertainties.

Quite a few dress goods lines have still to be opened for the Fall 1920 season. The desire of mill representatives to see conditions become more settled is what is holding back many. The cutting up trade as a whole, it is said, has to get a good deal more optimism before it can actually be called happy. The mill agents have not only the gloom of their customers to overcome, but also the unsettlement which is attending the unloading of stocks in second hands on the market.

Are Stouts Overdone?

There was plenty of room for "stout" garments and other accessories a little while back, but those who entered this lucrative trade are now wondering if this branch is not becoming overcrowded. Like every other business that offered quick and profitable returns, there has been a veritable inundation of concerns specializing in slenderizing garments. So much so is this that the question arises in the minds of the pioneers whether "stout making" has not reached its saturation point. It is time now, some of the more humorously inclined believe, to launch designs planned to make "thins" slightly more plump.

Cash Versus Terms.

One reason why retail garment buyers expect to see even some larger reductions made in the prices of the merchandise they buy is because, as one buyer expressed it, "cash speaks louder than it ever did before." As he explained the situation, the garment manufacturers need money because their usual financing sources are no longer available. To offer the usual terms, he pointed out, does the seller no good, for he cannot meet his obligations with obligations incurred by his customers. Consequently, it has grown to be a question of "cash versus credit," and cash will, according to this buyer, be able to drive even harder bargains.

Braided Hats Are Popular.

One of the newest developments in the Spring millinery situation is the demand that has sprung up for interlaced, or braided hats. Interlaced rafia is said to be about the most effective and popular of these. A basketry design of rafia in Egyptian colorings is much liked and is frequently seen in off-the-face and Chin Chin models. Braided or twisted materials combined with straw are making a strong bid for favor. Braided with narrow faille ribbon, celophane is taking on a new lease of life. In one attractive model seen here faille ribbon about an inch wide and of a brilliant menthe green hue is braided with celophane strips about an eighth of an inch in width. No frame is needed to keep it in shape.

Spring Fur Sale Date Set Back.

The opening date of the annual Spring sale of raw furs here has been set back from April 12 to April 19, according to an announcement made yesterday by Norman H. Bacon, President of the New York Fur Auction Sales Corporation, in order to give the buyers at the recent midwinter sale an opportunity to "digest" the merchandise they bought. The last day for receiving shipments of furs to be sold at the coming sale will be Thursday, March 25. Withdrawals from the corporation's warehouses of the skins disposed of at the recent auction have been large, despite the fact that it ended only a week ago yesterday. The finer furs have been the most freely withdrawn.

Intend Sitting Tight.

There are many indications that local piece goods agent are none too sure of the outlook. At present the market seems divided into two major groups. One of these, composed of the lesser manufacturers and the jobbers, appears willing to keep on doing business even though orders in the near future have to be taken at price concessions. The other group is not disposed to let its large profits go by the board. In it are the houses financially able to stand the strain of holding up future operations until conditions become more settled. A representative of the last named group stated yesterday that when present orders are filled he intends to "sit tight and make no more goods until the situation gets straightened out."

South Offers Brisk Trade.

The apathetic trade conditions which spread from the East, took in the Middle West and other sections, has not cast its blight on the South, according to reports from that district. Manufacturers of clothing and women's garments regard the South now as very nearly the one bright spot in the outlook. Salesmen in close touch with conditions there report that cotton growers are very strongly backed in their determination to keep prices high on the staple and that the banking difficulties common to retail enterprise in other sections of the country are not so keenly felt in the South. Clothing at the new Spring price appears to find a fair sale. One retail clothing store which had a record year of it in 1919 is able to show in January and February statements satisfactory gains.

Gray Goods Sales Fair.

Trading was fairly active in the local gray goods market yesterday, the feature being the way in which certain first hands let out March deliveries of 38½-inch 64-60s at 22 cents. Good-sized sales of these cloths were reported at that price. Second hands also sold them. First hands did business in March shipments of 39-inch 68-72s, which brought 23 cents. Nearby 38½-inch 60-48s again fetched 21 cents, principally because of their scarcity. Sixteen cents was paid for March-April deliveries of 5.50-yard sheetings, with 20½ cents the price for 4.70s. Buyers again paid 40 cents for nearby 39-inch 64-104, 4.20-yard sateens. In the fine-yarn cloths additional business was done on 40-inch 88-80, 8.50-yard combed lawns at 57½ cents for shipment during this month and through next.

Imported Drugs Declining.

Imported botanicals have declined in price, Drug and Chemical Markets will say today, owing to the heavy importations. Trading has been confined to small-lot buying. The market is practically bare of wood alcohol and formaldehyde. Caustic soda is higher than in many years and soda ash is also advancing rapidly. Buyers of essential oils are limiting purchases to immediate needs, owing to rail embargoes. Linseed oil futures have advanced sharply following the report of strikes by dock laborers at Rosario and Buenos Aires. In the dyestuffs the shortage if dimethylaniline has caused an advance in price. Stocks of benzol in producers' hands are limited and second hands are charging higher prices. Many of the basic colors are scarce.

To Appeal Raw Silk Ruling.

The ruling of ex-Director General of Railroads Walter D. Hines that shipments of raw silk must be made by express is to be carried beyond the United States District Court in the fight of silk trade interests to have it rescinded. Announcement of an appeal which is being taken to the Circuit Court of Appeals by the interests involved was made yesterday by the Traffic Bureau of the Silk Association of America. It is hoped to obtain a hearing there within the next two weeks. "In the meantime," the announcement says, "whatever may be the technical rights of shippers, we believe they will have to submit to any action on the part of the carriers in refusing to transport silk by freight until a decision is rendered by the Circuit Court of Appeals. If the final outcome of this case should be that our relief lies with the Interstate Commerce Commission, we will then promptly proceed before that body, but it seemed best first to contend that there was no legal sanction to the order in issue."

Aldermen Adopt Budget and Fix Tax Rate at 12 to 16 Points Over Last Year's.

STATE TAX $8,539,156

Property Owners Must Pay Extra Assessment for Street Widening Project.

The Board of Aldermen at a special meeting yesterday adopted the budget for 1920 and fixed the tax rate for the present year. The report of the Finance Committee of the board showed that the amount of the budget for 1920 is $273,689,485.13. The tax rate for the various boroughs, including an assessment of approximately nine points for widening Seventh Avenue and Varick Street, is as follows:

		Inc. Over 1919.
Manhattan	2.48	.16
Bronx	2.53	.16
Brooklyn	2.54	.18
Queens	2.54	.17
Richmond	2.53	.12

The rate in each borough would have been slightly lower, it was explained, but for improvement costs handed down.

The report shows the city's share of the direct State tax this year to be $8,539,-156.37. For city departments, including debt service and deficiencies, the appropriations amount to $256,441,440.16. These two totals constitute the amount which affects and determines the general city tax rate. The remainder of the budget consists of $8,708,888.60 for county expenses. The amount to be raised for city purposes and State taxes after fines and license fees are deducted, is $204,959,536.38.

The assessed valuation of property, real and personal, is as follows:

Co.	Assessed Valuations—Real Estate.	Per. Estate.	Assessment of Property Liable to Taxation for Local City & Country Purposes.
N. Y.	$5,186,771,887	$227,063,350	$5,413,835,237
Bronx	753,308,264	17,211,200	770,519,464
Kings	1,037,811,205	41,192,900	1,079,004,105
Queens	636,409,159	8,792,100	645,201,259
Richmond	111,821,192	2,246,635	114,067,827
Grand total	$8,626,121,707	$296,506,185	$8,922,687,892

The rates of tax to be levied on the assessed valuation on real and personal estates in the five counties and the assessments for local improvements to be collected with the tax are as follows:

	Tax Rate on Real Estate.	Assessments for Local Improvements.	Total on Real Estate.	Tax on Personal Estate.
New York	.0239	.0009	.0248	.0239
Bronx	.0244	.0009	.0253	.0244
Kings	.0243	.0011	.0254	.0243
Queens	.0241	.0013	.0254	.0241
Richmond	.0252	.0001	.0253	.0252

The Charter directs that the amounts required for the payment of all county charges and expenses shall be levied and collected from taxable property within each county to the end that each county shall ultimately bear and pay all expenses necessary for county purposes as distinguished from city purposes. This provision of the law, the report explained, prevents a uniform tax rate for each borough.

DIMMOCK COMPANY ATTACKS SHIP BOARD

Says Bankruptcy Petition Is Unjust and Was Move to Offset Damage Suits.

F. D. Dimmick & Co., Inc., has issued a statement asserting that the involuntary petition in bankruptcy filed against that company on March 2, 1920, by the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation is unjust and without cause and that the firm does not owe one dollar to any creditor. Immediate steps have been taken, the statement says, to vacate the petition and start legal proceedings for damages against those responsible for its issuance.

The statement asserts that the claim of the Emergency Fleet Corporation for $1,500,000 against the shipping company has no just basis and that the bankruptcy proceedings were taken by the Federal organization in an effort to effect the settlement of suits for damages totalling $514,019, which the company has filed against the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

The Dimmick Company says that late in 1918 it opened negotiations with the United States Shipping Board to charter ten wooden vessels at a hire of $25,000 a month for each ship. When the negotiations were opened, it is alleged, the established transatlantic cargo rates of the Shipping Board averaged $66 per ton.

On Jan. 15, 1919, two days after the ten charters were mutually signed, says the Dimmick Company, the Shipping Board announced that its overseas rate had been cut to $28 per ton. The Dimmick Company inferred that the sudden drop in rate had not been altogether fair to them as charterers. They pointed out that the last of the ten steamers was not delivered until the end of July last. After giving a long and detailed account of its transactions with the Emergency Fleet Corporation, chiefly concerning the chartering of ten wooden steamships, the statement concludes:

"It may not be amiss to add that the blunders and mismanagement of the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation are so well known, having been aired in most newspapers, that we feel safe in leaving with the general public the decision as to the outcome of this affair."

FRAUD ON AIRMEN CHARGED.

William P. Snyder Accused by Three Men in the Service.

William P. Snyder, 70 years old, calling himself "General," was arrested yesterday at his home, 961 St. Nicholas Avenue, and locked up in the Tombs charged with having obtained money under false pretenses from hundreds of former service men, aerial pilots, observers and mechanics. Snyder told Assistant District Attorney John T. Dooling he had been a Deputy Attorney General under Garfield and Arthur, and for a time was the personal advisor of Russell A. Alger, Secretary of War.

It is charged that Snyder, with at least three other men not yet arrested, formed the Aerial Transportation Company and induced aviation workers to buy stock in the company. It was represented that big financiers, including the Vanderbilts, were behind it and that the company had a factory at Greenpoint. The specific complaints against Snyder are that he obtained $1,000 from Sergeant Joseph H. Richardson of Gulfport, Miss., $900 from Lieutenant Otis T. Clements, and $200 from Lieutenant Augustus Lesmar. Judge Malone in General Sessions, committed Snyder to the Tombs. Bail was not fixed.

To Bring 12,000 Poles Back Here.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Enactment of legislation permitting the transportation home on army transports of 12,000 Poles who left this country to serve with the Polish Legion during the war was completed today with action by the House. The Poles are now at Dansig, and the first detachment will leave that place Saturday.

ALL WILLED TO CHARITY.

Mrs. Mary Brown's Estate for Homes and Other Benevolences.

Practically the entire estate of Mrs. Mary Brown, who died Feb. 22 last, is left to charitable purposes, according to the will filed for probate in the Surrogate's office yesterday. The petition gives the value of the estate as over $10,000 in real and over $5,000 in personal property.

Personal bequests of $1,000 each are made to the Rev. Charles E. Jefferson and the Rev. William Kirkwood, both of the Broadway Tabernacle. To Mrs. Irene Nott, wife of Clark Nott, manager of the Hotel Somerset, West Forty-seventh Street, is willed the decedent's diamond ring and her personal effects.

The Home for Incurables, Third Avenue and 182d Street, the Bronx, receives a legacy of $7,500; the Congregational Home for the Aged, $2,000, and the Lenox Hill Settlement, 511 East Sixty-ninth Street, $1,000.

Two portions are made of the residuary estate. One goes to the St. Andrew's Society of 105 East Twenty-second Street, to be known as the John Brown Fund, in memory of the testator's father, for the assistance of worthy indigent Scotch people of either sex. The other portion is willed to the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals of Madison Avenue and Twenty-sixth Street.

For Light on Palmer and Sugar.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Representative Tinkham's resolution providing for investigation of the "admitted concurrence of the Attorney General" in approving 17 cents as a maximum price for Louisiana clarified sugar, was reported out today by the House Rules Committee. It will be considered by the House next week.

BUSINESS RECORDS

In Town.

R. T. C. COMPANIES, INC.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against R. T. C. Companies, Inc., at 80 South Street, by Joseph D. Guinea, a creditor for $10,000. Preferential payments are alleged to have been made to Ruben S. Cohen and the International Corporation of Canada.

AETNA AUTO SUPPLY COMPANY, INC.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Aetna Auto Supply Company, Inc., retailer of auto supplies, tires and accessories, at 1,450 Madison Avenue, by Otto Pershitz, a creditor for $925.

LOUIS WECHSLER, merchant, residing at 514 West 126th Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $1,191 and no assets. Petitioner claims that he made an assignment May 15, 1916, with assets estimated to be worth $500, and that the assignee sold the property at auction, but that he does not know what was realized or what disposition was made of the proceeds.

DOLINGER & HEIT—Justice Erlanger of the Supreme Court has granted an application for the appointment of a receiver of the partnership property of Dolinger & Heit, furs, at 56 West Thirty-first Street, ending a suit brought by Isidor Heit against Herman Dolinger, his partner, for an accounting. Herman Dolinger will be appointed on filing a bond of $2,000.

Out of Town.

CINCINNATI, March 3.—Common Pleas Judge Hoffman today refused to appoint a receiver for the Alms & Doepke Company, operating one of the largest department stores in Cincinnati. He also dissolved the injunction granted to prevent the newly elected Board of Directors from carrying on the business. The suit for a receiver was filed by William L. and Robert H. Doepke, ousted Directors.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 3.—John Nielson, a merchant, at 3202 East Ninetieth St., has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities stated at $11,026 and assets $5,121.

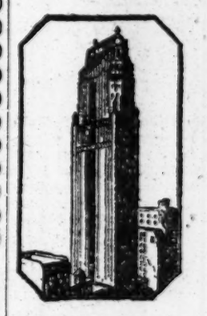
Bush Terminal Sales Building

Merchandise to the value of $400,000 was bought by One Buyer On One Floor In One Day



This transaction took place only a day or two ago.

The buyer was amazed to learn that nearly 1000 sample lines from as many representative manufacturers are shown on the 26 floors of this building.

He bought so liberally because he found here what he needed—what he knew would be delivered.

Come and see what this national market place has to offer you.

To the Public

March 2d, 1920

To whom it may concern:

On Monday, March 1st in these columns we advertised Tricolette Over Blouses at $5.00, $6.00, $6.50, $7.00.

These prices we wish to emphasize constitute one of those rare economic achievements, which is made possible solely through a series of unusually fortunate circumstances.

In fairness to every Retail Store in the Country, we wish to clearly establish in the public mind, that tho we are able to maintain these prices, they in no way reflect the prevailing price standards of Tricolette Over Blouses.

Sincerely,

SENATORS WARNED AT CAILLAUX TRIAL

Bourgeois Threatens to Bar Those Who Join in Demonstrations in the Chamber.

EXCHANGES BECOME BITTER

Crossexamination of Caillaux Ends and Witnesses Will Begin to Testify Today.

PARIS, March 3.—Nettled at the trend of the cross-examination of Theodore Lescouve, Procurator of the Republic, former Premier Joseph Caillaux, on trial before the Senate sitting as a High Court on the charge of having had treasonable dealings with the enemy, displayed a greater feeling of bitterness today than at any time since the trial opened. The spectators and even some of the Senators joined in the applause and countermanifestations that greeted many of his caustic replies to M. Lescouve.

Leon Bourgeois, the presiding officer, immediately warned the Senators that applause or an exhibition of sympathy either for the defense or prosecution would cause him to disbar immediately Senators "guilty of such a breach of conduct becoming to Judges."

M. Caillaux reiterated his previous testimony that James Minotto, son-in-law of Louis F. Swift of Chicago, had been vouched for by Edwin V. Morgan, American Ambassador at Rio Janeiro, whom Caillaux claimed not only introduced Minotto to him but received the latter in his house as a permanent guest.

An incident occurred when M. Caillaux, in replying to M. Lescouve's question as to why he had subscribed 600 francs to the defeatist newspaper Tranchée Republicaine, the editors of which, Jacques Landau and M. Goldsky, are now serving prison sentences for their connection with the Bonnet Rouge affair, said: "Loucheur (Louis Loucheur) at present Minister of Reconstruction, through his agents subscribed 6,000 francs to the same paper."

Several Senators applauded, in which they were joined by numerous spectators in the galleries, while others of the Judges and spectators shouted, "Shame!"

M. Caillaux argued that his activities in America had been thoroughly looked into by the United States Senate committee charged with investigating German propaganda in America. He declared that if he had been associated in propaganda work in the United States or elsewhere with Bolo Pacha, this fact would undoubtedly have been brought out by the Senate committee's inquiry.

Caillaux pointed out that in the report of nearly one thousand pages his name was not mentioned once.

M. Bonet-Maury, the chief clerk of the court, read a long essay, entitled "The Responsible Parties," written by M. Caillaux. In this essay, although placing responsibility for the war upon the former German Emperor, M. Caillaux holds that former President Poincaré shares the responsibility. If M. Poincaré had adopted a different policy, the essay says, war could have been prevented, as it was at the time of the Agadir incident, when Germany's then ruler was quite as anxious to make war as in 1914. (German troops were landed at Agadir, Morocco, in July, 1911, creating international complications which nearly led to war.)

The remainder of the cross-examination dealt with M. Caillaux's trip to Italy and papers seized in his deposit vault in Florence, among which were documents mentioning former Premiers Briand and Barthou.

M. Caillaux's cross-examination having been concluded today, the hearing of witnesses will begin tomorrow.

$6,000,000 Drive Starts Tonight.

At the dinner which tonight will open the ten-day drive for $6,000,000 for the Near East Relief there will be present at the Hotel Biltmore the representatives of seven Mid-European nations and of Armenia. Hamilton Holt, Chairman of the Metropolitan Committee, announced yesterday. Among the speakers are to be Secretary of the Navy Daniels, William G. McAdoo, Henry Morgenthau, Frank A. Vanderlip, Jane Addams, Ogden L. Mills and Cleveland H. Dodge, Treasurer of the Near East Relief.

WANTS PIER LEASE ENDED.

Hirshfield Says Maritime Company's Profits Are Too High.

When Mayor Hylan returns to the city tomorrow he will receive a report from Commissioner of Accounts David Hirshfield recommending that the lease of the Maritime Shipping Company, on Pier 72, East River, at the foot of East Twenty-fourth Street, be canceled in order that the "full profits from the rental of the pier may accrue to the city." The Commissioner said yesterday that he had been investigating the subject for several months.

The Commissioner declared that the Maritime Shipping Company leased the pier at a rental of $40,000 a year in July, 1919, and was not to continue longer than April 30, 1920. From June 1, 1917, until June 1, 1919, it was leased to the United States Government at $30,000 a year. The Maritime Company, Commissioner Hirshfield said, sub-leased the pier to other companies and made large profits. He said that James P. Mylan was a Vice President of the company. Despite all his efforts, he said, he could not get access to the books of the concern, but was convinced that the company was making a great deal in excess of what the city was getting and would, therefore, recommend that the lease be canceled or at least not renewed when it expired on April 30.

CAMELS fit your cigarette desires so completely you'll agree they were made to meet your taste! Flavor, fragrance and mellow-mild-body are so unique, so fascinating, you'll no longer wonder why Camels popularity is universal.

Your test will prove that Camels quality and expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos are a revelation! For, you never puffed such satisfaction from a cigarette in your life!

With Camels you can go the limit without tiring your taste. And, no matter how many you smoke they leave no unpleasant cigaretty aftertaste; no unpleasant cigaretty odor!

Once you get the joy of Camels blend you'll prefer it to either Turkish or Domestic tobacco smoked straight.

You'll have a pretty clever line on why Camels win you so completely if you'll just compare them puff-for-puff with any cigarette in the world at any price. And, you'll know then that you prefer quality to coupons, premiums or gifts!

Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages of 20 cigarettes; or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine-paper-covered carton. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

GOVERNOR URGES FOOD LEGISLATION

Presents in Message to Legislature Measures to Reduce Living Costs.

DEEMS STATUTES FAULTY

He Believes Single Head Presiding Over Farming and Food Interests Is the Only Remedy.

MILK REGULATION FAVORED

Reconstruction Commission Urges Control of the Supply in Larger Cities.

ALBANY, March 3.—Efforts to control and reduce the high cost of living thus far have failed to improve the situation, Governor Smith declared in a message to the Legislature today urging legislation affecting the production and distribution of food. The message accompanied a report on the subject and recommendation for legislation by the Reconstruction Commission.

"The best figures obtainable show that there again has been an increase in the cost of living in the last six months," the Governor wrote. "Whatever may be the merits of Federal control of food problems, I hold that as a State we have not done our duty until we exhaust every means in our power to secure some improvement in matters that so vitally affect the daily lives of our people.

"No one panacea will reduce the cost of living. A patient, many-sided attack must be made upon it. We have food legislation of an advanced type on our statute books, but it is faulty in some respects, and these recommendations for legislation will strengthen the administration of food laws of the State.

"The proposed statute that will make hoarding unlawful is aimed to prevent the withholding from the market of necessary foodstuffs and also the destruction of food when the purpose of such destruction is to enhance the price or restrict the supply. The proposal to license food dealers and to curb unfair trade practices is aimed to control persons and corporations dealing in food in such manner as to assist reputable food dealers and gradually eliminate those who bring discredit on the trade.

"The proposed law relating to the delivery of perishable food aims to salvage every usable bit of fresh food consigned to markets and to minimize litigation concerning it.

"There is also proposed a law grading farm products, and another which would lower the price of eggs by a systematic and careful grading and will control the use in food establishments of eggs which are not fresh. This last law is uniform with laws already enacted in other States and recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture as advisable for all States.

"Existing laws, or the ones I am herein recommending, it seems to me, will avail very little until the agricultural food and farming interests of the State are presided over by a single head with some fixed responsibility, who will actively utilize the statutes and enforce the law to the limit of its powers."

The report of the Reconstruction Commission stated that milk is only one phase of the food problem and "must be considered partly in its relation to food as a whole and not out of proportion to its merits." The commission favored regulation of the distribution of milk in cities of the first and second class.

FOOD CONTROL BILLS FOLLOW SMITH MESSAGE

Measure to Raise Teachers' Pay Throughout State Offered in Legislature's 'Biggest Day.'

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 3.—This has been the "biggest day" in the history of the New York Legislature, over 150 bills being introduced in both Houses. In line with the recommendations of the Governor's message regarding the need of reducing living costs, bills were introduced making hoarding unlawful, shortening litigation relating to the delivery of perishable foodstuffs and grading farm products.

The Kiernan bill makes it unlawful to destroy or unreasonably limit competition in food products by unfair practice, and regulates practice by a commission of seven, to be appointed by the Governor. The Lentol bill provides that no foodstuffs for which a grade has been established shall be sold or packed for sale except in the grade established for it. The Flynn bill requires common carriers to report undelivered perishable food, and the Griffith bill provides for the licensing of dealers in food, not applying to farmers, gardeners or cooperative associations.

A bill to give school teachers throughout the State increased pay was introduced by Senator Charles C. Lockwood, Republican, Chairman of the Senate Education Committee, and Assemblyman Charles D. Donohue, Democratic minority leader. It is expected to pass. It appropriates $25,000,000, grants a 40 per cent. increase to teachers and supervisors receiving less than $2,260 a year, 30 per cent. on salaries up to $4,000 and 20 per cent. on salaries in excess of $4,000. It provides that the State shall pay half.

A joint statement issued by the introducers expressed the belief that the bill would remedy the existing teacher shortage, bring back to the schools the great number of teachers who had left them and attract to the deserted training schools desirable men and women.

A bill aimed at strikes and lock-outs was offered in the Senate by Senator John Knight of Wyoming and by Assemblyman Brady of Buffalo in the Assembly, creating a State court of industrial relations composed of three Commissioners appointed by the Governor who would each receive $10,000 a year. The bill is similar to a Kansas law which has proved efficacious. It empowers the court to supervise the operation of industries governing the production and manufacture of food, clothing and of wood and steel for home construction as well as all common carriers and public utilities. It makes illegal all hindrance to the operation of industries, and industrial disputes would have to be submitted to the court for arbitration. It gives workers the right to bargain collectively, and when an industry is threatened with shutdown the court is permitted to take over operation. Violations would be punishable by a fine of $1,000 or imprisonment up to one year.

A bill requiring motor vehicle owners to file with their applications a bond of $5,000 ensuring payment of judgments in personal injury or property damage cases was introduced by Assemblyman Harvey J. Ross of Kings.

Assemblyman Owen M. Kiernan of New York presented a bill amending the labor law which gives office workers one day of rest in seven and restricts girls over sixteen from working in mercantile establishments or offices more than forty-eight hours a week or eight hours a day. The bill also eliminates the one day of rest provision now provided for elevator runners.

Earthquake Breaks Two Cables in the South Pacific Ocean

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Two earthquakes occurred in the South Pacific Ocean last Saturday, resulting in the breaking of both South American cables, according to information received today in Washington. No further details have reached here.

An examination today of the seismographic records at Georgetown University disclosed that both shocks were recorded there, the first, which was of considerable intensity, at 1:50 P. M. Saturday, and the second at 6:48 P. M. The first continued until 2:25 P. M.

The centres of the disturbances were estimated at 3,800 miles from Washington.

A report on the breaking of the cables, both of which were south of Callao, has been made to the Navy Department by the cable companies.

Asserts That He Finds Universal Desire for Arbitration Before Resort to Arms.

WOULD 'AMERICANIZE' PLAN

Ends Campaign Tour of Michigan with Two Speeches in Battle Creek and Three in Lansing.

Special to The New York Times.

LANSING, Mich., March 3.—General Leonard Wood concluded tonight his campaign tour in this State. In the course of the day he made five speeches, two in Battle Creek and three in Lansing. At each meeting he addressed enthusiastic crowds.

The General spent the morning and most of the afternoon in Battle Creek. There he addressed first 1,000 business men and afterward the members of the Calhoun County Agricultural Organization. Arriving in Lansing, he first addressed an assembly of Lansing business men, after which he talked to the students of the Engineering School. He ended the day with a general meeting in the Lansing Auditorium.

At all of the meetings General Wood emphasized the need of reduced taxation, of a just relationship between capital and labor, a wise and reasonable system of universal training, an "Americanized" League of Nations, increased pay for public school teachers and a "firm and courteous" foreign policy.

General Wood is speaking extemporaneously. When he first began his campaign some weeks ago critics said that General Wood appeared a bit embarrassed in facing his audiences, but with time this has disappeared and his supporters assert that when he meets Senator Poindexter in joint debate in South Dakota three weeks hence the Washington Senator will find himself opposed to a finished debater who will be able to meet every challenge of the experienced speaker and debater from the Coast.

General Biddle Lauds Wood.

Major Gen. John Biddle, who commanded the American troops in England during the war and who is now in command at Camp Custer, spoke at one of the Battle Creek meetings and eulogized General Wood as the pioneer in the preparedness movement. General Wood, he said, is the man to whom the country will always be indebted for the officers' training camps which were organized before our entry into the war and which partially trained the officers who with the regulars formed the foundation upon which was built up the great American officers' force of more than 200,000.

"With regard to the foreign policy of the United States," said General Wood at Battle Creek, "we must adopt a policy that will guarantee the life and property of every American no matter where that American happens to be, so long as that American obeys the laws of whatever country he happens to be in. A little of Colonel Roosevelt's spirit of 'Perdicaris alive, or Raisuli dead' has a very invigorating effect in certain contingencies."

On the League of Nations at Lansing tonight General Wood said:

"I am sure we are all interested in seeing what is going to be done with the League of Nations. As I go over the Central Department, with 40,000,000 people, including Maryland in the East and Utah in the West, I find that there is a general desire to have the League approved with reservations which completely and thoroughly 'Americanize' it, and which leave the United States free to exercise their will through the agencies provided by the Constitution. We want an America that is ready to help a world in trouble, but it must be an America working and acting under the dictates of her own conscience, and under the mandate, and none other, of American public opinion.

Says Sentiment Is for Arbitration.

"There is a very general desire, one might say a universal one, to have the machinery provided for bringing the representatives of the different nations together to talk things over before there is a resort to arms. I think this feeling is very general. It has come out of the great war. There is a feeling that if the parties at issue are honest nothing but good can come from getting together and talking matters over before plunging into the horrible tragedy of war. If one party to the controversy is dishonest it is very apt to be discovered before the discussion has lasted long. So there is a very general and a very broad desire to dispose of this question and turn our attention to the business of the country, and at this time the business of the United States is a very important thing."

General Wood tonight praised the efforts of the War Department to provide vocational training for the soldiers of the regular army, describing the policy as one of the wisest and most liberal ever approved by the authorities at Washington.

"American women," he said to the hundreds of women who greeted him in the auditorium, "have entered the political arena all over this nation, and they are going to play a very important part in it. My advice to them is to go into one of the regular parties, whichever one they believe in, and go in on equal terms with the men. Do not split up into little rainbow groups. If you find your party is not all that it should be, why, do your part in cleaning it up."

North Carolina G. O. P. for Pritchard

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 3.—The North Carolina delegation to the Republican National Convention was instructed by the State Convention here today to cast its vote for Judge Jeter C. Pritchard, of the Federal District Court, for Presidential nominee. John M. Morehead, of Charlotte, was reelected National Committeeman. The convention adopted a resolution indorsing the stand of Republican Senators on the Peace Treaty and league covenant.

REPUBLICAN BATTLE IN ILLINOIS GROWS

Gen. Wood's Manager Declares There Is No Intention to Quit the State.

INVADES COLUMBIA TODAY

To Form League in Dr. Butler's University—Latter Gets Alumni Support.

Before leaving for Pittsburgh yesterday, William Cooper Procter, national campaign manager for General Leonard Wood's nomination for President, declared that the Wood managers have no intention of giving up their fight for popular support in Illinois. He predicted that General Wood would receive a majority in the coming State primaries. Replying to the protest against the decision to enter Illinois, made by the Republican members of the Illinois delegation in Congress, Mr. Procter said:

"I have at no time claimed that the political bosses of Illinois were for Wood, but I have said and still insist that a majority of the voters are. In the preferential Presidential primary in Illinois, in which General Wood is now formally entered, with 5,000 names to his entrance petitions, a majority of the voters will certify Wood to be their preference."

Mr. Procter characterized as unwarranted the declarations of rival aspirants that the Wood boom had "reached its crest and is about to burst." He asserted that the General's candidacy was growing stronger as each day passed.

Word was received at the Wood headquarters in the Hotel Imperial that on a poll of the New Mexico Republican Committee on a resolution indorsing Wood thirty-nine votes were cast for Wood and only four against him. In Mississippi a poll showed General Wood to be a three to one choice, with Lowden running second, Hughes third and Lodge fourth.

"A survey of fourteen Northwestern and Pacific Coast States proved most flattering to Wood," said General Wood's Eastern manager, Congressman Norman J. Gould. "The survey, by an impartial investigator, showed three States to be out and out for Wood, seven States in which Wood is running neck and neck with Johnson, Pershing or Poindexter and four States which will send uninstructed delegates with a strong leaning toward Wood."

Former Congressman Thomas W. Miller, assistant Eastern manager of the Wood campaign, returned to New York for a few hours after visits to Connecticut, New Jersey and Washington, D. C., where he conferred with Senator Moses and other leaders over the Southern situation. He will tour the New England States during the next few days. Everywhere he went, he said, the prospects of Wood's nomination were growing brighter hourly.

The local Wood managers intend to carry their fight for the General's nomination into Columbia University today despite the fact that the university has a Presidential candidate of its own in its President, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler. A Leonard Wood League is to be formed.

At the headquarters of the Butler boom in the Hotel Commodore it was stated that Columbia University alumni all over the country were working enthusiastically for Dr. Butler. Newell B. Woodworth, an attorney of Syracuse, N. Y., and President of the Central New York Columbia Alumni Association, has sent to Dr. Butler a set of resolutions passed by the association, as well as an invitation asking Dr. Butler to speak before the Chamber of Commerce of Syracuse and other civic organizations.

At the Wood headquarters the following telegram was given out:

"The Oregon State Journal, a leading Democratic paper, has taken a poll which gives Wood 997 votes, Johnson 334, Lowden 41, Poindexter 26, Harding 22.

"In Kansas City a poll of visitors from all parts of the country showed 2,115 preferences for Wood, 747 for Lowden, 556 for Johnson, 378 for Allen and 84 for Harding."

WOOD SEEKS OHIO WOMEN.

Harding Managers Also Plan to Ask Their Support in the Prinmaries.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 3.—Ohio politicians have awakened to the fact that women may help pick candidates for the Presidency, and General Wood's supporters are now trying to enlist the women, while Senator Harding's followers are making similar plans. The reason is the passage of a special act by the Ohio General Assembly giving women the right to vote in Presidential preference primaries. The act becomes effective under the referendum on April 20, a week before the primary.

Wood managers plan to let the women have an active part in their campaign.

LABOR PARTY'S PLATFORM.

Central Committee Names Principles for State Convention Delegates.

Plans for the State convention of the American Labor Party, to be held at Schenectady the last week in May, were discussed last night by the Central Committee at the organization headquarters, 123 East Twenty-third Street. A full State ticket will be placed in the field.

Following the meeting it was announced that the delegates to the convention would have to subscribe to the following principles:

"1. Public ownership and operation of all public utilities and natural resources.

"2. Equal economic, political and legal rights for all, irrespective of sex or color.

"3. Immediate and absolute restoration of free speech, free press, peaceful assembly and other civil rights guaranteed by the Constitution."

Plans were also made for a membership campaign through March and April and for enlarging the speakers' training class.

PICK KENTUCKY DELEGATES.

Republican Envoys to Chicago Convention to Go Uninstructed.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 3.—The Kentucky Republican State Convention today indorsed A. T. Hert, Governor E. P. Morrow, Mrs. John Glover South, Frankfort, and Dr. S. H. George, negro, Paducah, as the four delegates from the State-at-large to the Republican National Convention in Chicago. The convention voted that they shall be uninstructed.

Alternate delegates from the State-at-large were elected as follows: S. Green Garrett, Winchester; Dr. Ben L. Bruner, Louisville; Mrs. John W. Langley, Pikeville, and Dr. George F. David, negro, Lexington.

Governor Morrow and Mr. Hert, National Committeeman, and Mrs. South, daughter of the late Senator W. O. Bradley, were indorsed unanimously.

A contest, however, raged more than four hours as to what negro should be selected for fourth delegate at large. Dr. S. H. George, Paducah, won the contest.

Americans Eat 'Too High Up on the Hog' And 'Too Far Back on the Beef,' Packers Say

CHICAGO, March 3.—Southern laborers who are "eating too high up on the hog" (pork chops and ham) and American housewives who "eat too far back on the beef" (porterhouse and round steak) are to blame for the continued high cost of living, the American Institute of Meat Packers announced today.

With the export market for meat shattered by adverse foreign exchange and wholesale prices back to where they were a year or two ago, the American consumer is chiefly responsible for present high prices, the institute's bulletin on February conditions says.

"At home there was a good volume of pork trade during the month," the bulletin says, "but consumers seemed to want the choice and higher priced cuts. High wages in the South have led to purchase of choicer cuts of pork than in former years, and the result is a lack of sale for heavier cuts of salt pork."

Hog prices early in the month were at the highest level of the Winter, with receipts at the yards 15 to 20 per cent. below normal, despite the fact that Government reports show there is probably a large surplus on the farms.

In the beef market a "factor which has had great influence upon the beef trade has been the relatively strong demand for hindquarter beef and the poor demand for forequarter beef," the packers state.

The mutton situation is similar. The report says: "A larger demand from the housewife for cuts from the shoulder and stew meat would help in equalizing prices of all cuts. It would lower the cost of the more expensive cuts and would lead to a better consumption demand for the carcass." There is a shortage of lambs, due to failure of many Colorado stockmen to buy at prices prevailing last Fall, and as a result practically the entire market supply from now until June 1 must come from the Scotts Bluff territory in Nebraska and Colorado, the bulletin says.

PALMER WILL SEEK MICHIGAN'S SUPPORT

Will Enter Democratic Primaries There and Probably in Other States.

BELIEVE McADOO WILL RUN

Politicians See Significance in the Fact That Burleson Favors Former Secretary.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—In his fight for the nomination for President on the Democratic ticket, Attorney General Palmer will enter the primaries in Michigan, as well as Georgia, and probably in other States, it was announced today. He will speak in Michigan and Georgia, but at present does not contemplate a stumping tour of the country in connection with the primary elections.

Mr. Palmer is to give his views on the problems of anti-trust legislation and other campaign issues within a few days. It was stated at the Department of Justice today that the entrance of Mr. Palmer into the race was not to be construed as establishing that President Wilson had made it known he would not accept a third term. Political leaders, nevertheless, are satisfied that Mr. Palmer's activity is pretty satisfactory evidence that Mr. Wilson will not be in the race.

While the intimation is being thrown out in certain quarters that the Cabinet members expect to support Attorney General Palmer almost solidly as the Democratic nominee, a decided rift in this particular lute appeared today, when it became definitely known that Postmaster General Burleson, generally regarded as the most astute politician in the Cabinet, favored the nomination of William Gibbs McAdoo.

Think McAdoo May Run.

This disclosure led to the belief that Mr. McAdoo is about to throw his hat in the ring, perhaps into the Georgia primary fight. Mr. Burleson keeps his ear to the ground possibly as closely as any man in Washington, and it is not believed he would favor the nomination of Mr. McAdoo if the former Secretary of the Treasury did not intend to enter the race. Mr. Burleson is credited with usually knowing what is going on.

The Postmaster General's backing is counted as a strong influence and is regarded with great interest, especially in view of the fact that he has often declared his purpose of taking the Post Office establishment out of politics.

The first headquarters to be established in Washington for a Democratic candidate in the present campaign was opened today in the Bond Building by the Oklahoma delegation to the Democratic National Convention in behalf of Senator Owen of Oklahoma. The principal headquarters of the Oklahoma delegation will be maintained at Oklahoma City.

Troubled by Bailey's Course.

The re-entrance of ex-Senator Joseph W. Bailey into politics as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Texas has produced the most heated political situation that the Lone Star State has known for some time. The Texas delegation in Congress, which is solidly Democratic, is greatly perturbed over the situation. Senator Sheppard, who proposed the national prohibition amendment, has been bitterly attacked by Mr. Bailey, has come out in a statement declaring against the candidacy of the former Senator, but three Texas members of the House have espoused the Bailey cause. Other Texas Representatives have not expressed any sentiment concerning Mr. Bailey's candidacy, and are being made the targets for friends and opponents of Bailey, who demand that they shall declare themselves.

Ex-Senator Bailey is making his primary campaign mainly on opposition to the policies of the Wilson administration. He charges the President with socialistic radicalism and extravagant conduct of the war, and criticizes him severely for his espousal of prohibition and woman suffrage, asserting that the prohibition and suffrage amendments are infringements on the rights of the States.

Mr. Bailey's attacks on President Wilson are resented by friends of the Administration. Senator Owen, of Oklahoma, came out today in a statement scoring Bailey for his present course and his record in the Senate.

"I think he is trotting true to form," said Senator Owen. "For some years I have thought of him as a stalking horse for the Republicans."

Senator Owen charged that when the Republicans in 1911 wanted to bring New Mexico into the Union, with two Republican Senators Mr. Bailey led the fight for them, while he voted against the admission of Arizona with two Democratic Senators assured.

ST. PAUL'S BOILERS HALT HER VOYAGE

American Liner Forced to Turn Back to Halifax Owing to Tube Trouble.

SHE WAS 1,000 MILES AT SEA

Passengers Will Be Conveyed to Europe on the Canada and the Cedric.

The American liner St. Paul, which sailed from New York at 3 o'clock last Saturday, with 150 first and 586 third class passengers, and mails for Plymouth, Cherbourg and Southampton, developed boiler trouble when she was nearly 1,000 miles East of Sandy Hook, and is returning to Halifax, according to a radio message sent yesterday to the International Mercantile Marine Co., the owners of the line, by Captain Arthur R. Mills, commander of the vessel. The message read:

"Engineers having trouble with boiler tubes; returning to Halifax, which we expect to reach Friday A. M.—Commander."

"Before the St. Paul sailed from New York," said P. A. S. Franklin, president of the company, last night, "everything that human skill could devise was done by expert marine engineers and boiler makers. Several new tubes were put into her boilers, and they were put under the hydrostatic test, which is 150 per cent. of pressure. Mr. Carstairs, the chief engineer, is the most experienced engineer in the company's employ and Mr. Harris, his first assistant, was chief engineer of the St. Paul on her last voyage in May, 1918. Captain Mills is one of the best known and most skillful navigators in the Atlantic trade.

"Directly the news was received from the ship today by wireless, instructions were sent to the International Mercantile Marine Company's agents to hold the Canada now in that port, to take the third-class pasengers from the St. Paul when she arrives on Friday morning and as many of the first-class pasengers as she can accommodate. The remainder will be placed on board the White Star liner Cedric which sails from New York at noon on Saturday and should arrive at Halifax late on Sunday. They will be conveyed to Liverpool on those steamships and the passengers booked for the continent will be sent on from that port by the company's agents there.

"Any passengers on the St. Paul who may wish to return to New York from Halifax will be furnished with transportation by our agents there."

Among the 150 first class passengers, 97 men, 47 women, and 6 children, was Dr. Eusebio Ayola, who was Paraguayan Minister to France, and was on the Atlantic City recently to represent his Government at the Pan-American Financial Conference, William C. Reick, adviser to Frank A. Munsey, proprietor of The Sun and New York Herald, and his daughters, the Misses Margaret and Carrie Reick, Harry Elmer, theatrical manager, and Gustav Amberg, formerly Director of the Irving Place Theatre.

This is the first voyage made by the St. Paul since April, 1918, when, through the work of a spy, she turned over on her side at the end of Pier 6, North River, after coming from the drydock, leaving the cover of the ash hoist off after it had been put into its place by the engineers. After being raised and pumped out the liner was renovated throughout.

After April, 1917, the St. Paul was armed with six six-inch guns and carried 600 to 700 American naval and military officers as passengers each eastbound voyage and ran the gauntlet of the submarine zone without an accident at an average speed of eighteen knots. She is a twin screw vessel of 10,230 gross tonnage, 535 feet 5 inches long and 63 feet beam.

HARDING SPEAKS IN TEXAS.

Said to be First Republican Candidate Ever to Campaign There.

FORT WORTH, Texas, March 3.—Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio, candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, set a precedent in Southern politics today by campaigning in Texas. He is declared to be the first Republican Presidential candidate ever to campaign in person in this State.

Senator Harding spoke at the Chamber of Commerce. He was welcomed to the city by a committee composed of Democrats and Republicans. He went to Dallas late today.

Women Win Place on Dakota Ballot.

BISMARCK, N. D., March 3.—Women are entitled to places on the ballot for the North Dakota preferential primary, March 16, under a unanimous opinion rendered today by the State Supreme Court. The court granted an application by Mrs. M. A. Rudd of Fargo for a writ of mandamus ordering the Secretary of State to place her name on the ballot as a candidate for delegate to the Republican National Convention.

CAN THE INCOME TAX BE SIMPLIFIED?

NOBODY is 100 per cent. sure of filling out an income tax blank correctly.

Even the experts differ on the interpretation of the law.

Why is the procedure so complex? Will it be possible for Congress to simplify the methods of collecting the tax?

The subject is uppermost with Federal taxpayers now, because the blanks must be filled out before March 15.

NEW STOCK THEFTS OVERSHADOW 'NICKY'

New York Detectives Reaching for Leaders of Criminal Band, Says Dooling.

CALLS LOSSES "AMAZING"

Arnstein Suspected of Only Minor Part, He Asserts—Wife Seeking Bail for Fugitive.

John T. Dooling, Assistant District Attorney, revealed last night that detectives and officials of District Attorney Swann's staff are investigating a new series of recent stock thefts in the financial district, and that their quest overshadows the search for "Nicky" Arnstein. He said that Arnstein, who failed to surrender himself in General Sessions yesterday, was suspected of having played a part in these thefts, but that it was insignificant compared with that of criminals now sought by New York detectives in this and other cities.

Mr. Dooling laid his hand on a ledger on his desk and said: "This book contains astounding information about the new series of thefts, but nothing will be made public until detectives who left this office today arrest certain men."

He said the aggregate of losses through thefts of securities in the financial district had been greatly increased in the last few weeks, and that the total was amazing. He explained that in several thefts reported in that period brokerage houses had only recently discovered they had been victimized. He said that in other cases brokers had learned of their losses only when stolen securities were pledged with them as collateral. In some cases, he said, brokers who had accepted the stolen securities had either returned them to the owners or sent them to the District Attorney's office.

Not the Central Figure.

"Arnstein is by no means the central figure in these thefts," said Mr. Dooling. "His absence, however, has greatly aided us in obtaining information about others who directed the thefts. His flight on Lincoln's Birthday and the offer of his attorney to take detectives to him in some city near Cleveland, Ohio, led us to send additional detectives to the Cleveland district in the last few days to run down 'fences' in which we have reason to believe large blocks of securities have been hidden.

"Those detectives have been reporting frequently to Deputy Police Commissioner Lahey and he has sent their reports to District Attorney Swann. In checking up these reports with evidence we already had in the Arnstein and other cases, we have run across a trail which we are certain will produce very gratifying results.

"Whether Arnstein surrenders tomorrow, or any other day, is of little interest to us now. We know he will be arrested in a short time anyway."

Dooling was asked if Arnstein simply was one of several men used by a central group of international criminals as a "go-between" for those who actually stole the securities and the persons who are disposing of them in banks and brokerage houses in this country, Canada and Europe.

Detectives Find Evidence.

He refused to discuss that phase of the matter, but said that within the last ten days detectives in this and other cities had obtained evidence corroborating the statements of Irving and Joseph Gluck and Herbert and Rudolph Bunora, who, with "Big Bill" Furey, are in the Tombs, in connection with the $5,000,000 bond plot.

William J. Fallon, counsel for Arnstein, called on Dooling yesterday in the Criminal Courts Building and said that "Nicky" would return in a few days to surrender in General Sessions.

He said the delay in "Nicky's" surrender was due to the inability of Fannie Brice, wife of the fugitive, to arrange for the $100,000 bail to be demanded for him. Miss Brice, he said, called on several of her friends in the theatrical district during the day to enlist their aid in obtaining indemnity demanded by a surety company. Fallon said he had been informed that Arnstein is about ten hours' ride from this city, and is waiting for word from his wife before starting back.

MORE ARRESTS FOLLOW NEW RAIDS IN DUBLIN

Larkin's Lieutenant, O'Brien, Is Taken—Armed Band Seizes Viscount French's Letters.

DUBLIN, March 3.—The military and police today raided Liberty Hall, the headquarters of Larkin's transport workers; Banba Hall, headquarters of the Grocers' Assistants' Organization, now on strike; the Gaelic League offices, the rooms of the Leinster College of Irish and numerous private houses.

The principal arrest already known is that of William O'Brien, leader of the transport workers, who was prominent in the corporation and recently successfully demanded the removal of the mace and sword.

Thomas Hunter, Sinn Fein Member of Parliament for Northeast Cork, also was arrested, together with his partner, Peter Clancy, in the tailoring business under the style "Republican Tailors."

The theft of the letters of Viscount French, the Lord Lieutenant, and other Government officials, which were taken from a mail van by armed men today, has caused great excitement at military and police headquarters. All the houses in the district have been searched and numerous arrests made, though the letters and other mails have not yet been discovered.

Practically every house in Eccles Street is occupied by the military.

QUEENSTOWN, Ireland, March 3.—A large force of infantry, fully armed, with seven officers, and police today surrounded the Rushbrooke docks and held up and searched three hundred workers, from manager to messenger boy.

Every department of the docks was searched with the object of finding recently stolen military rifles.

DUBLIN, March 3.—The killing of three persons in various parts of Ireland has been reported in the past twenty-four hours.

Frank Shawe Taylor, a landowner, was shot dead at Athenry, County Galway, this morning; an unknown man died as the result of wounds received in Dublin yesterday evening, and Robert Marsh was killed at Cork last night by a party of armed men.

BELFAST, March 3.—A score of armed men entered the Kincasslough, County Donegal, railway station Tuesday night shortly before the arrival of the Londonderry train, seized the station master and porter, bound them with rope and placed them in the waiting room.

When the train arrived the raiders pulled their revolvers, boarded the engine and placed the engineer and fireman under arrest and then sacked the train. The passengers were not molested. The cash box on board the train was the only booty secured.

Attempts to Kill Friedrich, Hungarian Minister of War

BUDAPEST, March 2 (Associated Press).—An attempt was made this morning to assassinate Stephan Friedrich, former Premier, and Minister of War in the present Hungarian Cabinet.

Several shots were fired at the War Minister's motor car as he was crossing the Elizabeth Bridge shortly before noon. Herr Friedrich was not injured, however.

The War Minister's assailant escaped in an automobile held in readiness.

DEMAND SEIZING KAISER'S FORTUNE

Majority Socialists Would Leave to Hohenzollerns Maintenance Allowance Only.

ASSAIL PLAN OF DIVISION

Government's Settlement Project Goes to Committee After a Clash in Diet.

BERLIN, March 2.—The fight to deprive the former Emperor of his properties and fortune began in earnest today, when the motion of the Majority Socialists of the Diet to refer the issue to the National Assembly precipitated an acrimonious debate.

The Majority Socialists vie with the Independents in denunciation of the former ruler in an effort to defeat the proposed settlement by accomplishing the confiscation of the Hohenzollern possessions. This would be done through constitutional amendment, voting the former Emperor a fixed sum for his maintenance.

Deputy Graef, a Majority Socialist, declared that the ex-ruler had failed to live up to the historic precedents of his race. He had not died at the head of his troops. He chose, instead, the Deputy continued, a midnight flight to Holland, where "he is now promenading and sawing wood."

The Deputy expressed doubt as to whether the former Emperor had subscribed to war loans, as had been asserted, while his claim that he had been the guardian of peace had been disproved by his continuous rattling of the sword and proclamations of the mailed fist.

The Democrats and the Clericals joined in voting for the Government's measure providing that the settlement be referred to the Committee of Judiciary. The committee now takes the bill under advisement, and conferences are expected to last many weeks.

The motion of the Majority Socialists providing for action by the National Assembly has been temporarily tabled.

Party Conflict Over Royal Wealth.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, March 1 (via Copenhagen).—The reactionary elements are determined to risk another trial of strength tomorrow, when the proposed agreement will be placed before the Prussian National Convention by which the House of Hohenzollern will be compensated for its claims against the Prussian and German States as a result of the handing over to the State of its former royal estates, castles, goods and chattels.

The Democratic Party is determined to retire from the Government rather than permit the Hohenzollerns to be compensated as proposed, and at a meeting tonight it was decided that all Socialist members must make every effort to have the Hohenzollern compensation question transferred to the German National Convention, which may expropriate without compensation if the welfare of the State demands it.

Socialists assert that the Crown ceased to exist Nov. 9, 1918, and that therefore no rights can be deduced from the Crown privileges. They favor giving the Hohenzollern families enough to live on decently, but they will not tolerate a family of possible future pretenders to the Crown and endow them in advance with fabulous sums with which some day they might finance civil war against the republic.

These arguments the reactionary parties will meet tomorrow by holding that the sanctity of private property is recognized by the Socialists. They will not acknowledge that this is not a question of private property and they will ask all the wealthy classes to come to their aid.

A few days ago the "Society of Catholic German Noblemen," despite the fact that many of its members are also members of the Centrist Party, which is sharing the responsibility for the Republican Government, adopted a program which says that "monarchist principles must be cultivated and the restoration of the monarchy by legal means must be our unswerving aim."

SEEK CELLAR FIRE SUSPECT.

Six Hundred Tenants Routed in Three Early Morning Blazes.

Cellar fires in three crowded tenements sent 600 persons into the streets early yesterday morning, gave a 15-year-old boy a start on his ambition to be a fireman and caused the police to start an investigation of incendiarism in connection with one of the fires.

The first fire was in a storeroom in the eight-story elevator tenement at 209-211 Forsyth Street. Mrs. Gussie Glickman, on her way from her flat to that of her sister, Mrs. Tillie Berman, saw a man in the second floor hall. She asked what he was doing. He asked her if she didn't smell smoke. She said she didn't. In a few minutes, however, she found the hall full of smoke.

The fireman had hardly put out this fire when they were called to another basement blaze, at 78 Forsyth Street, a six-story tenement housing twenty-two families, about two blocks from the first fire. Smoke in the hallways made it almost impossible for the tenants to escape.

An employe of a car barn at Ninth Avenue and Fifty-third Street turned in an alarm when he saw smoke coming from the ground floor of the tenement at 828 Ninth Avenue. When the firemen arrived virtually all of the tenants had fled to the street. A few were rescued from the fire escapes on upper stories.

James Toussient, 15 years old, living with his grandmother, Mrs. Mary O'Donnell, on the second floor, heard the call of fire. He felt his chance to be a fire hero had come. He opened the door and saw flames darting up the stairs. Realizing escape by the stairway was cut off, he rushed to the rear of the floor and into the apartment of Mrs. Katherine Graham and her niece, Miss Helen Fogarty. Through the smoke the boy led the two women into his grandmother's apartment and thence to the fire escape, where they made their way down to the street. The damage, according to Battalion Chief King, who responded to the second alarm, was about $5,000.

STRIKES DISTURB MANY COUNTRIES

Nation-Wide Walkout of Highway Transport Workers Is Threatened in Britain.

MEDIATION EFFORT FAILS

Railroad Employes in France Called Upon to Prepare to Enforce New Demands.

ANARCHIST RIOTS IN MILAN

Labor Troubles Also Afflict or Threaten Cities in Spain, Denmark and India.

LONDON, March 3.—Great Britain is threatened with a nation-wide strike of highway transport workers, involving 150,000 to 170,000 men. The movement would seriously affect the distribution of food.

The headquarters of the National Federation of Transport Workers has authorized the local executives to hand in strike notices because of the employers' refusal to the men's demands for an increase in pay of ten shillings per week.

A conference held yesterday at the Ministry of Labor, in an effort to compose the difficulty, proved abortive, but it is still hoped that at the last minute newly inaugurated negotiations will enable a settlement to be brought about. The railways, the tram car lines and the bus services would not be affected.

Two hundred tin plate mills were made idle today through strikes. Sixty thousand men are now affected by the South Wales steel strike.

PARIS, March 3.—Delegates of the Paris labor unions met this afternoon to consider what action should be taken regarding the dismissal of a number of union employes by the railroads.

The delegates adopted resolutions calling upon the railway employes to be ready to respond to another strike order in case the dismissed men are not reinstated immediately.

MILAN, March 3.—eBcause of violent opposition of the anarchist element to the joint order, issued by the socialist and labor organizations for a return to work, the general strike which began suddenly yesterday afternoon, still continues. The tramwaymen have had to desert their cars and thousands of workpeople have been forced to march out of great factories.

Several arrests were made this evening. A determined attack was directed on the Labor Chamber headquarters by an anarchist mob 1,000 strong.

The agitation is headed by the revolutionary veteran, Malatesta, who after last years' amnesty returned to Italy from his long exile in London.

At a monster meeting in the Napoleon Arena today Maltesta urged upon the workers the necessity of taking forcible possession of the big industrial establishments in their own interests.

MADRID, March 3.—The Roman Catholic Syndicate at Oviedo announced today that its members would strike unless their wages are increased. The barbers of Cordova struck today.

COPENHAGEN, March 2.—Danish dock workers have refused to unload Dutch ships or handle Dutch goods in the harbor of Copenhagen, taking the stand out of sympathy for striking Dutch workers.

JAMALPUR, Bengal, Feb. 25.—Thirty thousand employes of the Tata Iron and Steel Works here went on strike today.

RISING IN PORTUGAL REPORTED IN SPAIN

Striking Workmen Said to Have Proclaimed a Soviet Republic.

MADRID, March 3.—Reports from the Portuguese frontier today declare that the workmen in Portugal have proclaimed a Soviet Republic. The postal, the telegraphic and other workers are said to have joined the railroad men in the move.

Telegraphic communication with Portugal is interrupted, but the Spanish officials consider the rumors of a revolution as alarmist. They do not, however, fail to take into consideration the seriousness of the extensive strike movement and its possibilities.

The Portuguese Minister informed The Associated Press that dispatches, dated midnight from Lisbon, asserted that the strike on the railroads was confined to those belonging to the State. The private lines are still running.

A strike of all the employes on the Portuguese railroads was announced in a dispatch from Tuy, Spain, on the Portuguese border, Tuesday. The strike began Monday night. The message said it was believed all the postal and telegraphic employes would strike in sympathy with the railroad men, who were demanding an increase in wages.

Professional Dealings Bring Slight Changes in Stock Quotations—Rails Sag.

The quality of dealings in yesterday's stock and bond market could be studied from many angles without discovering any dominant point of interest. Dullness prevailed throughout the day and the professional traders confined their activities to a rather limited number of issues as far as stocks were concerned. An effort to bid up the oil shares in the morning appeared to arouse a fair amount of short covering, which imparted considerable strength to this group for a time. But there was no sustained movement anywhere, and an irregular closing reflected merely a give-and-take process in which public participation had small part. When traders who had bought railroad stocks previous to the enactment of the railroad law sought to take profits they found a thin market and quotations receded easily. Call money stood firmly at 10 per cent. The hardening tendency of money rates in advance of income tax payment day was disclosed in a stiffer tone of commercial paper and time loans on collateral, the former commanding 7 per cent. for the first quality of six months bills.

The sagging of railroad stocks and uncertain changes of railroad bonds in the last few days has not been surprising in the light of circumstances. In final analysis the prosperity of the carriers rests with the Interstate Commerce Commission, and until this body makes clear some of its intentions in respect to rates the roads will not know with surety how their future may be envisioned. As there is a mass of preliminary work to be done before the roads can find opportunity to apply for rate increases to take effect later in the year, it would seem as though sentiment in regard to railway securities would, perforce, be slow in taking definite and permanent form. It is more than possible that early impressions of events expected to occur during the ensuing six months may be altered considerably. In this period the roads, if they so elect, may receive the standard return of the days when the Government rented the properties. There is a chance, however, that some of the roads of comfortable earning power will decide to go it alone, leaning upon their individual incomes rather than accepting a smaller revenue under the auspices of the Treasury. Should independence of this character be displayed there will be supplied a test of railway efficiency under handicaps of a transition period which not only will show forth the strength of individual companies, but will also afford studies for the Interstate Commerce Commission as it prepares a rate structure for the country as a whole.

When one grows blue over discussion of a slowing down of domestic business, it is refreshing to refer to the steel and iron trade. Here surveys tell of an urgent pressure of orders, which thus far in the year have been tempered to a moderate degree only by talk of a slowly growing conservatism among buyers. In February there were more iron furnaces in operation than in any month since February last year. The Iron Trade Review reports a daily output last month of 102,547 tons on the average, compared with 97,172 tons in January and 84,741 tons in December. Inquiries for new railroad equipment on a broad scale are engaging the attention of steel makers whose bookings of orders are already filled beyond the middle of the year.

Sterling exchange was strong, demand bills getting up to 3.47 at the highest point of the day. This was 11¼ cents to the pound above last week's minimum rate. The other exchanges recorded only slight changes.

GAIN IN PHONE INCOMES.

New England and Canadian Bell Companies Show Increases.

The report of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company for last year shows a net income of $5,424,934, as compared with $5,002,718, an increase of $422,216. Operating revenue for the year is shown to have been $12,928,014, as compared with $14,300,804, while gross income decreased $661,200 to $3,273,140. The increase in net was due to the item of $2,835,125, which was set down as Government compensation for supervision, control and operation of the properties for five months in 1918 and seven months in 1919. This amount was characterized as "paid and to be paid."

The report of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada for the year ended Dec. 31, 1919, which has just been made public, shows gross earnings amounting to $14,149,120, as compared with $12,227,545 in 1918. Net was $2,153,324, as compared with $2,104,688 and the balance after interest charges was $1,483,116, as compared with $1,542,634. After the payment of $1,440,000 in dividends there was a surplus of $43,116, as compared with $102,634 in the preceding year.

DU PONT SALES DROP $223,683,000 IN 1919

Progress Reported in Converting Munitions Company Into Industrial Factor.

EARNINGS ARE STILL LARGE

Investments in Other Companies Profitable—31,580 of War-time Employes Retained.

The annual report of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Company for last year records the first full year of peace activity since the close of the war and indicates to a marked degree the progress made in converting the great munition making company into an industrial factor to supply peace requirements. Both as to gross business and net income available for dividends there is a sharp falling off from the war period.

The net sales last year were $105,437,932, as compared with $329,121,607 in the report of 1918. The net receipts of $43,098,074 in 1918 were the equivalent of $67 a share on the common stock after provision for dividends on the debenture stock. The net in the report just issued was $17,682,991 and after debenture dividends this was equivalent to $23.86 a share on the common.

However, account must be taken of the investments of the company in other and subsidiary companies. The income statement includes only dividends received from such subsidiaries and in no way reflects the undivided profits accruing to such stocks. In the past earnings on investment stocks did not amount to any considerable item and usually reference to them was omitted. The present balance sheet, however, shows that securities held for permanent investment amount to $63,536,896, as compared with $18,842,595 in the 1918 report. For the year 1919 the estimated undivided profits accruing to the principal stockholdings of the company, not reflected in the consolidated income statement, amount to $16,105,713, which is equivalent to $27.37 a share on the common stock. The estimated excess in net asset values of the principal stockholdings of the company, over and above the values at which such stocks are carried on the books, amounted to $33,126,623 on Dec. 31, 1919, which is equivalent to $56.29 a share of common stock.

Earnings of Motors Corporation.

The largest of these items is that accruing by reason of the earnings of the General Motors Corporation. The company owns through its subsidiary, du Pont American Industries, 238,504 shares of General Motors Corporation common stock, and 159,111 shares of Chevrolet Motor Company common stock. Since the Chevrolet Motor Company owns stock in the General Motors Company in an amount which makes each share of Chevrolet Motor Company represent 1.3195 shares of General Motors Corporation stock, this investment really represents 209,932 shares of General Motors Corporation common stock. The total cost of these 448,456 shares to the company was $48,758,252.53.

No dividends were received from these securities in 1919 by the du Pont Company, though $2,669,430 was received by its subsidiary, the du Pont American Industries, whereas it is estimated, based on the first eleven months of 1919, that the earnings accruing to this stock for the year 1919 will be $13,815,549.53 over and above the dividends received by the du Pont American Industries.

In explaining the company's investment in General Motors the report says:

"It is opportune here to call your attention to the origin of this investment. Your Vice President, Mr. J. J. Raskob, with extraordinary foresight, interested himself as early as 1915 in the General Motors Corporation to the extent of becoming a large stockholder and Director in that company, and by exercising great perseverance was able to convince the Directors of your company that the very unusual step of making a huge investment in an industry largely foreign to its business was warranted by the opportunities afforded thereby.

"The earnings on General Motors Corporation stock for the year 1919, after setting aside a suitable amount for excess profits tax, will be about $37 a share, and the value of your company's investment as measured by the present market quotations has more than doubled since its acquisition. This statement is perhaps stronger than any commendation of Mr. Raskob's work which could be made in this report."

The company's consolidated statement shows a surplus of $71,741,304.41, of which $3,440,413.74 was added during the year, after the payment of $3,648,822 as a 6 per cent. dividend on the debenture stock, and $10,593,756 as an 18 per cent. dividend on the common stock.

Munitions Contracts Cancelled.

Munitions contracts with the United States Government were cancelled immediately after the signing of the armistice, and since that time continued efforts have been made to reach a settlement of the claims against the Government. The total amount of these claims is $27,595,377.18, against which the company holds advance payments amounting to $20,758,088.03. The Government's system of auditing claims, it is stated, indicates that it will be some time before all items can be adjudicated.

As a result of entering into the production of goods other than explosives, the company has been able to retain 31,580 of its war-time employes and has been able to receive the indirect benefit of many more who have gone to the General Motors and other corporations in which the company holds substantial interests.

At the new dye plant at Deepwater Point the company is manufacturing successfully a large number of the complicated dyes formerly made in Germany only. Conspicuous success, it is asserted, has been made in the manufacture of synthetic indigo and camphor, and it is expected that this important new industry will be developed rapidly.

The company continued the distribution of stock under its bonus plan, and at the end of the year awarded common and debenture stock costing $857,336.89 to 1,356 employes. Under the stock subscription plan employes subscribed for 11,271 shares of the debenture stock. The number of stockholders has reached the total of 8,137, of whom 3,613, or 44 per cent., are employes. The company will continue the administration of its pension plan, and instead of charging the outlay to current operations has set aside a reserve of $1,400,000 as a contingent liability to cover such portion of prospective future pension payments as are required by pensions already granted.

FAVOR LICENSING OF STOCK BROKERS

DEALERS WELCOME PLAN

Officials Also Pleased with Method to Curb Fakers and Aid Legitimate Operators.

Opinion in the financial district yesterday regarding the introduction of the Slacer bill at Albany for the licensing of dealers in stocks and other securities was generally favorable, and among the more conservative dealers even enthusiastic. The latter are glad of any provisions for the elimination of the thieving promoter of worthless securities and intimate that they would be glad to see corrective legislation passed for the protection of the public and themselves.

At the same time there were those who were inclined to withhold approval of the new bill until they could have the opportunity of studying it. That the licensing of dealers which would follow the taking of evidence that each individual applying for such license was a responsible citizen, dealing in worthwhile securities, would be a step forward, is generally considered as obvious, but as one well known dealer said:

"Theoretically it is easy to put down on paper a plan which apparently would eliminate the crook and fake stock jobber, but the application of such a plan is another matter. This plan may leave no loophole for the undesirable dealer, but that is a point to be proved later."

Assistant District Attorneys Edwin P. Kilroe and John T. Dooling, in charge of the Bureau of Commercial Frauds of the District Attorney's office, said yesterday that although they had not read the provision of the Slacer bill, they welcomed any legislation providing for the licensing of stock brokers.

"Any legislation requiring a man posing as a broker to register information as to his business and previous record is a step in the right direction," said Mr. Dooling. "An honest broker has nothing to fear from it, in fact, such legislation should be an asset to legitimate stock operations in curbing the powers of blue-sky promoters. At present we find any crook or any man discharged from prison can set up an office in Wall Street or along Broadway and pretend he is a broker. Then, when customers are fleeced, they lose confidence not only in the wild cat broker, but in legitimate stocks as well.

"By compelling all brokers to file bonds and take out a license before they can transact business, the fakers will run to cover, and the investing public can have confidence in their dealings with licensed brokers."

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Pennsylvania Holdings of S. P. Stock.

Notice that the Pennsylvania Railroad had sold an additional $7,900,000 par value of Southern Pacific stock in 1919 as contained in the annual report showed that of the original $38,292,400 par value of Southern Pacific shares held by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company the Pennsylvania Company and affiliated concerns has been decreased through the sale of the shares, chiefly in 1918 and last year, to $7,753,800. This is held by the Pennsylvania Railroad alone. No price at which the sale of stock was made was disclosed in the annual report, but it is assumed generally that the average was a good one. In 1919 Southern Pacific sold as high as 115, with the low in the neighborhood of 92. In the preceding year the range was from 80½ to 110.

The New Rail Wage Tribunal.

The President's letters to labor men and the railway executives urging quick action on the suggestion to him of the men who are to represent them on the board, as provided for in the new railroad legislation, were interpreted in the financial district yesterday to mean that he has made his choice of the three men who will represent the public under the new arrangement. It was also generally believed that labor has chosen its representatives, but regarding the executives' representatives to be suggested there was some doubt, as the railroads are now so busy re-establishing private organization that it would not be surprising if few men in the railroad world would accept such an appointment. At the same time it is believed that representative, broad-minded executives will be prevailed upon to accept eventually.

British Railway Deficit.

The news from London to the effect that the British Government has reported a deficit from operations in December caused little surprise. The statement shows for the month a deficit of £3,763,963. In the nine months ended with December the statement shows a credit of £7,152,018. The liability of the British Government under the existing control guarantee is £7,839,153 and for the nine-month period £31,013,582.

Low-Priced Rails React.

It looked very much yesterday as if the rumors which were prevalent on Tuesday that pool buying had much to do with the recent advance in these low-priced rail issues were true. Most of the issues which had enjoyed substantial advances last week turned heavy about midday, and those which had enjoyed the most substantial gains moved to lower levels, several of them closing with net losses of from fractions to more than 1 point. As rumor had it yesterday, the pools bought the shares in the belief that President Wilson would not veto the Railroad bill and then sold their stocks when he signed it or immediately thereafter.

Soldier Bonuses.

The proposals to pay bonuses to the soldiers are worrying bond men considerably, because nobody seems to know how the thing is to be done, and it is feared that in the doing the whole bond market, including that for United States Government bonds, will be upset. If bonds are distributed among the soldiers the resultant sales are likely to throw all investment values over, while the attempt to float a new Government issue in the open market at this time would be likely to have almost as bad an effect. Either way bond experts see great possibilities of harm.

Tax Levies.

A banker who has given considerable thought to the subject suggests that rather than issue bonds, either through the market or directly to the soldiers, some special tax be levied, the proceeds to be used to help retire the war debt, and that all soldiers and sailors be totally exempted from this tax. In this way, he believes, the "reapportionment" of the war cost would be distributed equitably. Those who gave personal service—the men who did the actual fighting—would not be asked to bear part of the burden which should fall on those who did not give personal service. If bonds are sold or distributed, they will have to be paid for ultimately out of general Treasury funds, which are got through taxes from all the people.

Anglo-French Bonds.

The Anglo-French bonds sold at 98 yesterday, the best price they have touched on the present rise, which started a few weeks ago when the bonds were around 93½. The buying has been of the variety which bond men call "good," and the demand appears yet to be filled. At yesterday's price the yield was down around 9½ per cent., as against a field of about 14 or 15 per cent. when the advance started. One man yesterday remarked that the bonds were "in line" with the money market. The bonds have a little more than seven months to run, and loans on collateral of the same kind of bonds are being made on about this basis for seven months—that is, when they are being made at all.

Britain's Exports.

The imports at the Port of New York for January included goods valued at $35,900,000 from England. Similar imports here in January, 1919, amounted to only $6,600,000. There is an increase in Britain's exports to this port of 444 per cent. That is not the real increase from the Englishman's point of view, however, for in January, 1919, the pound sterling, into which he converted his dollars, was worth $4.76, whereas in January of this year it was worth only about $3.60. Thus, if the dollars for each month are translated into sterling at these rates, the gain for British exports into the Port of New York was really 620 per cent., for the Englishman's $35,900,000 bought him £9,972,200 this year, against £1,386,500 in January, 1919.

Oil Shares Strong.

While the market has been dull recently there has been a noticeably strong tone to the oil shares and these moved forward yesterday, Texas Company, Mexican Petroleum and Pan American Petroleum all showing substantial gains. The buying in the oils is apparently influenced by the crude oil shortage, which is becoming more acute, and by the upturn in the price for crude that has taken place. In the case of the producing companies this may mean higher earnings and the refining companies will profit from an increased price for the petroleum products which they turn out. Those companies, therefore, which are both producers and refiners are considered to be especially well placed.

Market Puzzles Traders.

The present market is one that appears to defy the usual sagacity of even experienced traders. There is no trend, prices moving up and down without any apparent reason. For instance, yesterday attention was called to the fact that while certain of the equipment stocks were advancing others were declining. It is quite apparent that stocks are not moving as groups, but are following individual courses. Professional sentiment is the ruling factor in a market that has developed into trading affair but lacks the pronounced swings that lend zest to even traders' sessions.

Lower Price for Copper.

The price of copper softened a bit yesterday, the quotation on near delivery being 13¾ cents, a decline of ¼ of a cent from the level that has been prevailing for some time. Second quarter delivery could be obtained at 19 cents a pound. First quarter delivery for export commands 19¼ cents. Domestic demand is a bit dull, and while some substantial amounts of copper have been taken abroad, exports are now easing off.

STANDARD ANSWERS BRITISH CHARGES

Asserts Gasoline Prices Quoted Prove American Company Is Not Profiteering.

NOT QUESTION FOR LEAGUE

Says Britain Can Force Reduction on Dutch Shell Group's Profits from Government.

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey has issued a sharp reply to the charge of profiteering made by the Central Committee of the London Board of Trade, which has been investigating oil prices. It was alleged in cable dispatches of Tuesday that Great Britain's motor fuel supplies were in the grip of trusts, chiefly the Standard Oil and Royal Dutch Shell groups, and that exhorbitant profits were being taken on production, transport and distribution. Among other things it was recommended that the whole question should be taken up by the League of Nations.

In a statement issued yesterday the Standard Oil Company says:

"The Standard Oil Company (N. J.) is not a distributer of gasoline or other petroleum products in the United Kingdom, but sells these free on board New York for export. For this reason it was directly concerned in the report made public yesterday in which the Central Committee of the London Board of Trade, which has been investigating oil prices, made certain drastic criticisms.

"The committee's claim of excess profits in the petroleum industry appears to be based on the assumption that a fair price for gasoline free on board, New York, should not exceed £7.10 per ton. With British exchange at $3.40 to the pound, a price of £23 per ton means but slightly more than 21 cents per American gallon. This quotation is for the product known as No. 1 petrol in Europe, or 64 degree gravity gasoline in this country. As any refiner will testify, this is a low price for gasoline of this grade today.

"The export price recommended as fair by the British committee would mean, at prevailing rates of exchange, 7 cents per gallon, free on board, New York. The soundness of this conclusion may be gauged by the fact that the cost of the various crudes, when they reach the seaboard, ranges from 40 per cent. to 100 per cent. above the proposed selling price for gasoline. If the published report is correct, the British committee seriously proposes that the most valuable product which can be obtained from the crude should be sold, free on board, New York, at much less than the cost of the raw material, and this economic miracle is to be engineered through the League of Nations.

"The Board of Trade investigators tell of one unnamed Eastern producing company which sells its petrol at £10 10s. a ton f. o. b. and makes a good profit on the transaction. This, presumably, is the Anglo-Persian Petroleum Company, Limited, a producer of Persian crude, in which the British Government holds the controlling interest. This company, we understand, sells its gasoline in the United Kingdom through the medium of the Dutch Shell group, which is maintaining the retail price of which the committee complains. If this is true, it would seem to be a simple and entirely internal situation for the British Government to adjust, by requiring the group selling the Government gasoline to name the retail prices more in accordance with the price realized by the Government's producing company. Under these circumstances, it is idle to criticise the American exporter for naming a price f. o. b. based on the market price at the wells for crude oil, plus transportation, refining and handling expenses.

"The figures, so far as American product is concerned, deal with a situation which may not apply to gasoline purchased in the Far East, and while American and Mexican companies are outside of the control of his Majesty's Government, as stated in the cabled report, the products of the Government's own producing company are and can be dealt with by them in any way they see fit."

$1,350 A SHARE SETS WALL STREET RECORD

Atlantic Refining Sale on Stock Exchange Tops Northern Pacific Corner Price.

A sale of ten shares of Atlantic Refining Company common stock on the New York Stock Exchange was made yesterday at $1,350, the highest price that has ever been recorded for the sale of one share of stock in the history of the exchange.

The record heretofore lay with Northern Pacific, this stock touching $1,000 a share in the panic of May 9, 1901. That transaction, however, was for cash, whereas the Atlantic Refining sale of yesterday was made in the regular way, that is, settlement on the day succeeding the sale.

The highest price on a sale of stock, regular way, up to yesterday was Northern Pacific at $750 a share. Atlantic Refining common shares have been listed with the Stock Exchange for about a month, but yesterday's was the first transaction on the big board. The shares have been traded in over the counter in the commission houses which are known as Standard Oil specialists. At the close of trading Tuesday Atlantic Refining was: Bid, $1,300; offered at $1,350. The transaction yesterday was, therefore, made at what was probably the offered price today. Last night the bid was $1,340 and the asked $1,380.

Will Explain Australia's Aims.

Mark Sheldon, Trade Commissioner from Australia, will be the principal speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York to day. He will talk on "Australia's After War Aims." Reports will be submitted to the Chamber by various committees.

STEEL SITUATION IMPROVES.

Market with That for Iron Reported Better Stabilized.

The Iron Trade Review, in its weekly survey of the iron and steel markets, considers that the situation is better stabilized and that prices are under a greater measure of restraint. Producers, it is asserted, are more disposed to seek new business and some surprisingly early deliveries are occasionally tendered:

The publication says in part:

Sentiment is strong and the final decree by the Supreme Court in the dissolution proceeding against the steel corporation, is recognized as a further constructive factor. A more cheerful outlook is presented over the transportation problem, which has been severely harrassing operations for some weeks, though the actual betterment in the movement of cars and hence of raw and finished materials has not been pronounced. Congestion of finishing departments by the interruption to shipments has brought about considerable marketing of semi-finished materials by mills, which ordinarily would have used this steel in their own operations.

The Iron Age says:

The steel trade has been busy in the past three days with new calculations of tonnage that will come to the mills in the next two months for railroad account. Estimates of early car contracts have gone as high as 100,000. In actual orders 2,500 cars for the Santa Fe is the largest item, and the Erie has placed 1,000 box cars. In locomotive orders, too, a good beginning has been made. Canadian roads are also negotiating for new rolling stock.

The buying of finished steel by the railroads for car repairs and other purposes will be considerable. Prompt shipment on certain railroad purchases is being made, which may mean that delivery troubles of some other buyers will not improve.

Radiator Net Earnings $3,036,247.

The American Radiator Company in the 11 months ended Dec. 31, 1919—the company formerly closed its fiscal year on Jan. 31—reports net profits after charges and taxes amounting to $3,036,247. This was equal after the deduction of preferred dividends to $23.01 a share earned on the $12,278,400 common stock outstanding, as compared with $19.92 a share earned in the fiscal year ended with Jan. 31, 1919.

EVERY DOLLAR LOANED TO FRANCE

hastens the restoration of French industries. France needs raw materials for her factories, but she must have money to pay for her purchases in this country.

The buyer of a French Bond

1–Assists in rehabilitating exchange.

2–Helps to maintain our own exports.

3–Secures for himself an unprecedented opportunity for future possible profit.

We shall be glad to furnish comparative tables and other information showing how to take advantage of these possibilities.

LOAN FOR GERMANY NOT FAVORED HERE

Only a Minority of Bankers Believe It Could Be Floated in This Country.

GOVERNMENT AID NEEDED

Would Have to Yield Above 7 Per Cent.—England and Neutrals May Do It.

The proposal for a great international loan, to be floated in allied and associated and neutral countries for the benefit of Germany, is not finding a very enthusiastic reception in local banking circles. It is admitted, of course, that something ought to be done to aid Germany in rehabilitating her industrial and commercial structure, if ever she is to pay the indemnity which the Allies have assessed against her, but, at the same time, most New York bankers believe it would be utterly impossible to sell any considerable quantity of "international" bonds for her benefit in this market.

A few bankers do look upon the suggestion with some favor. These financiers, who appear to be in a decided minority, think that perhaps $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 of such bonds could be sold here to persons who entertain some sympathy for Germany, but they add that the bonds could only be sold if the price was "right," and none of them yesterday was willing to predict what a "right" price would be. They admitted the bonds would have to be made very attractive to American investors, and of those who favored the idea at all, most agreed that the offering price would have to net the buyer considerably more than 7 per cent.

The only chance for an American participation in such a scheme, most bankers said, was for it to be made Governmental, or at least a semi-Governmental, affair. If the United States Government wants to go in with the several European governments, and possibly with Japan, in the transaction, these men thought it might be possible to arrange it, but they were not at all sure that Congress would favor a plan of this kind, especially after its treatment of the suggested "relief" loan to Hungary.

It is possible, and more than a few think probable, that England and the European neutrals will arrange the so-called international loan. England is understood to have made rapid strides in regaining German trade in recent months, and it is believed here that English bankers and merchants will be willing to strain themselves to put the Germans in funds with which they could continue buying in England. As for the neutrals, especially the Scandinavian countries, they are already heavily committed to Germany, and it is thought they will have to make further advances in order to protect what they have already loaned to the Central Empires.

The Scandinavian countries recently have been trying to arrange loans in London. A Danish credit for £10,000,000 was talked of a short time ago, but never materialized. Latest advices say that the Danes now are seeking a loan of about £3,500,000, and London reports indicate that their chances for success are fairly bright. At the same time, Denmark tried to arrange a loan here a few weeks ago, but bankers who were interested in the matter say that it has fallen flat, for the time being, at least.

HOG ISLAND SHIPYARD TO BE SOLD BY BOARD

Chairman Payne Announces Readiness to Receive Offers—Suggest Pennsylvania as Purchaser.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The Shipping Board is ready to sell Hog Island, the great fabricating shipyard built during the war.

Chairman Payne announced today that title to the yard site had been perfected by payment of $1,757,000 to the American International Shipbuilding Company, which owned the land, and that he was ready to receive tenders for the property.

Purchase of the yard by the State of Pennsylvania or the City of Philadelphia for use as a shipping terminal has been suggested.

Study of the property was begun today with particular reference to surplus supplies of steel, machinery and other equipment. Fabricated steel and engines adequate for the construction of sixteen ships are ready for immediate sale, it was said, and with other surplus materials may be offered separately.

As the last ship laid down at Hog Island will not be launched until about September 15, the yard cannot be actually turned over before that date. A tentative proposition has been made by the American International Shipbuilding Corporation that the taking over of the yard be progressive, the Shipping Board taking possession of each series of ways as cleared, and of each lot of material as inventories and checking are completed. The terms of sale, officials said, had not been decided.

PHILADELPHIA, March 3.—Two 7,800 ton cargo carriers, Hog Island's eighty-ninth and ninetieth ships, were launched today. Miss Martha McAllister, of this city, sponsored the Colthrap and Miss Beatrice Wasserschield, of Washington, niece of J. J. Flaherty, Secretary of the Shipping Board, christened the Comerant. Both vessels were named by Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

Cuban American Sugar Change.

The Directors of the Cuban American Sugar Company have voted to change the common capitalization from 1,000,000 shares of $100 per value to 1,000,000 shares of $10 par value. If the laws of New Jersey are amended so that shares of no par value can be issued this plan will be substituted for that calling for shares of $10 par. A special meeting of the stockholders it is expected will be called within a short time to pass on the proposed subdivision of the present shares.

Canadian Bonds
Payable in United States Funds

Principal and interest on Canadian Government, provincial and municipal bonds are payable in United States Funds.

American purchasers profit by the fact that the American Dollar is at a premium in Canada and so receive a substantially higher return on their investment than Canadian purchasers. They have at the same time the satisfaction of knowing that their investment is made secure by all the safeguards which protect similar high-grade obligations in the United States. These bonds can be purchased from us now at prices which will yield from

6½% to 7½%

Hostages to Fortune

"He that hath wife and children hath given hostages to fortune."
(Lord Bacon)

THOSE who have children have one of the strongest incentives for the accumulation of property. But piling up a fortune does not necessarily mean that your financial future, or that of your family, is secure.

Out of the plenty of the present, you can set aside money or property, in a trust fund with us, as a safeguard against unexpected reverses. You can retain as much or as little control of this fund as you wish. The trust can be revoked at will or it may be made irrevocable.

Members of our TRUST DEPARTMENT, at any of our offices, will welcome the opportunity of discussing with you the business phases of your individual trust problems.

Dollars vs. Francs

As a result of the decline in the value of the franc, a dollar will now purchase 14 francs as against approximately 5 francs normally.

This situation favors the American investor who can now purchase the new 5% Loan at almost one-third of the cost to the French Subscriber.

To those considering the purchase of Franc exchange this loan offers a distinct advantage; in that one receives on the francs purchased an income of 5%, and in addition a possible profit of 50% through the semi-annual drawings at 150% of par.

FORFEITURE ACTION AGAINST CAR LINES

Estimate Board Orders Burr to Enforce City's Rights as to Suspended Routes.

$400,000,000 AS VALUATION

Hedley Asks What City Would Do if Sale at That Figure Were to be Offered.

Corporation Counsel Burr was instructed yesterday by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, at the continuation of the traction inquiry in City Hall, to take necessary steps to enforce whatever rights of forfeiture and abandonment the municipality might have in the franchises of the lines of the New York Railways Company over which service has been discontinued. The lines to which the Corporation Counsel will direct his attention are mainly the storage battery routes, such as the Sixth Avenue ferry, Avenue C, the Desbrosses Street ferry and the Chambers Street lines, over which cars stopped running last Fall.

The resolution on this point, introduced by Controller Craig, was adopted after a protracted discussion of the advisability of taking such a step at this time. Both Corporation Counsel Burr and Acting Mayor F. H. La Guardia interposed objections on the ground that the motion could in no way affect the question of forfeiture, which must be determined by the courts.

When Controller Craig introduced his resolution Henry L. Stimson, counsel to Job Hedges, receiver of the New York Railways Company, asked:

"Is that intended as a threat to the court?"

"I intend it as a motion to get a ruling on, and I ask for a roll call," the Controller retorted.

Some of the members of the board raised the question of whether the order of the Federal Court appointing a receiver did not enjoin them from interfering with his possession of the property. Mr. Stimson was of the opinion that the lines under discussion, although temporarily discontinued, still were in the possession of the receiver. Controller Craig interrupted to say that this was playing "fast and loose with the board."

"May I respectfully suggest that if there is anything that has taken place here which has indicated an intention on my part, or on the part of those whom I represent, to play fast and loose with this board, that you specify what that was?" Mr. Stimson asked.

"When you suggest a line of action and then you have a kind of a string attached to it by which, if you want to take it back again, you can do it—that is what I call playing fast and loose," the Controller replied.

"Would you think it is the proper thing for the court to do, having custody of the property, to avoid taking the steps necessary to protect that property?" Mr. Stimson asked.

"Unfortunately, it is not my function to give advice to the court. I would like to have a rollcall," the Controller retorted.

Immediate Adoption Urged.

Borough President Van Name then urged the immediate adoption of the motion, declaring that on previous occasions injunctions had been served on the board barring any action within an hour after a similar question had been discussed. Before a vote was taken Controller Craig asked Mr. Stimson, in the event of a fare increase being granted, would the company insist that it had rights in respect to the lines where service had been given up. Mr. Stimson's reply was that he was not the owner of the property.

"Is it the claim of the court that, having ceased operating under these franchises, they can be resumed at will later on without regard to the obligations of the franchise?" the Controller wanted to know.

"The court proposes, as I take it, to meet each problem as it comes to it," Mr. Stimson said. "It has been already obliged to meet the problem of discontinuing lines because they could not be operated longer. I assume the court will go on doing so so long as the property is in its custody or until it is stopped by action of other competent authority."

The inquiry into the affairs of the Interboro was temporarily concluded yesterday. Corporation Counsel gained an admission from Frank Hedley President of the I. R. T., that the railroad probably would be able to struggle along for some time after July 5, the date set for the collapse of the system.

Hopes to Save Lines.

"Personally, I am inclined to think that we will go over the fifth of July and be able to pay all our debts that we will have to meet to keep us out of the hands of the receiver," Mr. Hedley said.

"Could you get along until Oct. 5?" he was asked.

"I hope to see that some way is found that will keep these properties together without breaking them up, because if they are broken up the public is going to be seriously affected," he replied.

Acting Mayor La Guardia asked the witness if he had any suggestions to offer the board in the effort to solve the traction situation. The Interborough President, admitting that the only thing he wanted changed in the contract was the stated fare of five cents, said he was willing to negotiate other changes with the board, if it were possible.

"Would you consider a negotiation that would relieve you of all your obligations under your contract and let you out entirely?" asked Mr. Craig.

"I would, personally; and if a proposition was made to relieve us of our contract entirely, that was on a basis that I thought was satisfactory, I would recommend it to our board," he said.

He qualified his answer by saying that he would not be in favor of the idea upon the present condition of the Interborough's credit in the open market. He added that the city could not expect the security holders to give up the property entirely on the selling market value of their holdings today. Controller Craig wanted to know what was the witness's tentative estimate of the value of the subway and elevated systems.

"Well, supposing, just for the sake of argument, we will say, that if you can produce $400,000,000 on the first of next month we would sell it all to you, where are you going to get your $400,000,000 from?" Mr. Hedley queried.

"Aren't you suggesting something impracticable?" asked Controller Craig.

"I am not suggesting anything that is impracticable at all, because I know every step of the way that would have to be traveled, and I know how every step could be taken," was the reply.

"The only question is whether you want to hold out for something that you never can realize, and wreck your own property as you go along as a consequence of it," said Mr. Craig. "Now, instead of talking of the four hundred millions, go out and get down to the earth and analyze these equities, and see what they are, and come back here with a proposition."

"I can sit right here with you, gentlemen, and see if we cannot arrive at some basis upon which we could have these contracts changed and put the company in shape so that it will have money enough to carry out all of the obligations and render a service that is satisfactory to the public," Mr. Hedley said. "Supposing I should recommend to our board and stockholders that for four hundred millions we sell it to you the first of next month"—

"Well, it is rejected as far as I am concerned," the Controller interrupted.

Mr. Hedley maintained, in answer to questions by Corporation Counsel Burr, that the railroad was giving comfortable and adequate rapid transit to the best of its ability. Asked what prevented the railroad from giving complete accommodation to the traveling public, the witness replied the construction work under the contracts had not been finished.

The only other witness examined was W. W. Harris, who is associated with Ivy Lee, publicity representative of the Interborough. He testified he was the author of many of the editorials appearing in the Subway Sun. He heatedly denied a remark by the Controller that it was his business to invent false statements for others to refute. Quizzed on a statement in a current issue of the Subway Sun, to the effect that the public authorities alone had the authority to preserve the savings of some 31,000 investors in the Interborough, Mr. Harris said he believed this was entirely true and that was the thought he intended to convey.

"You did not intend to convey anything of the kind," said Controller Craig. "You intended to try to blackjack the public authorities by creating the impression that they were responsible for the pecuniary hardships of thousands of widows and orphans who had been soaked with worthless securities by the associates of your employers; that is what you are trying to do.

"I have no objection whatever, Mr. Craig, to your holding that opinion," Mr. Harris answered.

EQUIPMENT PLAN FOR ROADS HELD UP

Hines Says Money Market Conditions Have Prevented Putting It Into Effect.

CANADA CALLS FOR CARS

Has 16,000 in This Country, and Arrangements Are Being Made to Ease the Situation.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Director General Hines announced today that the condition of the money market in the last several months had not been such as to warrant the carrying through of the National Equipment Corporation plan, which was proposed before the railroads were returned to private control. The method which the Government may pursue in the sale of equipment obligations in the event that it decides not to carry the indebtedness itself will be dependent upon future market conditions.

"All the equipment that was purchased by the Railroad Administration for the various railroads, consisting of about 100,000 cars and approximately 1,930 locomotives, has been finally allocated and accepted by the various roads," said Mr. Hines. "The Division of Finances advises that where railroads were able and willing to pay for the cost of such equipment in cash this has been done; that in the other instances the Government has accepted in payment for the cost of the equipment the equipment trust obligations of the individual carriers, whereby such cost is to be repaid in fifteen annual installments at 6 per cent. interest.

"Equipment trust obligations have been accepted from seventy-four railroad companies. They are the obligations of the individual carriers, aggregate about $360,000,000 and are in such form as to enable the Government, should it so desire, to carry out the plan for the creation of a national equipment corporation that would issue its own obligations and through the sale of such obligations reimburse the Government. If it should be deemed desirable, however, for the Government to sell the individual obligations of the carriers, it is in a position to do so, or, if its prefers, it can hold them, receiving the annual payments."

Replying to statements that because the Canadian railways now had 16,000 cars in the United States no more cars would be allowed to cross the border, one of the officials of the Car Service Association said tonight that this statement was sent out from Canada at frequent intervals, but was never enforced.

"Sometimes there are more Canadian cars on our lines, and sometimes the situation is reversed," said the official. "The balanae, however, is usually in favor of this country; that is to say, there are more Canadian cars in the United States. This is perfectly natural, for a producing country like Canada always sends out more cars. There has been, and always will be, free co-operation between the Canadian lines and ours in the matter of cars. The conditions are no better and no worse than they have been for some time."

October reports show that for some months previous about 73,000 cars had been sent from Canada and about as many had been dispatched across the line from the United States.

Negotiations are now being conducted between the Car Service Association and the Canadian railway officials so that most of the cars belonging to Canada may be returned and an adequate balance be obtained. The Car Service Association has taken over the activities of the Railroad Administration in the matter of car allocation and there are many adjustments to be made in various parts of the country. The Canadian tangle has already been taken up and correspondence is being exchanged.

TO REDEEM STEEL BONDS.

Total of $2,006,000 Drawn by Sinking Fund Trustees.

A total of $2,006,000 of the United States Steel Corporation ten-sixty year 5 per cent. sinking fund gold bonds has been drawn by J. P. Morgan & Co. as sinking fund trustees, for redemption May 1, at 110 and interest. This is the eighth drawing that has been held since the first one in April, 1913, when $186,-827,000 bonds were outstanding. The balance of the $200,000,000 of the original issue, or $13,173,000, had been purchased in the open market.

The aggregate amount of the bonds drawn since 1913 amounts to $12,586,000, so that the bonds in the sinking fund now amount to $25,759,000, and the amount outstanding subject to annual drawings is $174,241,000.

French Crop Prospects Are Good.

PARIS, March 2.—Good crop prospects throughout France are reported by the Journal Officiel, which states that the condition of the tilled fields was as good in February as it was a year ago. The 1920 Winter wheat crop is forecast as likely to be about the same as in 1919, while some improvement in the barley and rye harvests is expected.

A 65 Billion Dollar Market for American Development

CHINA'S foreign trade is five times as great to-day as it was thirty years ago. When the per capita foreign trade is equivalent to that of Australasia, the total will be $65,000,000,000 annually, instead of $1,200,000,000 as at present.

The country's vast wealth in coal and basic metals, in vegetable and animal products, and the industrious, adaptable character of its population make this possible of ultimate achievement.

The foreign branches of this corporation have been established in the Far East for the specific purpose of aiding American business men in cementing closer and more cordial business relations. We will be pleased to place their facilities at your disposal for fullest co-operation.

New Railroads for South China

FORESHADOWING a development which its great area, population and resources make likely, eleven new railroads are projected for South China. One of these, 600 miles in length, will connect Southwest China with the Yangtze and with Szechwan. Another will traverse a section with 15,000,000 inhabitants. Eleven railroads are now completed or under construction in the region south of the Yangtze.

The Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China bridges the distance between American exporters and their Far Eastern markets. It has branches and agencies in Canton, Hankow, Peking, Hongkong, Shanghai, Tientsin and 23 other cities of the Orient.

SPOTS AT HIGHEST SINCE CIVIL WAR

Tightness of Local Cotton Stocks for This Month Again Holds Market Up.

LIVERPOOL TONE UNSETTLED

Indications Are That March Contract Will Break December's High Record of 40 Cents.

The tightness of local cotton stocks available for delivery against the March contract again held the New York market up in the face of lower prices for both spots and futures at Liverpool. There is supposed to be a big short interest here in March, and with the unusually small amount of the staple on hand with which to cover these contracts, the market naturally is holding firm. Even the late months yesterday were strong in sympathy with the near position. Spots sold at 40¾ cents a pound, the highest price quoted on the New York Cotton Exchange since civil war days.

The situation here now is very much like that which obtained early in December, when there was an acute shortage of contract cotton and spot prices and those for the spot month went to what were then high records for both. On Dec. 5, last, spots sold at 40¼ cents and on that day the December contract rose to 40 cents. The latter still stands as a high record for a contract, but there are plenty of indications that the March contract, which yesterday sold at 38.98, will break the record before it expires.

Not only is March cotton benefiting because of the squeeze. It is said that a good part of the short interest in that month has been or is being transferred to May. The switch makes for the same precarious position in May that now holds for March, as the chances for increasing the stocks here in time for that delivery are not considered especially good.

The Liverpool market yesterday was again unsettled. The opening was fairly firm, but very quiet, and after the first prices the market slid off, closing finally with the near months steady, but with the distant months heavy, 1 to 22 points under the previous day's closing.

Yesterday's quotations follow:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. Day.
March	38.62	38.98	38.57	38.97	38.67
May	35.35	35.96	35.32	35.89	35.56

PRODUCE MARKETS.

BUTTER—The receipts yesterday were 8,585 packages. The market was about one cent lower on the finer grades of fresh creamery, with supplies quite liberal and buying usually conservative. Danish butter is due shortly, and this increased the pressure to sell. Undergrades were not suffering as much as the higher priced. Sales of storage creamery were mostly at 54@59c. Renovated was barely steady, ladles and packing stock quiet and unchanged. Creamery, higher than extras, per lb., 63½@64c; extras, 92 score, 63c; firsts, 90 to 91 score, 61@62½c; firsts, 88 to 89 score, 58@60½c; seconds, 83 to 87 score, 54@57c; lower grades, 50@53c; creamery, held, higher than extras, 60½@61c; held, extras, 59½@60c; held, firsts, 55@58½c; held, seconds, 48@54c; unsalted, higher than extras, 66½@67c; unsalted, extras, 65@66c; firsts, 59@64c; seconds, 55@58c; State dairy tubs, finest, 61@62c; good to prime, 55@60c; common to fair, 43@54c; renovated extras, 53@54c; firsts, 51@52c; imitation creamery, firsts, 45@46c; ladles, current make, firsts, 42@43c; seconds, 39@40c; lower grades, 38@39c; packing sock, current make, No. 1, 36c; No. 2, 35c; lower grades, 33@35c.

EGGS—The receipts yesterday were 15,727 cases. The market was not fully cleared, with a cautious buying and rather liberal offerings, and declined on all grades, closing unsettled at the reduction. Fresh gathered extras, per dozen, 56@57c; extra firsts, 55c; firsts, 53@54c; seconds, 51@53c; dirties, No. 1, 48@50c; checks, good to choice, dry, 38@40c; State, Pennsylvania and nearby Western hennery whites, extras, 60c; firsts to extra firsts, 58@59c; State, Pennsylvania and nearby Western gathered whites, firsts to extra firsts, 56@59c; State, Pennsylvania and nearby Western gathered whites, firsts to extra firsts, 58@59c; State, Pennsylvania and nearby Western white pullets, 54@55c; Pacific Coast whites by express, extras, firsts to extra firsts, 58@60c; firsts, 56@57c; pullets, Petaluma, 54@55c; other sections, 52@53c; other Western and Southern gathered whites, 56@58c; firsts to extra firsts, 54@55c.

E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company, Inc.

Winding Up of War Contracts

YOUR company's contracts with the Allied Foreign Governments contained no cancellation clauses. They were practically completed at the time of the signing of the Armistice, because the United States Government had bought our entire output, sold for delivery in 1919, with instructions to us as to what portion was assigned by them to the foreign Allies.

Contracts with the United States Government, which provided for cancellation, include a clause intended to hold the company harmless from all loss (except prospective profits), due to cancellation. These contracts were promptly cancelled soon after the signing of the Armistice, leaving the computation of the amount of damages caused by the cancellation to be determined as soon as might be.

A large amount of accounting was required to prepare the claims and since they were submitted, negotiations have been conducted with the several Government Claim Boards, which are reviewing and auditing the accounts. The total amount of the claims of this company against the United States Government, because of cancelled war contracts, is $27,595,377.18. Against this amount the company holds advance payments, received on account of the output cancelled, amounting to $20,758,088.03. The claims have been carefully prepared, with a view of asking only for such damages as are eminently fair and just, so that they will eventually be approved and paid by the Government. However, settlement has not yet been made and may not be completed for some time because of the Government's system which requires a very complete audit of all items.

The strictly war plants of the company, as reported last year, were sold en bloc to the Du Pont Chemical Company, so that this company has been relieved of the burden of liquidating that investment in detail.

Progress can be reported in the task of converting the munition making company of the years 1914 to 1918, inclusive, into a producer of peace-time necessities. The personnel and assets had grown during the war period to such an extent that it was evident to the management that they could not be fully utilized in the industrial explosive business. The reports of the years 1916, 1917 and 1918 indicate that this condition had been anticipated and the company's scope broadened to utilize, as far as maybe, its greater assets and personnel in the after-war period.

Utilization of Personnel Accumulated During War

As a result of entering into the production and distribution of pyralin, paints, pigments, chemicals and dyes to supplement your company's commercial explosives manufacture and the very considerable growth in the volume of the business in these undertakings, I am able to report that further curtailment in the number of employes on the company's payrolls from that indicated in last year's report has not been found necessary. On December 31, 1919, there were of salaried employes 7,870 and of wage-earners 23,710, a total of 31,580.

By far the largest investment in new undertakings has been made in the motor industry by an investment in the stock of the General Motors Corporation, and although we are only stockholders in that corporation, the friendly relations with its management have enabled us to receive the indirect benefit of many valuable employes who would otherwise have had to be dispensed with, because the extraordinary growth in that industry has demanded large numbers of capable men.

The next in size has been in our new dye plant at Deepwater Point, N. J., across the Delaware from Wilmington, where we are manufacturing successfully a large number of the complicated dyes formerly made in Germany only. Your company has made a conspicuous success in the synthetic manufacture of indigo and camphor on a very large scale and is now making satisfactory profits thereby. Research laboratories have been established and many chemists are employed in this very important new branch of our industry.

Subsidiary Companies

The widening of the scope of our activities has made it desirable that certain of our investments be carried in subsidiary companies. The chart below indicates the relationship of these companies more clearly than a verbal statement. Stocks which your company owns in other companies, excepting those which are consolidated with the parent company in forming the statement of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company and subsidiaries, viz.: E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company of Pennsylvania, E. I. du Pont de Nemours Export Company and Rokeby Realty Company, are included in the statement of Assets at cost values; similarly the income statement includes only dividends received from such stocks so that the consolidated statement of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company with subsidiaries in no way reflects the undivided profits accruing to such stocks.

In the past, the undistributed earnings on investment stocks shown in our balance sheet was not a considerable item, so that the usual practice of omitting reference to them was followed. This year, however, the amount has risen to such proportions as to be very material in measuring the earning capacity of your company.

For the year 1919, the estimated undivided profits accruing to the principal stockholdings of the company, not reflected in the Consolidated Income Statement of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company, amount to $16,105,713, which is equivalent to $27.37 per share on common stock.

Also, in this connection, it is interesting to note that the estimated excess in net asset values of the principal stockholdings of the company, over and above the values at which such stocks are carried on the books, amounted to $33,126,623 at December 31, 1919, which is equivalent to $56.29 per share of common stock.

General Motors Corporation Investment

The largest of these items is that accruing by reason of the earnings of the General Motors Corporation. Your company owns through its subsidiary, Du Pont American Industries, 238,504 shares of General Motors Corporation common stock, and 159,115 shares of Chevrolet Motor Company common stock. Since the Chevrolet Motor Company owns stock in the General Motors Company in an amount which makes each share of Chevrolet Motor Company represent 1.3195 shares of General Motors Corporation stock, this investment really represents 209,952 shares of General Motors Corporation common stock. The total cost of these 448,456 shares to the company was $48,758,252.53.

No dividends were received from these securities in 1919 by the Du Pont Company, though $2,669,430 was received by its subsidiary, the Du Pont American Industries, whereas it is estimated, based on the first eleven months of 1919, that the earnings accruing to this stock for the year 1919 will be $13,815,549.53 over and above the dividends received by the Du Pont American Industries.

It is opportune here to call your attention to the origin of this investment. Your Vice-President, Mr. J. J. Raskob, with extraordinary foresight, interested himself as early as 1915 in the General Motors Corporation to the extent of becoming a large stockholder and director in that company, and by exercising great perseverance was able to convince the directors of your company that the very unusual step of making a huge investment in an industry largely foreign to its business was warranted by the opportunities afforded thereby.

The earnings on General Motors Corporation stock for the year 1919, after setting aside a suitable amount for excess profits tax, will be about $37 a share, and the value of your company's investment as measured by the present market quotations has more than doubled since its acquisition. This statement is perhaps stronger than any commendation of Mr. Raskob's work which could be made in this report.

Bonus Plan

Your directors have continued the Bonus Plan, approved by the stockholders at their meeting in March, 1917. The earnings of the company, by reason of the cessation of hostilities and the newness of its activities in other than the explosives line, resulted in a much reduced amount for distribution among the employes; however, 1,356 employes were awarded bonuses of common and of debenture stock for 1919, at a cost of $857,536.89.

Stock Subscription Plan

The Stock Subscription Plan has been continued and 9,000 shares of debenture stock offered to employes who were with us during the years 1918 and 1919 (subscriptions received aggregated 11,271 shares, and your officers have deemed it wise to accept them all). The continuance of the Bonus and Stock Subscription Plans has been of aid in increasing the number of employe stockholders.

The number of stockholders and those of them employed by the company is shown in the following tabulation covering a number of years. The record from 1907 to 1914, inclusive, is of E. I. du Pont de Nemours Powder Company; that for the later years, of its successor, E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company:

* Decrease due to loss of employes through organization of the Hercules Powder Company and Atlas Powder Company.

Pension Plan

The company has continued the Pension Plan which has proven itself to be of great value in caring for employes who after long and faithful service are unable to continue their work. It is felt that this plan is of material aid in attracting and holding a most desirable class of men; that is, those who have a thought for the future.

In the past, the cost of pensions, as paid out, has been charged to current operations. Your officers, however, feel that although there is no legal obligations to continue this plan into the future, we will find it expedient so to do, and it is accordingly desirable to set up a reserve to take account of such portion of prospective future pension payments as are required by pensions already granted. An amount of $1,400,000 has, therefore, been set aside out of profits as a contingent liability to cover this item.

Dividend Record

During the year 1919 the regular dividend at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum has been paid on the debenture stock, and your directors have authorized the distribution to the common stockholders of four quarterly cash dividends of 4½ per cent. each, a total of 18 per cent. No special dividend was declared at the end of the year out of the large undivided profit, for the reason that the company's business requires the use of all the assets in hand. STRAUSS RESIGNS HIS POST.

Quits Federal Reserve Board to Obtain a Rest, He Says.

WASHINGTON, March 3. — Albert Strauss of New York resigned today as a member of the Federal Reserve Board.

Mr. Strauss said he had accepted appointment to the board with the understanding that he would be allowed to retire when his work was finished. He felt, he said, that this time had come, especially in view of his need for a rest. His duties in Washington and also abroad as a member of the American financial mission at the peace conference, he said, had kept him away from home much longer than he expected.

Mr. Strauss was desirous of making clear there had been no friction in the board.

Mr. Strauss came to Washington soon after the United States entered the war, acting as an adviser to Secretary McAdoo on international finance. When the War Trade Board was organized he became a member, taking on also the exacting task of advising the censorship in regard to all financial cables.

In October, 1918, he was asked by Mr. McAdoo to accept a place on the Federal Reserve Board.

American Cigar Co. Nets $2,175,799

Net earnings of the American Cigar Company for 1919, after the deduction of charges and Federal taxes, amounted to $2,175,799, as compared with $2,318,-982 in the preceding year. In terms of the common stock this was the equivalent of $15.75 a share, and compared with $17.28 a share in 1918. At the annual meeting of the stockholders N. J. Rice was elected a member of the Board of Directors. Other Directors were re-elected.

Foreign Bonds As Investments

Direct obligations of the leading European nations are now available to American investors at substantial discounts owing to a temporary decline in foreign exchange.

Bonds of Great Britain and France as well as German Municipalities may be purchased at prices to show an appreciation in value ranging from 50% to 75% upon return of exchange to parity.

Our services in this connection are at your disposal. Send for our booklet descriptive of some of the principal issues.

UNIONS MAY CONFER WITH ROADS DIRECT

With Informal Wage Discussion, Suggested, Brotherhoods Delay Naming Bi-Partisan Delegates.

EXECUTIVES TO MEET HERE

Financial District Believes Many Lines Will Voluntarily Forfeit Income Guarantee.

WASHINGTON, March 3. — Railroad Brotherhood leaders who are still in Washington may meet informally with officials of the roads preliminary to the actual beginning of wage negotiations. As a result of a suggestion to this effect, the union leaders took no action today toward naming their representatives on the bi-partisan board provided for in the Transportation act, which they were urged to do yesterday by President Wilson.

It was understood that the union officials would meet tomorrow to discuss their next move. Some of them feel, however, that they should do nothing until their announced policy has received the concurrence or rejection of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes and Shop Laborers, which was not a party to the decision reached yesterday. This group has called a convention of its general committeemen to be held in Chicago tomorrow. As soon as the Brotherhood officials are informed as to the action of the maintenance workers, they will make a decision as to the suggested informal meeting.

Preliminary arrangements for the first meeting of the bi-partisan committees provided for in the Railroad bill have been left almost wholly in the Director General's hands. As soon as he is advised that the two committees have been named, he will select a date for the first conference.

Road Executives to Meet Today.

It was learned here yesterday that there will be a meeting of the Standing Committee of the Association of Railway Executives tomorrow to consider President Wilson's letter urging haste in the appointment of three representatives of the railroads for membership on the new wage tribunal provided for in the new law.

That the committee will choose men to represent the executives and will suggest their names to the President is expected as the result of the meeting.

The personnel of the committee has been changed as follows: B. F. Bush, President of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company, has succeeded Harry Brönner; Hale Holden, President of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company, has been added; N. D. Maher, President of the Norfolk & Western Railway Company, has succeeded L. E. Johnson, and W. B. Storey, President of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé Railway Company, has succeeded S. T. Bledsoe. The changes were brought about by the re-election of the men mentioned as Presidents of their respective companies.

Denies Seeking Higher Fare.

Ira A. Place, Vice President of the New York Central Railroad in charge of the Law Department., denied yesterday that the company is seeking an increase in rates. In a statement issued at the Grand Central Terminal Mr. Place said:

"The dispatch from Albany appearing in the morning newspapers stating that the New York Central Railroad Company has applied for amendment of the State statute with respect to the 2-cent fare limitation on portions of its lines is incorrect.

"This company has taken no step in that direction. In so far as the present statutes or provisions create any undue or unreasonable advance, preference or prejudice between persons or localities, intrastate on the one hand and interstate or foreign commerce on the other hand, it will be, under the new Federal law, a subject for the consideration of the Interstate Commerce Commission."

May Forfeit Guarantee.

The impression is growing in the financial district that many of the railroads, which have been earning considerably more than the contract compensation paid to them by the Government for the use of their lines, will purposely forfeit the right to a continuance of the guarantee until Aug. 31, 1920.

In the case of an individual road, which has been earning 150 per cent. of the standard return paid to it by the Government, the excess 50 per cent. is now considered as offering a favorable opportunity for the financial adjustments which will come in the transition period between Federal and private control and operation.

The advantage which would accrue to the individual so-called creditor railroads by forfeiting the guarantee is obvious, as the volume of traffic over their lines has been huge in recent months and is expected to increase further.

No particular properties have been singled out as considering this phase of the return of the carriers to private operation, but it was said in the financial district yesterday that such action would not be at all surprising by any or all of the following: The Union Pacific, the Big Four, the Nickel Plate, Michigan Central, Monongahela, Pere Marquette, Georgia Railroad, Atlanta & West Point, Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac; Duluth & Iron Range, Washington & Southern, Duluth, Missaba & Northern; Fort Worth & Denver City, St. Louis-San Francisco, Vicksburgh, Shreveport & Pacific, Detroit & Toledo Shore Line, Long Island, Western Pacific, the Midland Valley and others. The percentage of standard return earned by these lines has ranged from 102 to 2,898 per cent., with many of the lines earning in excess of 160 per cent.

Richard S. Hawes, President of the American Bankers' Association, referring to the new railway law yesterday, said:

"Without consideration of its financial provisions the measure, considered from the standpoint of the general public welfare, is most constructive legislation. As a stabilizer of certain national conditions it will serve to insure a continuance, if not betterment, of present prosperous conditions.

"As to the labor features, let them be given a full and fair trial. These provisions seem to have been conceived in all justice to both sides and the best either side can do will be to welcome an unbiased tryout. At least, don't judge them without just cause for doubt. The principle of arbitration provided is at least equitable to all concerned."

ARREST JENKINS'S SURETY.

Consular Agent's Benefactor Taken on Girl's Charge.

John S. Hansen, who is the J. Salter Hansen who gave bail for William O. Jenkins, the American Consular Agent, charged with conspiracy by the Carranza Government, was arrested last night at Fifty-ninth Street and Fifth Avenue on a bench warrant issued in June. He was taken to police headquarters. Hansen gave his occupation as ship builder and his address as the Plaza Hotel.

Hansen was arrested on Dec. 15, 1918, on complaint of Miss Matta Z. Wooster of 306 West Eighty-ninth Street, who charged him with misbehavior, while both were in a motion picture theatre in upper Broadway. After a trial before Judge Mulqueen in General Sessions the jury disagreed and on May 15 Hansen obtained a temporary release. The case was adjourned on the plea of Hansen that he had large business interests in Mexico that demanded his immediate attention.

SEE READING DEADLOCK.

Lawyers Speculate on Finding, in View of Decision in Steel Suit.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—After a study of the decision and of the dissenting report of the Supreme Court in the Steel Corporation suit some experts of corporation law have suggested that the court may be deadlocked in the Reading Company et al. (anthracite coal combination) case, which was reargued at the beginning of the October term.

While no information is available as to the attitude of any of the Justices, the decision in connection with the Steel Corporation has naturally led to speculation, and interest has been aroused among corporation lawyers by the finding in the steel case on the importance of public interest and policy involved.

While Justice McReynolds was not able to participate in the cases against the Reading Company, because of the reasons which excluded his participation in the Steel case, Justice Brandeis was not barred.

In this case the decision in the district court was favorable to the Government in part, in that it was held that the union through a holding company of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company and te Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company, two of the great anthracite coal-producing companies, is a combination in restraint of trade. In some important respects, however, the decision was adverse to the Government, and both the Government and the defendants appealed to the Supreme Court.

Attorney General Palmer has refused to discuss at this time any feature of the decision in regard to the Steel Corporation. Upon the completion of an exhaustive study of the decision and the dissenting report, however, Mr. Palmer will have an announcement to make on the general anti-trust legislation situation.

Many congratulatory telegrams have been received by Judge Elbert H. Gary, Chairman of the Board of the United States Steel Corporation, on the favorable decision of the Supreme Court in the Government's dissolution suit. Many of these are from leaders in iron and steel circles.

FOSDICK ADVOCATES LEAGUE

Substitute Economic Boycott for War, He Tells Kamanis Club.

Denying that the League of Nations is a "super-State" and predicting that without some kind of an international machine we shall soon see another war, Raymond B. Fosdick, former Under Secretary of the League of Nations, who has just returned from Europe, yesterday addressed the members of the Kawanis Club at the Hotel McAlpin. He explained the veto power in relation to Article X., and said that it was not true that the United States could be unwillingly drawn into wars.

"The League of Nations," continued Mr. Fosdick, "plans to do away with force as an element in changing boundaries. It is designed to prevent the rape of a small State by a Germany. The main purpose is to do away with bloodshed. If the league goes into effect we have a substitute for war—economic boycott. The League of Nations through the Council at Geneva would send out a bull of ex-communication as a boycott in the name of humanity and would take away credits."

Mr. Fosdick described the horrors of the war. He discussed each of the great wars and explained how unfruitful attempts were made to prevent the "next war." He then asked his audience to work so that the world would "never again be painted with blood."

APPROVES DEFICIENCY BILL.

Senate Accepts Report Eliminating $3,000,000 Naval Repair Item.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—After a stormy debate the Senate today voted 33 to 27 to accept the conference report on the urgent deficiency bill.

The conferees eliminated a number of items from the Senate bill, including $3,000,000 for the repair of naval vessels.

Democratic Senators vigorously opposed the conferees' action in yielding to the insistence of the House against the naval item. Senator Gay, Democrat, of Louisiana, said elimination of the appropriation was "false economy," as many dreadnoughts, cruisers and smaller naval craft were out of commission because of lack of funds to repair them.

Senator Phelan, Democrat, of California, declared the cut would throw 14,000 skilled navy yard workmen out of work and would scatter them throughout the country, ruining navy yard organization and efficiency.

The report, which already has been adopted by the House, included $400,000 additional for the completion of the new speedway hospital at Chicago.

CARPENTIER TO TAKE BRIDE.

Pugilist, True to Boyhood Romance, Sidesteps Wealthy Widow.

PARIS, March 3.—Georges Carpentier, heavyweight pugilistic champion of Europe, and Mlle. Georgette Elsasse will be married next Monday, according to announcement here today.

The wedding will mark the culmination of a romance of many years. Mlle. Elsasse lived in the Lens country, Carpentier's boyhood home. They have known one another since childhood.

Lately there have been rumors of Carpentier's engagement to a wealthy young widow, a foreigner with whom he danced frequently at one of the leading hotels of Paris. A close friend of Carpentier said after the engagement reports had been denied by both Carpentier and the widow that the pugilist might have been a successful suitor for the widow's hand had he so chosen, but that he decided to remain true to his boyhood love. The widow, who is 24 years of age, has a fortune estimated at more than 20,000,000 francs.

Carpentier's bride will accompany him to America when he sails on March 13.

U. S. to Pay for Bringing Dead.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The War Department will pay all expenses connected with the return of dead soldiers from Europe. This includes transportation by water and rail, and the delivery of the body to the home of the next of kin. The Bureau of War Risk Insurance has been authorized to pay funeral expenses of American soldiers up to $100.

$400,000 FIFTH AVENUE PROFIT

E. E. Smathers, by Cancelling Tiffin Lease, Obtains New Tenant at $80,000 a Year.

OLD RENTAL $60,000

I. Miller, Shoe Retailer, Will Pay $25 a Square Foot for Forty-Sixth Street Corner.

E. E. Smathers has made a profit of more than $400,000 in less than a week by effecting a cancellation of the lease with Tiffin Products, Inc., L. M. Boomer, President, and making a new lease with I. Miller & Sons, retailers of women's shoes, for twenty-one years from May 1, 1920, with an option for a similar period. The old lease called for $60,000 per annum net rent, while the new lease is at $80,000 a year, also on a net basis, and concerns the present Thorley and Larimore buildings at 562 Fifth Avenue and 1 West Forty-sixth Street, being the northwest corner. I. Miller & Sons will pay about $25 per square foot a year for the plot, and also all taxes, assessments and carrying charges, or $3,000 per front foot for the avenue location. As the improvements consist only of a five-story altered building, the rental is based practically on land value and establishes a record price for this section of the avenue, according to the brokers, the Brett & Goode Company. Mr. Smathers was represented by George Gascoigne in the transaction.

It is understood that I. Miller & Sons contemplate the erection of a new twelve-story store and office building on the premises and that they will occupy the store, basement and second floor thereof for their own business.

Charles Thorley, the florist, who must vacate his "House of Flowers" at the northwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Forty-sixth Street about May 1, recently purchased the former home of John D. Wing, a five-story dwelling at 16 West Forty-ninth Street, which he will alter to house his business for a time at least. The property is 25 by 100 feet, and is still used as a dwelling. Mr. Thorley bought the late residence of Mrs. Russell Sage, at 604 Fifth Avenue, last month through Michael Dreicer for $441,000. It is likely that in the course of time he will establish a permanent "House of Flowers" on the one-time Sage property when certain existing restrictions are removed.

Commerical Leases.

George R. Read & Co., in conjunction with Ruland & Whiting-Benjamin Corporation leased for Mrs. Charlotte H. Shorshan, 267 Madison Avenue.

George W. Brettele leased for Richard Green to Louis Scheueru the four-story loft building at 2,378 Third Avenue.

Charles F. Noyes Company leased for the United States Trust Company, agent for Mary L. Harrison, the five-story building 75 Beekman Street to Clement & Stockwell, who for over thirty-five years have been located in 30 Beekman Street. The lease is for a term of years at an aggregate rental of about $50,000.

Long Beach Activity.

Long Beach realty activity has reached a new high mark in house rentals this year with a record of more than 200 houses than were rented at this time last year. The demand has not been lessened by the snow, and many who have not anticipated early Summer plans may be left without cottages at the seashore this Summer.

William H. Reynolds, who with Irving T. Bush is interested in the development of a new Summer colony at Long Beach, has completed plans for the erection of one hundred more new cottages to solve the Summer housing problem. The Walsh-Farrell Realty Company, which controls the West End section of Long Beach, reports that, with a few exceptions, nearly all of the smaller cottages have been rented at the bungalow colony there.

$400,000 Loft Purchase.

Edgar A. Levy has sold through Mark Rafalsky & Co., to Henry Tishman, the twelve-story store and loft building at 150 West Twenty-second Street, on a plot 62.6 by 98.9. The purchaser, who was represented by Stoddard & Mark in this transaction, was influenced by the fact of this parcel being adjacent to the Seventh Avenue subway and its especial desirability by reason of its immediate proximity to the Twenty-third Street station of that line.

The seller, who bought the building last August, owns a similar structure on the same street, at No. 140, which latter has been definitely withdrawn from the market.

The parcel sold was held at $400,000.

Fifth Avenue Store Rentals.

Charles N. Noble has leased for the Kemp estate the four twenty-five-foot stores at 615 Fifth Avenue to the Ivy Corset Company for three years. The lessee will occupy the southerly half of the premises and sublet the remaining space to the Royal Copenhagen and Danish Art Company. The deals will involve about $150,000 in rentals.

$100,000 Apartment Gift.

Louise C. H. Dyckman has presented as a gift to Henry M. Dyckman of Minneapolis, Minn; Mary L., Francis H. and R. P. Dyckman of East Orange, N. J., the apartment house property at 218-220 West Eighty-fourth Street on a plot 50 by 102.2, near Broadway. This property was assessed last year at $100,000.

Queens Borough Transactions.

H. R. Williams & Son sold for Harry E. Wade his cottage on Hollis Court Boulevard, in Hollis Court, to Stewart E. Robb, for occupancy.

The Rickert-Brown Realty Corporation sold to Robert W. Dungan, a two-story Colonial brick dwelling on Ditmars Avenue, between Chauncey Street and Goodrich street, Arleigh, for a reported consideration of $10,000.

LOUISVILLE, March 3.—Senator Beckham, heretofore an uncompromising supporter of the Peace Treaty without reservations, came out today for its immediate ratification with or without reservations.

STEAL TO JAZZ MUSIC.

Downtown Burglars Steal Piano from Phonograph Shop.

Burglars smoked cigarettes and played jazz music while they looted the showroom and office of the Standard Phonograph Co., at 14 Duane Street Sunday night, it became known yesterday. Police of the Oak Street Station are investigating.

When Jacob Bass, manager of the company, went to the office Monday morning he found the place had been robbed. A child's baby grand piano and stool, valued at $100, tools and materials valued at $400 were missing. The floor of the room was littered with cigarettes and candle stubs, and jazz records were found on several of the phonographs. In a room occupied by Borsun & Fox, manufacturers of jewelery, the thieves broke open a desk and stole four molds valued at $30. A safe containing about $3,000 worth of gold was not opened.

Acquires $250,000 Block Front.

William P. Wainwright has acquired title to the row of buildings occupying the entire block front on the north side of Grand Street, between Orchard and Ludlow Street, for a stated consideration of $250,000. The sellers were E. C. Kent and others, as executors of the Tillotson estate, which has owned the property since 1883. The Bowery Savings Bank has made a loan of $150,000 to Mr. Wainwright on the plot for three years at 5½ per cent.

FIRMS BUY FOR OCCUPANCY.

Lack of Rentable Space Forces Sales in Downtown District.

Failing to secure suitable office space in the financial district on either a short or long term lease, the Continental Produce Corporation of Boston and New York has purchased 104 Front Street.

The property, which was sold by the Charles F. Noyes Company for a client, consists of a five-story building on a lot 20 by 85 feet. After extensive alterations the buyers will occupy the entire building.

Lack of available space for rent also influenced the Underwriters' and Credit Bureau, publishers of Hines's insurance reports, to purchase for occupancy 21 Platt Street, a four-story building on a lot 22.6 by 79.8. The building will be extensively remodeled for offices. This purchase marks the eastward advance of the insurance interests. Charles B. Van Valen, Inc., and Charles F. Noyes Company negotiated the sale.

Kurz & Uren, Inc., sold for Samuel Strassbourger 237 Mercer Street, a six-story loft building on a lot 25 by 100, held at $75,000.

Lewis sold to a client for investment, for the 12 West Broadway Company, Clarkson Cowl, President, the leasehold property at 12 West Broadway, running through to 227 Greenwich Street, consisting of a four-story building on a plot 25 by 97. The ground is owned by the P. E. Society for Promoting Learning and Religion, and the building is occupied under sub-lease by the F. O. Pierce Company.

Arthur C. Sheridan, Inc., sold for Robert Lee Morrell to Norman S. Riesenfeld, 226 Front Street, near Beekman Street, a four-story building, 25 by 70.

The Broadway-John Street Corporation Operators. Elias A. Cohen, President, purchased from Caroline M. Child and Elizabeth G. Wheelrich 3 Cedar Street, a five-story building; No. 5, a four-story building, from Benjamin Ogden Chisholm and Howland Davis, as executors of the estate of John Harrison Rhodes and No. 7, a five-story building, from Bessie R. Chisholm and Cornelia H. Rhodes.

The properties form a plot sixty-three feet front with a depth of fifty feet, which directly adjoins the rear of 96 to 100 Maiden Lane, recently purchased by the Broadway-John Street Corporation from the Jurgenson estate. These buildings will be converted into office buildings for lawyers, aand will be sold for individual occupancy. The holding price was $150,000. Cammann, Voorhees & Floyd were the brokers.

Huberth & Huberth sold for Jacob M. Leonhardt the six-story loft building at 334 and 336 East Twenty-third Street, on a plot 40 by 90, to the Henry W. Lehnert Company, manufacturers of brass plumbing supplies.

PLAN OFFICE BUILDING.

Rocky Mountain Clubhouse Site Leased with Option to Purchase.

As a site for an office building a syndicate headed by Joseph Harbater and H. and E. Goldberg has purchased from Laura Marston and others the four-story building at 112 West Forty-fourth Street and leased for a period of twenty-one years with an option of purchasing from the Rocky Mountain Realty Company the adjoining three four-story buildings at 114 to 118 West Forty-fourth Street.

The combined site, located a few doors east of the Lambs Club, measures 73.9 by 98.9, and is to be immediately improved with a seven-story office and store building, which it is planned to have ready by next July. S. Osgood Pell & Co. were the brokers.

Prior to the war the Rocky Mountain Club, of which John Hayes Hammond is President, secured the property just leased and planned to erect a palatial clubhouse. Subscriptions amounting to about $500,000 were raised, and at the dinner of the club in 1917 it was announced that this amount and other subscriptions were to be diverted to aiding the destitute Belgians. The club now maintains quarters in the Algonquin Hotel on Forty-fourth Street.

Deals in the Bronx.

Edward Polak, Inc., sold for Mrs. Stetzenberg, 642 Faile Street, a two-family house, lot 25 by 100; for Michael J. WILL BURN FUEL OIL.

Post Graduate Hospital to Make Radical Change in Heating System.

Dr. Frederic E. Sondern, president of Post-Graduate Medical College and Hospital, Second Avenue and Twentieth Street, announced yesterday that the institution was planning to substitute oil burning furnaces for the present coal burning heating plant, in order to avoid future coal shortages in winter and to safeguard the health of patients and medical staff.

Plans are already before the Bureau of Standards and Appeal covering the proposed change. The plans call for an oil plant, with a reserve stock held in carefully fireproofed tanks under the street.

Post-Graduate has, in the past, used about 4,000 tons of coal each year at a cost of $52,000. During the shortages of the last three Winters it has been hard to get coal and the institution has often faced real difficulties on that account. It is estimated that the use of fuel oil would save the institution about $6,000 a year.

City officials, who are now considering the plans, have decided that the storage tanks shall be of concrete, with a steel lining, having a resistance of 25 pounds to an inch. With concrete tanks, engineers have agreed, the storage of the oil would be perfectly safe.

In addition to the saving in money and the safety thrown about patients, the hospital would save the services of half a dozen firemen under the new plan. The introduction of fuel oil is one of the improvements which will lead to a more up to date institution, which is planned by Post-Graduate in its effort to increase its endowment by $2,000,000.

The school and hospital has purchased the two five-story buildings, on plot 23.9 by 90 irregular, at the southeast corner of Second Avenue and Twentieth Street, directly opposite its present holdings.

TIMES SQUARE PROJECT.

Forty-Seventh Street Plot to be Re-Improved.

John H. Scheler, architect, as the head of a syndicate, leased from Leonard L. and Samuel V. Hill, the two six-story heavy constructed elevator buildings, on a plot 100 by 100, at 243, 5, 7 and 9 West Forty-seventh Street, for a term of thirty years, with renewals from March 1, 1920. The property adjoins the Strand Theatre from which it is separated by a ten-foot wide alley, light and air easement, running through to Forty-eighth Street. The Longacre Theatre abuts the property in Forty-eighth Street. The present buildings are occupied by the Famous Players, the Poslam Manufacturing Company, laboratories, several theatrical costumers, and other concerns identified with the theatrical profession. Mr. Scheler contemplates completely renovating and remodeling the existing buildings for use as stores, lofts, show and sales rooms, offices, and light manufacturing. Modern conveniences and additional elevators will be installed and a large electric sign erected. The rental for the term will approximate $2,000,000.

"The syndicate," said Mr. Scheler, "has entered into this transaction because of the enormous increase in Times Square rental values, the scarcity of available business space in the neighborhood, and the assurance, that, with the forthcoming sale of the Astor estate realty, there will ensue an unprecedented demand for locations west of Broadway, which thoroughfare store rentals this year are being advanced to from $1,000 to $1,300 a front foot while office space in the new Loew building, at Forty-fifth Street, will bring, I am informed, $6 a square foot.

"The Forty-seventh Street station of the B. R. T. has the advantage of the increasing amount of transient traffic that flows north from Times Square and south from the new amusement district that is developing rapidly between Forty-seventh and Fifty-second Streets."

Buyers for Private Dwellings.

Worthington Whitehouse, Inc., sold the five-story modern dwellings 18 East Fifty-fourth Street, on a lot 23 by 100, for Mrs. Henry Ziegler to Adele Miller. This is the first change in the ownership of this property since 1891.

George G. Bourne purchased for occupancy the five-story American basement residence under construction at 604 Park Avenue. It is being built by H. H. Pease and associates and is to be ready for occupancy by May 1. Douglas L. Elliman & Co. were the brokers.

J. Laurens Van Alen sold the five-story American basement house, 25 by 100, at 40 East Fiftieth Street, valued at $125,000. Mr. Van Alen's father recently sold his home at 15 East Sixty-fifth Street. Camman, Voorhees & Floyd were the brokers.

Adolph Weiss sold to a client of B. Schoen 41 Hamilton Terrace, a four-story dwelling, 19 by 98.

Carstein & Linnekin sold for the estate of Charles Loughrey the four-story dwelling, 18.9 by 98.9, at 150 East Twenty-eighth Street.

THEATRICAL BOARDING HOUSES

When the Shopping and Theatre district was on Broadway, between 23rd and 34th Streets, the side streets west of Broadway became the Theatrical boarding house district.

Property in that district has Since That Time Tripled in Value

Theatrical boarding houses have always preceded a great increase in the values of properties in the district in which they have been located.
45th and 46th Streets, west of Broadway and Eighth Avenue, are largely Theatrical boarding houses today.

This is the best indication that they will rise tremendously in value in the future

The Shopping, Hotel and Theatrical centre of New York is settled for all time

THAT IS THE DISTRICT FROM 34th TO 59th STREET BETWEEN 3rd & 10th AVES.

THIS IS THE HEART OF NEW YORK

It is in this district where the old type of buildings still remain, and which can be improved for business or dwelling purposes that the surest profits will be made.

A $45,000 ESTATE FOR $29,500

Having moved permanently to the Middle West, owner will sacrifice Jersey suburban home with 2-car garage to quick buyer for $29,500, $5,000 cash. Balance on mortgage takes it. The grounds comprise more than an acre shaded by many fine old trees and beautifully planted with flowers and shrubs. The house is only three years old, of the most modern type of Italian architecture; is complete in every detail and ready for immediate occupancy. The place has been kept in the pink of perfection, and not an extra dollar need be spent on it. There are 14 big rooms and 4 bathrooms, the latter being completely tiled and provided with built-in tubs, showers, and the best fixtures money could buy. The kitchen is also tiled, as well as the washroom off the main hall, on the first floor. The grounds occupy the crest of Sunset Hill, in the heart of the Kittatinnies, at nearly 1,000 feet elevation; only 29 miles from Broadway, Manhattan. The local environs comprise one of the finest purely residential sections in New Jersey. The place can be reached within an hour via D., L. & W. R. R.; excellent commuting service or by auto over splendid roads almost as quickly. This is an ideal gentleman's estate at a fraction of its real value. Views equal to those of the Berkshires spread out for 20 miles in several directions. Details can be obtained by writing MANUFACTURER P. O. Box 688, City Hall Station, New York City.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, March 3—The disturbance that was over Eastern Colorado Tuesday night has moved to Western Missouri and Western Arkansas, with increased intensity, and it is closely followed by a high area of much intensity. Pressure also remains high over the eastern portion of the country, while another disturbance is approaching the North Pacific Coast.

Snows were general west of the Missouri River and in Northern Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, and there were light rains in the Mississippi and Arkansas Valleys and Western Washington. Elsewhere fair weather prevailed.

It is decidedly colder in the Rocky Mountain region, the Plains States and the Missouri Valley and somewhat warmer as a rule to the eastward.

There will be snow over the northern and rain over the central and southern districts east of the Mississippi River on Thursday, reaching the Middle and South Atlantic Coasts Thursday night and the New England Coast by Friday. The weather will be fair Friday in the Ohio and lower Mississippi Valleys, while in the lake region local snows are probable. Generally fair weather is indicated Saturday east of the Mississippi River, except, perhaps, in New England.

FORECAST.

Western New York—Cloudy and warmer Thursday, snow or rain by night and on Friday; cold Friday.

Eastern New York—Increasing cloudiness and warmer Thursday; Friday rain or snow in north, rain in south, colder in west.

Southern New England—Partly cloudy and warmer Thursday; Friday rain, colder at night.

Northern New England—Partly cloudy and somewhat warmer Thursday; Friday snow in interior, snow or rain on the coast.

New Jersey and Delaware—Partly cloudy and warmer Thursday, rain at night and Friday; colder Friday.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

Individual Cases of Tax Returns

THE general tax regulations lay down all the requirements for all tax-payers.

The specific application of particular sections depends upon individual cases.

Theoretically, therefore, it is necessary for the individual taxpayer to know all the regulations in order to determine his own standing.

Happily, however, Certified Public Accountants solve this problem for their clients by knowing where to find and when to apply the tax regulations that affect specific cases.

A few of our pamphlets, "The Income Tax," are still available on request.

BERGDOLL TO FACE ARMY COURT TODAY

Outcome Will Have Important Bearing on 170,000 Other Draft-Dodging Cases.

ALIENISTS ARE RETAINED

Question of Jurisdiction Will Also Come Up Before Judge Hand on Habeas Corpus Writ.

Charged with desertion under the Fifty-eighth Article of War, Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the wealthy young Philadelphian who eluded Federal draft officials for nearly two years, will appear before a general court-martial on Governors Island this morning. A writ of habeas corpus granted by Judge Learned Hand directs Lieut. Gen. Robert Lee Bullard, Commander of the Department of the East, to produce Bergdoll in the Federal District Court tomorrow morning, but it is the apparent intention of the army authorities to try the prisoner without delay by military court, regardless of what happens later in the civil tribunal.

Although the question of Bergdoll's sanity has been raised, and a report of a board of army medical officers who have examined the prisoner will be introduced today, it is expected that the outcome of the Bergdoll case will have an important bearing on the prosecution of some 170,000 other young men alleged to have dodged the draft.

Mrs. Emma Bergdoll, whose husband, a Philadelphia brewer, left her millions, has spared no expense in the protection of her son. She has changed attorneys often, and the present civilian counsel is Harry Weinberger, defender of Emma Goldman, Alexander Berkman and other radicals, and a frequent speaker before the war at meetings held by various pacifist organizations. Others among the Bergdoll retainers are two noted New York alienists, Doctors Smith Ely Jelliffe and Menas S. Gregory, and the William J. Burns Detective Agency, two of whose former agents were arrested in Philadelphia last Saturday charged with a conspiracy to corrupt and intimidate Government witnesses against Bergdoll. Captain Bruce Campbell is Bergdoll's military counsel.

Lieut. Col. C. C. Cresson, Trial Judge Advocate, will have as his assistants Major Louis Korn, Captain Robert E. Hanny, Captain John M. Weir and First Lieut. Thomas L. Heffernan. The last two officers figured in the Detzer case, Weir as assistant Trial Judge Advocate and Heffernan as counsel for the Military Police Captain, who was exonerated of cruelty charges.

The court of officers is the same which tried Captain Detzer, and consists of Colonel William W. Allaire, President; Colonels Samuel C. Jones, John L. Bond, Robert S. Knox; Majors William A. Carleton and Robert R. Rutherford.

Tomorrow, before Judge Learned Hand, Francis G. Caffey, United States Attorney, will co-operate with officers from the Judge Advocate's office of the Eastern Department in opposing Weinberger's contention that Bergdoll having never been inducted into the army, a military court has no jurisdiction in the case. The contention has been made that, should Bergdoll be successful in avoiding a military trial, draft dodgers who have fled to Mexico and other foreign countries could return home without facing anything more serious than prosecution in the Federal Court for evading the selective service law. Trial by court-martial for desertion, however, which carries a death penalty or life imprisonment in wartime, has been modified by executive order issued last April establishing this offense on a peace-time basis, with maximum imprisonment of eighteen months.

GET MIDGET'S FURNITURE.

Museums Will Receive Belongings of Mrs. Tom Thumb.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., March 3.—The home furnishings of Mrs. Lavina W. Magri, known to America and Europe as Mrs. Tom Thumb and who died recently, will be placed in museums by the terms of her will which has been filed here. Her collection is said to include the smallest practical furniture in use.

Two miniature sewing machines and a piano are among the pieces mentioned by the will. Several of the articles were gifts from European royalty before whom she performed.

The remainder of her property is to be divided between her husband, Count Magri, also a midget, and two nephews.

COLONEL CAPPS TO SPEAK.

Former Red Cross Commander Will Talk at Greek Exhibition.

Colonel Edward Capps, until recently Commander of the American Red Cross in Greece and on the Balkan front, whose relief work in Greece has won the gratitude of that country, will speak tomorrow night at the Greek Government Exhibition in the Grand Central Palace, Forty-seventh Street and Lexington Avenue. Ambassador Roussos will occupy the chair.

Colonel Capps, who is Professor of Greek Literature at Princeton University, will talk of the Greece of the present.

Italian Airmen Send Challenge.

Another challenge for the International Balloon Trophy was received yesterday by the Aero Club of America at 297 Madison Avenue. It came from the Royal Aero Club of Italy which, in challenging the Aero Club of America, enters three teams for the contest, which is to be held in the United States this year. The Aero Club of Belgium was the first club to challenge, with one entry; the Aero Club of France was the second, with three entries, and the Royal Aero Club of the United Kingdom, the third challenger, with one entry.

Mr. Munsey Denies Leasing Home.

A report that Frank A. Munsey had leased the home of Mrs. Rita de A de Acosta Lydig at 14 Washington Square North, was denied at Mr. Munsey's office yesterday afternoon. It was added that Mr. Munsey had no intention of leasing or purchasing this property.

Insure Workers for $20,000,000.

HARTFORD, Conn., March 3.—A Hartford insurance company announced today one of the largest group insurance policies ever written. It is for $20,000,000 on employes of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

PLAYERS REPLIES TO ACTOR.

Club Asks Dismissal of Kegerreis Damage Suit for Expulsion.

The suit of Robert B. Kegerreis, an actor, against John Drew and other members of the Players for $100,000 damages was answered yesterday by the defendants. Kegerreis complained that the defendants had caused his suspension from the club in June, 1918, after his patriotism had been questioned; that he was reinstated pending proceedings instituted by him in the Supreme Court to compel his reinstatement, and that later he was expelled on the ground that he had not paid his dues.

The answer admits that the plaintiff was suspended from the club on charges made against him by Salisbury Field, George K. Denny and Frank L. Warrin, Jr. It states that while the charges were under consideration by officers of the club the plaintiff applied to the Supreme Court for a writ of mandamus to compel the club to reinstate him and that the application was denied after the club submitted a statement to the court that the plaintiff had been reinstated. The defendants ask that the suit be dismissed.

Krulewich Indictment Quashed.

The indictment charging Alvin Krulewich, son of a former Republican district leader, with having attempted to defraud the United States by altering draft papers, was quashed yesterday by Federal Judge Mayer. The papers which Krulewich had been charged with forging had been canceled by the War Department. The Government admitted that the indictment of Krulewich was not justified.

"25¢ Worth of Size or Satisfaction?"

"WHEN you pay a quarter or more for a cigar, you get real quality. But you're paying for a quantity of quality—and because you New Yorkers are perpetually on the jump, you'll probably waste half of it.

"It's a shame to throw away a partly-smoked good cigar, just because you haven't time to finish it. That's one reason why so many New Yorkers smoke "In-B-Tween"—"Four inches of a 25c cigar"—the quality cigar just long enough for a satisfying smoke.

"Lots of smokers prefer "In-B-Tweens" to any cigar of any size. They are made from sweet and tender baby leaves of choicest Havana tobacco. That's why "In-B-Tweens" possess a delicate fragrance and aroma.

"Try "In-B-Tweens" to smoke "In-B-Tween" at first—and then see if they aren't good enough to "switch to" altogether.

Borden's Milk Every Day

And besides being the most all around satisfactory food, it is the most economical.

Since way back in the '80s, Borden's Milk has been the standard of quality. It has always, also, been the one milk which has invariably been offered to the public at the lowest possible price consistent with unexcelled quality.
